JFK Orders U.S. Troops To West Berlin In Buildup

UP TO CONFEREES

JFK's Aid Plan Loses In House, Wins In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved a $4 billion foreign aid bill containing President Kennedy's long-range overseas loan program shortly after the House formally rejected the loans and passed an aid measure without the key feature.

Administration forces now pin their hopes on obtaining some sort of long-term loan plan when Senate and House conferees meet next week to work out a compromise between the conflicting versions.

In a fast-breaking series of developments, House Democratic leaders abandoned their efforts to salvage at least part of the loan program and called for a final vote in late afternoon.

APPROVE BILL

The House first routinely nailed down by voice vote an earlier tentative decision to scrap Kennedy's five year loan program financed by Treasury borrowing rather than year-to-year congressional appropriations.

The House then climaxed the five-day aid debate by approving the $4.3 billion foreign aid bill by a 287 to 140 roll call vote. Ninety-two Republicans joined 195 Democrats in voting for the bill. Sixty-three Democrats and 77 Republicans opposed.

Less than an hour later, the Senate approved its aid bill, containing the loan program, by a 66 to 24 roll call vote. A week ago, the Senate beat down 56 to 39 an amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., to retain the five-year feature of the loan program but require annual congressional appropriations.

On the final Senate vote, 46 Democrats and 20 Republicans voted for the aid bill. Thirteen Democrats and 11 Republicans voted against it.

The final House version would authorize Kennedy to spend $4.3 billion on overseas assistance during the 12 months that started July 1. This was $400 million less than Kennedy requested. The measure would authorize only a one - year loan program costing $1.2 billion.

In addition to this $1.2 billion, the House version would authorize $1.8 billion for military aid, $481 million for supporting assistance, $380 million for development grants and $300 million for the

Senate Civil Rights Rider Move Slated

Notice Is Given Attempt Due On Suspending Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders filed notice Friday night they will move to suspend the rules Monday in an effort to hook an extension of the Civil Rights Commission onto an appropriations bill.

Advance notice of this unusual procedure had to be given under rules of the Senate.

FILE NOTICE

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the minority leader, joined in filing the notice.

On Monday, Mansfield said, they will move to suspend the rule banning legislation in an appropriation bill. To do this requires a two-thirds majority of the senators present and voting.

The purpose, Mansfield explained, will be to try to put a civil rights rider on the $761-million appropriation bill for the State and Justice departments. The rider would extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

The commission is due to expire Nov. 9. Originally set up under the Civil Rights Act of 1957, it was extended for two years in 1959 as part of an appropriation bill in procedure similar to that now proposed.

When the Senate leaders disclosed they would resort to the same course again, Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., immediately served notice they also will seek a suspension of rules to offer other civil rights measures as riders to the appropriation bill.

Javits said he plans to offer an antipoll tax amendment and a measure to give the attorney general authority to seek federal

Bastrop Woman Charged With Theft Of Funds

A Bastrop woman, Mrs. Virginia Ferguson, posted a $2500 bond here yesterday after being charged with embezzling $3,090 from the Bastrop National Bank.

Mrs. Ferguson, 126 Pratt St., Bastrop, posted bond with the U. S. Commissioner, then was released pending further order from the court.

A special FBI agent, Joseph G. Deegan, filed the charges, which said Mrs. Ferguson "unlawfully, knowingly and willfully, while employed at the Bastrop National Bank, embezzled $3,090."

She was charged with embezzling the money over a period of 3½ years, ending June 17, 1961. Bastrop National is an FDIC insured bank.

According to the charges, the accumulations embezzled by Mrs. Ferguson were noted as follows: $400 on March 17, 1961; $400 on June 1, 1961; $2,150 on June 7, 1961; and $141 on June 12, 1961.

The amounts embezzled ranged from $50 to $400, the charges read.

Dallas Couple Crash Victims

BUNKIE, La. (AP)—A small, private plane on a flight from Dallas, Tex., to New Orleans crashed and burned in a pasture near here Friday night, killing a Dallas couple aboard.

They were identified as Jesse S. McGee, 42, and his wife, Joan, 32. Both bodies were pinned in the wreckage.

Eyewitnesses told authorities they saw a wing fall off the Beechcraft Bonanza and it spun down out of a clear sky, nose-diving into the field.

McGee was a partner with Frank Salem in the S&M Equipment Co., Dallas.

Salem, contacted in Dallas, said McGee was en route to New Orleans on a business trip.

91 YEARS OLD TODAY

Baruch Keeps Trim With Daily Swim

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Baruch, 91 years old Saturday, kept trim Friday by diving into the pool of his Westbury, Long Island, estate for his daily swim.

Then the financier drove into the city for a prebirthday news conference and tried to divest himself of his legendary title—"adviser to presidents."

Baruch, who served as chairman of the War Industries Board in World War I under President Woodrow Wilson and has known all presidents since then, said he did not consider himself a presidential adviser.

"Don't refer to that again," he said, with only a trace of a smile, to a reporter who had used the term.

Then, with a laugh, Baruch recalled that somebody had once said, "Either Baruch gives lousy advice or they don't listen to him."

He was asked what present he would want most for his birthday.

"If I could see peace coming to the world," he said. "I hope to live to see it."

Baruch said that while driving into New York he viewed the landscape and thought of the "tremendous advances" America has made toward a better standard of living and the betterment of human welfare.

He said he thought also of how America had given a home to the United Nations and provided an arena for the "smallest person to express his views." He wondered, he said, why "so few nations appreciate what we're doing."

Newsmen asked whether, if he had his life to live over again, he would live it the same way.

"I probably would," he said, "and make all the same mistakes I made before."

JUDGE LEARNED HAND

Famed U.S. Jurist Dies In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge Learned Hand, one of the most respected jurists in American history and hailed by his colleagues as the apostle of liberty under the law, died Friday at the age of 89.

Hand, who retired in 1951 as chief judge of the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals—the busiest federal appeals court in the nation—died in St. Luke's Hospital. He had entered the hospital Aug. 5.

SERVED 42 YEARS

Often called the "10th justice of the U.S. Supreme Court" because of the high regard in which he and his opinions were held by high court jurists, Hand served 42 years on the federal bench longer than any former judge.

Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cardozo once referred to him as "the most distinguished living English-speaking jurist," and he was widely acclaimed in legal circles as a "judge's judge."

Some of the 2,000 opinions he wrote also received literary acclaim.

One of his most famous opinions was the 1950 court of appeals document that affirmed the conviction of 11 top Communist leaders in the United States on charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

In that history-making opinion, Hand said in part: "The advocacy of violence may or may not fail; but in neither case can there be any 'right' to use it. Revolutions are often 'right,' but a 'right of revolution' is a contradiction in terms, for a society which acknowledged it could not stop at tolerating conspiracies to overthrow it but must include their execution."

Appointed to the federal bench for the Southern District of New York, by President William Howard Taft in 1909, Hand remained a federal jurist until 1951, when, at the age of 79, he retired after serving on the federal bench longer than any other judge.

Rated as one of the nation's deepest students of the law, Hand was often compared with Oliver Wendell Holmes, Louis Brandeis and Cardozo.

His name figured many times

U.S. Speeds Program For Orbiting Man

Two Suborbital Flights Provide All Needed Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency, in a speedup of its program to orbit a man around the earth, decided Friday no further suborbital flights are necessary.

An attempt at an orbital flight may be made late this year.

HAVE DATA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the two suborbital flights—rocket rides up and down again—by U.S. astronauts had supplied all data needed.

"No further Mercury-Redstone (suborbital) flights are planned," NASA said.

"A detailed evaluation of the medical and training aspects of the Mercury-Redstone suborbital flight program has revealed no problems which would require additional suborbital flights."

The announcement went on to say the NASA space task group "will ow devote its full energies and resources to the orbital phase of Project Mercury and to follow-on planned manned flight programs" including Project Apollo which will send a three-man spacecraft to the moon.

Two of the seven U.S. astronauts—Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom—have made 15-minute rides into space and back again.

Original plans were for a third to make such a trip before an attempt at putting a man into orbit around the earth.

Dropping this third suborbital shot means a speedup in the whole Mercury program, al-

State Wins Newburgh Legal Fight

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—The state Friday won a court fight to block Newburgh's tightened new welfare regulations, which have attracted nationwide attention.

State Supreme Court Justice John P. Donohoe granted a temporary injunction, asked by the state on grounds the Newburgh plan violated state welfare laws. He had held a hearing Aug. 4.

City Manager Joseph Mitchell, sponsor of the plan, said the city would appeal the ruling.

Donohoe, in his finding filed in Orange County Court at nearby Goshen, said: "If the defendants feel that the welfare laws of the state of New York are inadequate to accomplish their purposes, their recourse is to the New York State Legislature, which has created these laws.

"The unilateral effort to abrogate these laws is not within the power of the said defendants."

The temporary injunction will become effective when Donohoe issues a follow-up order, probably within a few days, directing the city officials to comply with it. The regulations had gone into effect July 15.

The next action by the state, through the attorney general's office is expected to be a move for a permanent injunction. Mitchell said, if a permanent injunction is granted, it also will be appealed.

Milder Weather Continues Here

Temperatures continued to hover beneath the 90-degree mark in the Twin Cities Friday as threatened rain failed to fall.

Today's outlook calls for temperatures and cloudy conditions to remain about the same today with widely scattered showers possible.

The high is expected to be somewhere between 86 and 90 degrees.

Yesterday's top reading was 89 with the low recorded at 73. The high occurred between 2 and 4 p.m.

Berlin Rolls Out Carpet For Johnson

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners put out the welcome mat for U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who is flying here for a first-hand look at this crisis-ridden city.

The visit of the Kennedy administration's top envoy to Berlin and Bonn this weekend and word from London diplomats that the United States, Britain and France have agreed in principle to send reinforcements to their 11,000-man garrison here, heartened townspeople dismayed by the Communist blockade.

BRANDT DELIGHTED

Mayor Willy Brandt, who told President Kennedy early this week that the West should hit back with political action as well as words against the Red restrictions on East German travel to West Berlin, said he was delighted.

A West German government spokesman in Bonn reported Johnson will be received heartily, adding: "Nothing could serve the cause of Berlin better than for friends of Germany to inform themselves on the spot and get an impression about the situation."

A Western source said that, across the border, some wives and children of the 400,000 Soviet troops in East Germany are being sent home. The withdrawal, he said, is probably slowly paced to avoid alarm, but is more than ordinary summer vacation travel.

Communists closed a part of the boundary between East and West Berlin with a concrete-block wall five feet high and topped with barbed wire, giving an air of permanence to the barricades that the Big Three Western Allies have called on the Soviet Union to clear away.

Russia's spacemen suffer no ill effects from their orbits around the earth, but they seem to afflict chairman Khrushchev with severe attacks of loquaciousness.

Airplane hijackers are compared with train robbers the Jesse James era, so we guess that their birthplace will eventually be established as tourist attractions.

GOV. DAVIS SAYS

Legislative Poll Okays Mansion

BATON ROUGE (AP)— Gov. Jimmie H. Davis said Friday a $700,000 allocation to complete construction of a new million-dollar executive mansion was approved in a legislative poll.

Davis said the State Bond and Building Commission allocation received 66 House and 24 Senate votes.

Three senators and nine representatives had not sent in their ballots on the mansion proposal, but it appeared Davis would get a two-thirds majority in both houses—provided the present trend in voting returns continued.

COUNT LISTED

The Senate count was 24 for the mansion and 12 against. The House vote was 66 for the mansion and 30 against.

A spokesman for Davis said the ballots apparently would not be certified and sent to State Comptroller Roy Theriot for official tabulation until all 144 votes were in.

The ballots are being sent to the governor's office, where the count is taking place.

Rep. Jack Dyer, East Baton Rouge Parish, declined to comment immediately on his plan, announced earlier, to contest the mansion vote in the courts.

The Bond and Building Commission voted last week, with three of the seven members absent, to approve the mansion allocation along with eight other projects for institutions and hospitals.

The money for the mansion, to be added to $300,000 already appropriated by the legislature over a year ago, will come from Davis' $60-million bond program.

Dyer said earlier the commission's vote was illegal, and he criticized what he called political bartering by the governor to get the allocation approved.

The mansion has been an item of controversy in Louisiana politics since the May fiscal legislature, when Davis attempted to get another appropriation of some $800,000 to complete the structure of Green revival design. The gov-

Defector Says Few Officers Shoot Refugees

BERLIN (AP) — A defecting people's policemen, fresh from Communist East Berlin, said Friday night few of the officers guarding the border would aim to hit fleeing refugees, though they have orders to shoot any trying to cross to West Berlin.

"I would never have shot at anyone," he said when appearing in his green uniform, on West Berlin's television screens. "Many of my comrades wouldn't shoot either."

The policeman, identified as Herr Brabant, followed about a dozen other members of East Germany's armed forces who fled to West Berlin since the Reds rang down the Iron Curtain Sunday. He crossed Friday afternoon.

West Berlin and Allied officials are blacking out all information on the exact number of these refugees.

Brabant, his face tense, said he planned his escape some time ago.

"We know that the stories the Communists tell us about the West aren't true," he said. "They want to make us believe it is bad here. It isn't."

NLSC CONSTRUCTION

Local Firms Give Low Building Bids

Monroe and West Monroe firms offered low bids opened Friday afternoon for construction of two dormitories and a student union building expansion at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Bids will be reviewed Tuesday, August 22, by the State Board of Education in Baton Rouge, James M. Nicholson, dean of administration at Northeast State, has announced.

Offering the low bid $416,000 for the women's residence hall was W. C. Salley Contractor of Monroe. Jesse F. Heard & Sons Co. Inc. of West Monroe was low with $411,305 for the men's residence hall and also with $490,861 for the college union building expansion.

J. S. Waterman & Co. Inc. of New Orleans was low with $35,828 for fixed kitchen equipment in the college union building.

The women's hall will house 166 and the men's hall 152. The student union building expansion will provide an extension of the existing structure.

Construction is anticipated to commence in September, with occupancy planned for September, 1962.

The buildings are a project to be constructed under a $1,750,000 loan through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. It will be financed by the issuance of revenue bonds, which will be liq-

New Forces Will Arrive On Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Friday night ordered a 1,500 - man battle group to bolster U.S. forces in West Berlin. They are due to reach there Sunday after a dramatic ride through Communist East Germany.

Kennedy also sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on a flying visit to Berlin to assure worried Germans that this country will stand fast against Communist pressures.

CARRIES PLEDGE

Taking off by jet plane, Johnson carried an American pledge of "firm determination to use whatever means may be necessary" to save West Berlin from a Communist takeover.

The total Allied garrison in the Red-encircled city of West Berlin now totals about 11,000 men, of whom 5,000 are Americans. The size of the U.S. increase would put it in the category of a token expansion.

The White Huse announced the increase following a conference Kennedy held with Johnson and some top advisers, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The brief announcement, read by press secretary Pierre Salinger, said: "In view of recent developments, including the movement of East German military forces into East Berlin, the President has directed an appropriate increase in the U. S. garrison in Berlin.

"A battle group of approximately 1,500 men will proceed by way of the Helmstadt-Berlin autobahn, arriving there on Sunday."

Cuban Boss Is Rebuffed By Frondizi

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi said Friday night he bluntly told Cuba's Argentine - born economic boss Ernesto Guevara that Argentina stands with the free world and will not tolerate Communist subversion. After seeing Frondizi, Guevara flew homeward via Brazil, where he is scheduled to receive a medal Saturday.

A bomb exploded Friday night at the main entrance of an apartment house where relatives of Guevara were reported living. Police reported there were no casualties and damage was light.

Frondizi spoke over nationwide radio-TV as reports circulated that armed forces leaders were angered over the president's two-hour meeting with Guevara.

Informants said the nation's three armed forces secretaries had expressed willingness to resign as an open rebuff to Frondizi.

Frondizi broke off from a prepared speech on "the necessity of justice and national development" to refer to the Guevara meeting.

After declaring in his address that "our pro-Western and Catholic people will persevere in defense of free world principles," the president said he had taken the opportunity to tell Guevara "the words which have just been said by me."

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Baruch, 91 years old Saturday, kept trim Friday by diving into the pool of his Westbury, Long Island, estate for his daily swim.

Then the financier drove into the city for a prebirthday news conference and tried to divest himself of his legendary title—"adviser to presidents."

Baruch, who served as chairman of the War Industries Board in World War I under President Woodrow Wilson and has known all presidents since then, said he did not consider himself a presidential adviser.

"Don't refer to that again," he said, with only a trace of a smile, to a reporter who had used the term.

Then, with a laugh, Baruch recalled that somebody had once said, "Either Baruch gives lousy advice or they don't listen to him."

He was asked what present he would want most for his birthday.

"If I could see peace coming to the world," he said. "I hope to live to see it."

Baruch said that while driving into New York he viewed the landscape and thought of the "tremendous advances" America has made toward a better standard of living and the betterment of human welfare.

He said he thought also of how America had given a home to the United Nations and provided an arena for the "smallest person to express his views." He wondered, he said, why "so few nations appreciate what we're doing."

Newsmen asked whether, if he had his life to live over again, he would live it the same way.

"I probably would," he said, "and make all the same mistakes I made before."

JUDGE LEARNED HAND

Famed U.S. Jurist Dies In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge Learned Hand, one of the most respected jurists in American history and hailed by his colleagues as the apostle of liberty under the law, died Friday at the age of 89.

Hand, who retired in 1951 as chief judge of the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals—the busiest federal appeals court in the nation—died in St. Luke's Hospital. He had entered the hospital Aug. 5.

SERVED 42 YEARS

Often called the "10th justice of the U.S. Supreme Court" because of the high regard in which he and his opinions were held by high court jurists, Hand served 42 years on the federal bench longer than any former judge.

Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cardozo once referred to him as "the most distinguished living English-speaking jurist," and he was widely acclaimed in legal circles as a "judge's judge."

Some of the 2,000 opinions he wrote also received literary acclaim.

One of his most famous opinions was the 1950 court of appeals document that affirmed the conviction of 11 top Communist leaders in the United States on charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

In that history-making opinion, Hand said in part: "The advocacy of violence may or may not fail; but in neither case can there be any 'right' to use it. Revolutions are often 'right,' but a 'right of revolution' is a contradiction in terms, for a society which acknowledged it could not stop at tolerating conspiracies to overthrow it but must include their execution."

Appointed to the federal bench for the Southern District of New York, by President William Howard Taft in 1909, Hand remained a federal jurist until 1951, when, at the age of 79, he retired after serving on the federal bench longer than any other judge.

Rated as one of the nation's deepest students of the law, Hand was often compared with Oliver Wendell Holmes, Louis Brandeis and Cardozo.

U.S. Speeds Program For Orbiting Man

Two Suborbital Flights Provide All Needed Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency, in a speedup of its program to orbit a man around the earth, decided Friday no further suborbital flights are necessary.

An attempt at an orbital flight may be made late this year.

HAVE DATA

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the two suborbital flights—rocket rides up and down again—by U.S. astronauts had supplied all data needed.

"No further Mercury-Redstone (suborbital) flights are planned," NASA said.

"A detailed evaluation of the medical and training aspects of the Mercury-Redstone suborbital flight program has revealed no problems which would require additional suborbital flights."

The announcement went on to say the NASA space task group "will ow devote its full energies and resources to the orbital phase of Project Mercury and to follow-on planned manned flight programs" including Project Apollo which will send a three-man spacecraft to the moon.

Two of the seven U.S. astronauts—Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom—have made 15-minute rides into space and back again.

Original plans were for a third to make such a trip before an attempt at putting a man into orbit around the earth.

Dropping this third suborbital shot means a speedup in the whole Mercury program, al-

State Wins Newburgh Legal Fight

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—The state Friday won a court fight to block Newburgh's tightened new welfare regulations, which have attracted nationwide attention.

State Supreme Court Justice John P. Donohoe granted a temporary injunction, asked by the state on grounds the Newburgh plan violated state welfare laws. He had held a hearing Aug. 4.

City Manager Joseph Mitchell, sponsor of the plan, said the city would appeal the ruling.

Donohoe, in his finding filed in Orange County Court at nearby Goshen, said: "If the defendants feel that the welfare laws of the state of New York are inadequate to accomplish their purposes, their recourse is to the New York State Legislature, which has created these laws.

"The unilateral effort to abrogate these laws is not within the power of the said defendants."

The temporary injunction will become effective when Donohoe issues a follow-up order, probably within a few days, directing the city officials to comply with it. The regulations had gone into effect July 15.

The next action by the state, through the attorney general's office is expected to be a move for a permanent injunction. Mitchell said, if a permanent injunction is granted, it also will be appealed.

Milder Weather Continues Here

Temperatures continued to hover beneath the 90-degree mark in the Twin Cities Friday as threatened rain failed to fall.

Today's outlook calls for temperatures and cloudy conditions to remain about the same today with widely scattered showers possible.

The high is expected to be somewhere between 86 and 90 degrees.

Yesterday's top reading was 89 with the low recorded at 73. The high occurred between 2 and 4 p.m.

GOV. DAVIS SAYS

Legislative Poll Okays Mansion

BATON ROUGE (AP)— Gov. Jimmie H. Davis said Friday a $700,000 allocation to complete construction of a new million-dollar executive mansion was approved in a legislative poll.

Davis said the State Bond and Building Commission allocation received 66 House and 24 Senate votes.

Three senators and nine representatives had not sent in their ballots on the mansion proposal, but it appeared Davis would get a two-thirds majority in both houses —provided the present trend in voting returns continued.

COUNT LISTED

The Senate count was 24 for the mansion and 12 against. The House vote was 66 for the mansion and 30 against.

A spokesman for Davis said the ballots apparently would not be certified and sent to State Comptroller Roy Theriot for official tabulation until all 144 votes were in.

The ballots are being sent to the governor's office, where the count is taking place.

Rep. Jack Dyer, East Baton Rouge Parish, declined to comment immediately on his plan, announced earlier, to contest the mansion vote in the courts.

The Bond and Building Commission voted last week, with three of the seven members absent, to approve the mansion allocation along with eight other projects for institutions and hospitals.

The money for the mansion, to be added to $300,000 already appropriated by the legislature over a year ago, will come from Davis' $60-million bond program.

Dyer said earlier the commission's vote was illegal, and he criticized what he called political bartering by the governor to get the allocation approved.

The mansion has been an item of controversy in Louisiana politics since the May fiscal legislature, when Davis attempted to get another appropriation of some $300,000 to complete the structure of Green revival design. The gov-

NLSC CONSTRUCTION

Local Firms Give Low Building Bids

Monroe and West Monroe firms offered low bids opened Friday afternoon for construction of two dormitories and a student union building expansion at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Bids will be reviewed Tuesday, August 22, by the State Board of Education in Baton Rouge, James M. Nicholson, dean of administration at Northeast State, has announced.

Offering the low bid $416,000 for the women's residence hall was W. C. Salley Contractor of Monroe. Jesse F. Heard & Sons Co. Inc. of West Monroe was low with $411,305 for the men's residence hall and also with $490,861 for the college union building expansion.

J. S. Waterman & Co. Inc. of New Orleans was low with $35,828 for fixed kitchen equipment in the college union building.

The women's hall will house 166 and the men's hall 152. The student union building expansion will provide an extension of the existing structure.

Construction is anticipated to commence in September, with occupancy planned for September, 1962.

The buildings are a project to be constructed under a $1,750,000 loan through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. It will be financed by the issuance of revenue bonds, which will be liq-

Cuban Boss Is Rebuffed By Frondizi

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) —President Arturo Frondizi said Friday night he bluntly told Cuba's Argentine - born economic boss Ernesto Guevara that Argentina stands with the free world and will not tolerate Communist subversion. After seeing Frondizi, Guevara flew homeward via Brazil, where he is scheduled to receive a medal Saturday.

A bomb exploded Friday night at the main entrance of an apartment house where relatives of Guevara were reported living. Police reported there were no casualties and damage was light.

Frondizi spoke over nationwide radio-TV as reports circulated that armed forces leaders were angered over the president's two-hour meeting with Guevara.

Informants said the nation's three armed forces secretaries had expressed willingness to resign as an open rebuff to Frondizi.

Frondizi broke off from a prepared speech on "the necessity of justice and national development" to refer to the Guevara meeting.

After declaring in his address that "our pro-Western and Catholic people will persevere in defense of free world principles," the president said he had taken the opportunity to tell Guevara "the words which have just been said by me."

The $4 billion Senate figure was about $700 million less than Kennedy asked.

Both the Senate and House bills merely would set ceilings on aid outlays. Kennedy must go back to Congress for the actual cash for all except the Senate version of the loan program. This will give aid opponents another chance to try to trim the total.

The Senate bill would authorize Kennedy to loan underdeveloped nations $1.7 billion in each of the last four years of the program. The President had requested $1.9 billion annually.

Because of this cut, the Senate loan program would total $8 billion, $800 million less than Kennedy requested.

In rejecting the long-range loan plan, the House ignored last-minute pleas from Kennedy for bipartisan support. The President argued that the loan program was vital to match Communist assistance to under-developed nations.

sands of East Germans into West Germany which led the Communist last weekend to barricade the East-West border in Berlin.

There have been widespread reports that Great Britain and France also will augment their garrisons in Berlin. But Salinger, when asked if the White House announcement signaled such moves, said merely: "I can only speak for the American government."

Salinger did say there had been advance notification of the step to the British and French governments. Presumably the West German government was told, too.

In reply to questions, Salinger described dispatch of the 1,500-man battle group as "the current increase."

But he declined to go beyond that when asked if the United States has any plan to fortify its West Berlin units with still more troops.

The White House left to the Defense Department word on details of the troop movement, including the identity of the unit or units and their present location.

The Pentagon announced shortly afterward that the 1,500 men will come from one of the five divisions now stationed in West Germany.

But it said the identity of the unit would be withheld until it starts to move. A spokesman said the move will start soon, noting the President's order called for the troops to reach Berlin by Sunday.

In response to questions about the group's scheduled trip through Red territory, the spokesman said "We certainly expect no interference with the movement." He said the move will be "in accordance with existing practices. We customarily move troops over the autobahn."

The Pentagon said there is no legal restriction on the number of U.S. troops that can be stationed in Berlin.

The spokesman declined to comment on details of the move.

Weapons normally used by a battle group provide substantial fire power. Tanks sometimes are added temporarily.

A battle group is organized into five rifle companies. Each company has three platoons of 40 riflemen. About every third rifleman is armed with an automatic rifle.

Johnson was accompanied on his dramatic flight by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the U.S.-Berlin commandant of 1948-49 airlift days.

In a predeparture statement he read at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, the vice president said: "We have already protested the brutal, cynical and illegal action taken last weekend by the East German regime with Soviet approval and support.

"This arbitrary splitting of the city of Berlin is a flagrant violation of solemn international agreements and obligations undertaken by the Soviet government.

"Now I want to see at first hand the effects of this tragic situation as they are translated in human terms—the separated families, the refugees who have had to abandon home and friends, tearing up their roots in order to start life anew in freedom.

"The Soviet and East German rulers discovered in June 1953 (when East Germans revolted) and I am sure they will discover it again in this situation, that the more the urge for freedom is suppressed, the more insistently the demand for it grows.

"It is also my purpose to assure the people of West Berlin of our firm determination to use whatever means may be necessary to fulfill our pledge to preserve their freedom and their ties with the free world."

Kennedy had delayed his usual late Friday departure to spend the weekend on Cape Cod, Mass., presumably in large measure because of the Berlin crisis. He now plans to leave Saturday morning.

He conferred at least twice during the day with Johnson, who took off at 9:15 p.m. to fly first to Bonn, arriving there Saturday morning for a conference with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Then the vice president will go on to Berlin, where he will see Mayor Willy Brandt, Adenauer's chief political rival.

Johnson is expected to return to the United States Monday.

During his stay in Berlin, he hopes to make a symbolic excursion from the Western sector into the Soviet East zone, passing through the famous and now-barricaded Brandenburg Gate.

This would underline the Western view that Berlin is supposed to be a unified city and point up the Communist blockade in violation of postwar occupation agreements.

The decision to enlarge the U.S. garrison in West Berlin was announced after Kennedy conferred in the large oval room of his quarters in the White House with a group of top-level advisers.

Besides Johnson, Clay and Rusk, these included Charles E. Bohlen, special assistant to Rusk; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's personal military representative; McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security matters; Walt W. Rostow, Bundy's deputy, and Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Adenauer Plans Johnson Talks

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Friday night he will discuss with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson what measures should be taken to counter the Communist moves in Berlin.

The chancellor said that economic sanctions against the East could cause heavy damage and possibly even paralyze the Soviet-bloc economy.

He added that such sanctions should be imposed "in the right sequence and at the right moment."

The Western Allies have let it be known that they are opposed to any strong counteraction at this time lest the crisis become more acute. Adenauer's Cabinet officers themselves have rejected the idea of a breach in East-West German trade.

Unless stopped by court action, the mansion will be built along the line of colonial plantation home on a state-owned site across Capitol Lake from the State Capitol here. The strip is known as "millionaires' row" because of the fine homes located on it.

The late Gov. Earl K. Long built an expensive home along the strip a few doors from where the new mansion will be located. The Long mansion later was sold to millionaire lumberman Harold King.

Louisiana governors now reside in a North Boulevard mansion several blocks from the capitol, built during the reign of the late Huey P. Long. That structure was a contributing factor in an unsuccessful move to impeach Long.

The administration division under Davis claims the old mansion is in bad need of remodeling and air conditioning and cost of the work would be prohibitive.

Earlier, plans were announced to sell the old mansion to raise funds toward construction of the new one. Some have objected to the sale, claiming the building is of historical value.

Six Are Injured Fighting Fire On Waterfront

WEST NEW YORK, N. J. (UPI) — A general alarm fire roared out of control for more than four hours Friday night along the Hudson River waterfront here. Six piers, several coal barges and several tanks filled with vegetable oil were destroyed.

Six firemen were injured fighting the blaze and a fire engine was destroyed when flames engulfed it.

One city official estimated damage at more than $1 million.

Another tank containing 70,000 gallons of fuel oil and a railroad bridge also were threatened with destruction for a time.

The blaze, brilliantly lighting in the area to thousands of spectators who lined the waterfront in Manhattan across the river, began on a coal dock.

Smoke covered West New York and the nearby towns of North Bergen and Guttenberg. Fire companies from here and six other communities including Jersey City fought the blaze.

in speculation for a U.S. Supreme Court appointment. But the call never came to him.

Justice Felix Frankfurter once commented: "That Hand was never chosen must surely serve those, if any there be, who seek to be chosen and those who are there, as a temptation to reflection on the caprices of fortune."

Yet, although a high court appointment eluded him, Hand's opinions were cited by the Supreme Court more often than those of any lower court jurist in the nation.

In a decision of far-reaching importance, Hand held that the 18th Amendment — prohibition—and its enforcement act applied to American ships on the high seas and to foreign vessels that came within the United States' three-mile limit.

"Naturally," he added, "I have nothing to say about the wisdom of the amendment or the law, but, wise or not, one thing is clear, that a drink of whiskey is as hurtful to health and morals outside as inside Ambrose Light."

sands of East Germans into West Germany which led the Communists last weekend to barricade the East-West border in Berlin.

There have been widespread reports that Great Britain and France also will augment their garrisons in Berlin. But Salinger, when asked if the White House announcement signaled such moves, said merely: "I can only speak for the American government."

Salinger did say there had been advance notification of the step to the British and French governments. Presumably the West German government was told, too.

In reply to questions, Salinger described dispatch of the 1,500-man battle group as "the current increase."

But he declined to go beyond that when asked if the United States has any plan to fortify its West Berlin units with still more troops.

The White House left to the Defense Department word on details of the troop movement, including the identity of the unit or units and their present location.

The Pentagon announced shortly afterward that the 1,500 men will come from one of the five divisions now stationed in West Germany.

But it said the identity of the unit would be withheld until it starts to move. A spokesman said the move will start soon, noting the President's order called for the troops to reach Berlin by Sunday.

In response to questions about the group's scheduled trip through Red territory, the spokesman said "We certainly expect no interference with the movement." He said the move will be "in accordance with existing practices. We customarily move troops over the autobahn."

The Pentagon said there is no legal restriction on the number of U.S. troops that can be stationed in Berlin.

The spokesman declined to comment on details of the move.

Weapons normally used by a battle group provide substantial fire power. Tanks sometimes are added temporarily.

A battle group is organized into five rifle companies. Each company has three platoons of 40 riflemen. About every third rifleman is armed with an automatic rifle.

Johnson was accompanied on his dramatic flight by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the U.S.-Berlin commandant of 1948-49 airlift days.

In a predeparture statement he read at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, the vice president said: "We have already protested the brutal, cynical and illegal action taken last weekend by the East German regime with Soviet approval and support.

"This arbitrary splitting of the city of Berlin is a flagrant violation of solemn international agreements and obligations undertaken by the Soviet government.

"Now I want to see at first hand the effects of this tragic situation as they are translated in human terms—the separated families, the refugees who have had to abandon home and friends, tearing up their roots in order to start life anew in freedom.

"The Soviet and East German rulers discovered in June 1953 (when East Germans revolted) and I am sure they will discover it again in this situation, that the more the urge for freedom is suppressed, the more insistently the demand for it grows.

"It is also my purpose to assure the people of West Berlin of our firm determination to use whatever means may be necessary to fulfill our pledge to preserve their freedom and their ties with the free world."

Kennedy had delayed his usual late Friday departure to spend the weekend on Cape Cod, Mass., presumably in large measure because of the Berlin crisis. He now plans to leave Saturday morning.

He conferred at least twice during the day with Johnson, who took off at 9:15 p.m. to fly first to Bonn, arriving there Saturday morning for a conference with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Then the vice president will go on to Berlin, where he will see Mayor Willy Brandt, Adenauer's chief political rival.

Johnson is expected to return to the United States Monday.

During his stay in Berlin, he hopes to make a symbolic excursion from the Western sector into the Soviet East zone, passing through the famous and now-barricaded Brandenburg Gate.

This would underline the Western view that Berlin is supposed to be a unified city and point up the Communist blockade in violation of postwar occupation agreements.

The decision to enlarge the U.S. garrison in West Berlin was announced after Kennedy conferred in the large oval room of his quarters in the White House with a group of top-level advisers.

Besides Johnson, Clay and Rusk, these included Charles E. Bohlen, special assistant to Rusk; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's personal military representative; McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security matters; Walt W. Rostow, Bundy's deputy, and Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Dud Explodes

AVERSA, Italy (UPI)—At least seven children and a woman were killed Thursday in an explosion believed caused by a World War II shell or bomb. One child was reported missing and three others were hospitalized with serious injuries.

KEVIN AND THOMAS Bergen, Jr., identical four-month-old twins, rest in the arms of nurses at The Long Island Jewish Hospital in New Hyde Park, N. Y., as their smiling parents, Thomas and Rosalie Bergen, prepare to take the youngsters home to their apartment in New York's suburban Queens. The children, born with identical and usually fatal heart defects, underwent emergency surgery when they were only 16 hours old. Both were pronounced healthy and normal Friday. Nurses are Peggy Bruhn, left, and Kathleen Lee. (AP Wirephoto)

The reading continued throughout the day and is expected to continue Saturday.

The 10-man, two-woman jury also wanted to hear testimony given by Dr. Richard O. Myers, defense pathologist, and William Lewis, defense investigator.

Adenauer Plans Johnson Talks

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Friday night he will discuss with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson what measures should be taken to counter the Communist moves in Berlin.

The chancellor said that economic sanctions against the East could cause heavy damage and possibly even paralyze the Soviet-bloc economy.

He added that such sanctions should be imposed "in the right sequence and at the right moment."

The Western Allies have let it be known that they are opposed to any strong counteraction at this time lest the crisis become more acute. Adenauer's Cabinet officers themselves have rejected the idea of a breach in East-West German trade.

HEMINGWAY MOVIE

MELLEN, Wis. (UPI) —Filming of a movie based on the life of author Ernest Hemingway will begin here Sept. 18, according to 20th Century Fox.

A studio spokesman said Mellen was chosen for the location shots after investigation of numerous sites in the midwest. The movie will be based on a series of Nick Adams short stories written by Hemingway about incidents in his early life.

Legislative Poll Okays Mansion

ernor withdrew his legislative appropriation in face of stout opposition.

Unless stopped by court action, the mansion will be built along the line of colonial plantation home on a state-owned site across Capitol Lake from the State Capitol here. The strip is known as "millionaires' row" because of the fine homes located on it.

The late Gov. Earl K. Long built an expensive home along the strip a few doors from where the new mansion will be located. The Long mansion later was sold to millionaire lumberman Harold King.

Louisiana governors now reside in a North Boulevard mansion several blocks from the capitol, built during the reign of the late Huey P. Long. That structure was a contributing factor in an unsuccessful move to impeach Long.

The administration division under Davis claims the old mansion is in bad need of remodeling and air conditioning and cost of the work would be prohibitive.

Earlier, plans were announced to sell the old mansion to raise funds toward construction of the new one. Some have objected to the sale, claiming the building is of historical value.

Famed U.S. Jurist Dies In Hospital

in speculation for a U.S. Supreme Court appointment. But the call never came to him.

Justice Felix Frankfurter once commented: "That Hand was never chosen must surely serve those, if any there be, who seek to be chosen and those who are there, as a temptation to reflection on the caprices of fortune."

Yet, although a high court appointment eluded him, Hand's opinions were cited by the Supreme Court more often than those of any lower court jurist in the nation.

In a decision of far-reaching importance, Hand held that the 18th Amendment — prohibition— and its enforcement act applied to American ships on the high seas and to foreign vessels that came within the United States' three-mile limit.

"Naturally," he added, "I have nothing to say about the wisdom of the amendment or the law, but, wise or not, one thing is clear, that a drink of whiskey is as hurtful to health and morals outside as inside Ambrose Light."

Six Are Injured Fighting Fire On Waterfront

WEST NEW YORK, N. J. (UPI) — A general alarm fire roared out of control for more than four hours Friday night along the Hudson River waterfront here. Six piers, several coal barges and several tanks filled with vegetable oil were destroyed.

Six firemen were injured fighting the blaze and a fire engine was destroyed when flames engulfed it.

One city official estimated damage at more than $1 million.

Another tank containing 70,000 gallons of fuel oil and a railroad bridge also were threatened with destruction for a time.

The blaze, brilliantly lighting in the area to thousands of spectators who lined the waterfront in Manhattan across the river, began on a coal dock.

Smoke covered West New York and the nearby towns of North Bergen and Guttenberg. Fire companies from here and six other communities including Jersey City fought the blaze.

DAMAGE IN THOUSANDS

Courthouse In Area Flooded

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — The East Carroll Parish Courthouse sustained extensive damage Friday when it was flooded after a prisoner ripped a water fixture off the wall.

Sheriff John W. Gilbert said Jesse White, 42, caused several thousands of dollars in damages, flooding three floors of the courthouse.

Gilbert said White was booked about 1:30 a.m. for drunkeness.

Courthouse workers were still mopping up yesterday.

BOOKED BY CITY

According to Gilbert, White was booked and brought to the jail on the third floor in a drunken state by City Police.

Gilbert said water was standing two inches deep on the first floor yesterday morning.

He said the ceilings, walls and chairs were damaged, but that records were spared.

Damaged were the offices of the assessor, registrar, police jury, district judge and two offices used by the sheriff's department, and the courtroom.

White will be charged with damage to public property, Gilbert said.

Gilbert said the water "went all the way to the bottom" of the courthouse.

The sheriff said White's trial will be held in September in district court here.

State Agency To Move Into New Quarters

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Director Ed Wingage said Friday the casualty and surety division of the State Insurance Department will move into new quarters Aug. 25.

The new quarters will be leased from Dr. George Azar, close personal and political friend of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

The new building was constructed to specifications previously approved by the rating division and the state Division of Administration.

Original announcement of the agreement with Azar brought sharp criticism from the press and some members of the legislature.

But estimates of the lease terms were corected later and Administration Commissioner James S. Reily said the square foot rate on the new building would be less than the going rate for such facilities and less than the rate paid for its present quarters.

Three Lost Persons Are Found Safe

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—This was a sort of the lost-shall-be-found day in the Colorado mountains.

Johnny Valles, 7, of Pueblo, Colo., was found sitting on a rock in an area of old mine shafts northeast of Canon City, nearly 2 hours after he disappeared.

Two young summer workers at the mountain resort villages of Estes Park turned up hungry but unharmed, after getting lost on Longs Peak Wednesday. They were Joyce Karolyn Mast, 18, of Richmond, Ind., and Richard Boldrey, 20, of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

The Valles boy spent three nights of rain and chilling temperatures in hilly country that has plenty of rattlesnakes, but appeared unharmed except for a sore throat, scratches and torn pants.

An Army search party found him only 2½ miles from Beaver Creek where he had fished with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabino Valles, Tuesday. "I wasn't scared," he said.

Except for being famished, Miss Mast and Boldrey insisted they were none the worse for their two days and two nights in the high mountain country. They declined a suggestion they see a doctor.

They carried a lunch and wore only light jackets over shirts and blue jeans when they left Wednesday morning to go up the 14,255-foot peak. Later in the day they were caught in one of the worst rainstorms hitting the peak area in years.

Auto Workers Favor Walkout In Early Voting

DETROIT (UPI) — First tallies from a nationwide strike poll by the United Auto Workers Union showed Friday 95 per cent of the workers approving a walkout.

The first strike votes, ordered last Sunday by the UAW executive board, were taken this week. The poll will be completed by Aug. 29 — two days before contracts expire between the UAW and General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Early reports from plants in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Delaware had workers authorizing a strike by a margin of 5,315 to 264, an average far above the two-thirds necessary to call a walkout.

UAW officials have predicted workers at the big three will approve a walkout by a margin of 90 per cent or better.

But they warned the members that "these are not mechanical strike votes. You may have to back up the votes with a strike."

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, head of the union bargaining team at GM awaited an answer to his latest request for a look at GM's secret price-profit information.

Earl Bramblett, GM labor relations director, received the letter requesting the information Thursday and said he hasn't had a chance yet to answer it.

The union's first two requests were turned down cold by GM on grounds the UAW wasn't entitled to the price-profit information and could only discuss wages and working conditions in current negotiations.

Alton Webb, 41, dies; Rites Sunday

Alton Denzel Webb, 41, of Lake Charles, and the brother of a Monroe woman, died Thursday afternoon of injuries received that morning in a bulldozer accident at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

He was working for the Russell Construction Company.

Circumstances surrounding the accident still were sketchy but reports indicated that a swarm of yellowjackets entering the cab of the dozer Webb was driving caused him to lose control.

Unofficial sources said the vehicle turned over, pinning its driver.

Funeral services have been set for 3 p.m Sunday in the Winnsboro First Baptist Church with the Rev. Clarence Young, pastor, officiating. The body is scheduled to arrive in Winnsboro about noon today and will lie in state at Young's Funeral Home until shortly before time of services.

Interment will be in Harris Cemetery, near Winnsboro.

Besides his sister in Monroe, Mrs. Clyde Bankston, Mr. Webb is survived by his widow, Mrs. Earline Benoit Webb, of Lake Charles; two sons, Tommy and Danny Webb, and two daughters, Dianne and Mitzie Webb, all of Lake Charles; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Webb, Winnsboro and four other sisters, Mrs. Clinton Mize, Waterproof, Mrs. Alvin Walters, Oak Grove, and Mrs. J. C. Bankston and Mrs. Levern Southern, both of Winnsboro.

Auto Workers Favor Walkout In Early Voting

DETROIT (UPI) — First tallies from a nationwide strike poll by the United Auto Workers Union showed Friday 95 per cent of the workers approving a walkout.

The first strike votes, ordered last Sunday by the UAW executive board, were taken this week. The poll will be completed by Aug. 29 — two days before contracts expire between the UAW and General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Early reports from plants in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Delaware had workers authorizing a strike by a margin of 5,315 to 264, an average far above the two-thirds necessary to call a walkout.

UAW officials have predicted workers at the big three will approve a walkout by a margin of 90 per cent or better.

But they warned the members that "these are not mechanical strike votes. You may have to back up the votes with a strike."

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, head of the union bargaining team at GM awaited an answer to his latest request for a look at GM's secret price-profit information.

Earl Bramblett, GM labor relations director, received the letter requesting the information Thursday and said he hasn't had a chance yet to answer it.

The union's first two requests were turned down cold by GM on grounds the UAW wasn't entitled to the price-profit information and could only discuss wages and working conditions in current negotiations.

Alton Webb, 41, dies; Rites Sunday

Alton Denzel Webb, 41, of Lake Charles, and the brother of a Monroe woman, died Thursday afternoon of injuries received that morning in a bulldozer accident at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

He was working for the Russell Construction Company.

Circumstances surrounding the accident still were sketchy but reports indicated that a swarm of yellowjackets entering the cab of the dozer Webb was driving caused him to lose control.

Unofficial sources said the vehicle turned over, pinning its driver.

Funeral services have been set for 3 p.m Sunday in the Winnsboro First Baptist Church with the Rev. Clarence Young, pastor, officiating. The body is scheduled to arrive in Winnsboro about noon today and will lie in state at Young's Funeral Home until shortly before time of services.

Interment will be in Harris Cemetery, near Winnsboro.

Besides his sister in Monroe, Mrs. Clyde Bankston, Mr. Webb is survived by his widow, Mrs. Earline Benoit Webb, of Lake Charles; two sons, Tommy and Danny Webb, and two daughters, Dianne and Mitzie Webb, all of Lake Charles; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Webb, Winnsboro and four other sisters, Mrs. Clinton Mize, Waterproof, Mrs. Alvin Walters, Oak Grove, and Mrs. J. C. Bankston and Mrs. Levern Southern, both of Winnsboro.

New Marxist Manifesto

In November of last year representatives of 81 communist parties throughout the world including the Communist Party of the United States met at a summit conference in Moscow.

They produced a manifesto which outlined their aims, their ambitions, their communal thinking. For one thing, these leaders of the anti-freedom conspiracy divided the globe into four distinct troups: —1—the socialist nations; —2—the imperialist nations:—3—the independent nations:—4—the colonial, or dependent, nations.

Communist doctrine teaches that revolution occurs differently in each nation according to the group in which that nation belongs. The doctrine also teaches that the stages of revolution within each nation follow a pattern dependent not only on that nation's group position but also on the degree of industrialization within the nation.

The manifesto insists on the fact that the general rules governing socialist revolution should be applied with due regard to what it calls "the historical peculiarities" of each country. At the same time it warns against "undue emphasis" on the role of national peculiarities which might weaken the common cause of socialism.

It lays special emphasis on the avoidance of a mechanical copying of the Communist Party in other countries. This could lead to the Communist Party "being isolated from reality, from the masses."

Therefore we — as non-Communists — must not disregard the national peculiarities of the Red Chinese revolution as distinct from the Red Russian revolution. To do this would be to isolate ourselves from reality. What is the peculiarity of the Red China revolution? Stalin pointed it out long ago. It is that in China military factors must be the most important. In Russia the industrial factors are supreme.

The Soviet Red Army was designed to be the protective left arm of the world revolution — defending the home and hearth of the Communist world, the USSR. The Chinese Red Army is designed to be "the mighty striking arm" of the world revolution and must gather to it all the vast sources of human material available to it in Asia. Of course, the Russian communist army is just as dangerous as the Chinese Red army. It simply has a different strategic aim. Its aim is to deter aggression against Communism. For this reason the Red Chinese always seems to be more warlike than do the Soviets.

So, now that we have the two strategic roles of the Soviet and Chinese armies straight, let us now find out what the Russian doctrine is on war itself.

Is a war between the socialist world and the free world inevitable?

No. Despite the fact that many scholars say so, this is not the truth. The exact policy is that war between the two worlds is inevitable unless the capitalists drop all resistance to socialism and give in peacefully to the socialists. In other words, we can avoid war if we meekly surrender. If we do not, we shall have war. It's just as simple as that.

The manifesto of last November lays down the classic Communist doctrine on war, dividing it into seven points. The points are these:

1. Only capitalists want war;
2. War between socialist nations is impossible, so permanent peace can come only when we have one socialist world;
3. War on any socialist nation by a capitalist nation is an international crime;
4. War upon a capitalist nation by a colonial nation is good;
5. Civil war by socialist rebels against a capitalist nations is good;
6. War between capitalist and socialist nations is unavoidable unless the capitalist surrender peaceably to the socialist nations;
7. Peaceful coexistence between capitalist and socialist nations is possible and desirable as a stopgap only in that it gives time to the communist countries to grow stronger and it also gives time for the capitalist countries to weaken themselves so they will have no alternative but to surrender meekly to their adversaries.

There is nothing new in this list of objectives. The same basic aims were outlined over a century ago by Karl Marx and were restated by Lenin when the communists took over Russia in 1918.

The danger today is the parroting of these aims and objectives by communist parties of 81 nations at periodic conferences in the Red capital.

Sugar Cane Curtain

With attention focused on Berlin and new, rigid enforcement of the East German - Russian "iron curtain" restrictions, problems in the western hemisphere seem small by comparison.

But the next big advance in Soviet colonialism may come in Latin America, now referred to by some observers as the land behind the "sugar cane" curtain. The outcome of the conference of American states in Uruguay may result in a neighborly aid program from the United States. However, we should take care that the Castro regime and other Latin American governments taking the communist-oriented line should be automatically disqualified.

Some of the heads of government in Latin American countries have urged that the United States "stop putting the spotlight" on Fidel Castro by arguing with or about him. They have suggested that an effective answer to the threat of Castro is a sustained program of United States economic aid to other Latin-American countries on a nation-by-nation basis.

Their theory is that continuation of the debate between Washington and Havana would play into Castro's hands because the Latin American masses would tend to see him as the "underdog" and that would be bad for relations between the U.S. and Latin America as a whole.

There is something wrong with this concept. Castro will not just go away if we turn our backs to him. Nor will any amount of U.S. aid to other Latin American countries bring about the downfall of this Communist-oriented dictator.

Neither the political nor the economic foundations of Castro's regime are based on normal yardsticks. Castro is not in power because he was elected to office by the Cuban people. Neither is his economy dependent upon supply, demand or profit margin.

Castro's regime shot itself into power. It has banned elections. It is subsidized by international Communism, because Soviet Russia and Red China recognize Cuba as a valuable Latin American "showcase" and are determined that the first Red satellite in this hemisphere shall not fall.

We need not negotiate with and cultivate Communism behind the "Sugar Cane" curtain. Rather we should dislodge it from this toehold on our doorstep as a step toward erasing the ugly smear from the world map.

The rest of the world watches to see whether the Western Hemisphere can expel the communist beachhead in Cuba or whether the Monroe Doctrine is dead. Any suggestion that Americans are resigned to Red satellitism will inevitably bring more of the same.

Tito Visit Considered

High State Dept. Officials Favor Early Meeting; Congress Balks At Idea

WASHINGTON — That long - pending proposal to invite Marshal Tito for an official visit here is showing new signs of life.

Whether anything will come of it is still conjectural.

Significantly, however, the latest revival of top - level interest in this on - again - off - again idea is due to three factors:

The increasingly ominous Berlin crisis; the conference of neutral and uncommitted nations slated to be held in Yugoslavia next month; and the generally unknown presence in Washington of Ambassador George Kennan, who returned from Belgrade for consultations at the express request of President Kennedy.

Kennan, one - time Ambassador to the Soviet, ranks on a par with Moscow Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and Assistant Secretary Charles Bohlen, former Ambassador to Russia, as a leading authority on the Iron Curtain.

He is credited as favoring a Tito visit to the U.S.

It is Kennan's belief the Yugoslav Communist ruler "could contribute usefully in various ways" in the war - threatening Berlin situation. Also that he would welcome a U.S. invitation because of Red China's intensified attacks against him.

Such an invitation would unquestionably strengthen his efforts to make himself a leader of the neutral and uncommitted countries.

Principal obstacle to a Tito visit has been congressional opposition.

Former President Eisenhower and the late Secretary John Foster Dulles seriously considered this proposal in 1957. Tito had let it be known he was eager to come to the U.S., and preparations were well advanced.

NO WELCOME MAT — But when congressional leaders were sounded out, their reaction was strongly adverse.

Foremost among them were Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill, Senator Styles Bridges, N.H., head of the Republican Policy Committee, House Democratic Leader John McCormack, Mass., and Representative John Rooney, D-N.Y., chariman of the Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget.

As a result of this powerful hostility, the plan was shelved.

It was revived the following year at the urging of then - Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy, Belgrade Ambassador James Riddleberger, and Warsaw Ambassador Jacob Beam. Several years before, Murphy and Beam, then an Assistant Secretary of State, had arranged for Dulles to confer with Tito.

This group advocated its proposal in a special memorandum to congressional leaders. Highlights were as follows:

"President Tito plays a highly important and significant role in Eastern Europe.

"It would undoubtedly be of assistance in the conduct of U.S. foreign policy for officials of this government to have a direct exchange of views with President Tito. This is the case even though we do not agree with each other's domestic policies.

"There have been conversations looking toward such a visit, but no date has been fixed."

No date was ever fixed. This second attempt to bring the Yugoslav ruler to the U.S. was no more successful than the first. Unyielding congressional disapproval again killed it.

Last year, Tito did get as far as New York — as head of his delegation to the United Nations General Assembly. This was the session also attended by Prime Minister Macmillan, Premier Khrushchev, President Gamal Nasser and Cuban dictator Fidel Castro.

But because of the tense presidential election, Tito was not asked to Washington, although that was urged by some State Department authorities.

The U.S. has a huge foreign aid "investment" in Yugoslavia.

Since 1946, that has amounted to $2.132 billion, of which $1.438 billion economic aid, and $694 million military.

President Kennedy named Kennan, one - time career diplomat, Ambassador to Yugoslvia for the specific purpose of maintaining our strong ties there and to foster closer relations with the Iron Curtain satellites, particularly Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Blood Thinners

Anti-Coagulates Are Not Advised For All Heart Patients

Patient X: Do you believe in the use of blood - thinners in all patients who have had a coronary thrombosis?

Doctor Y: Not in all cases. When not to use anticoagulants (blood-thinners) should depend upon the doctor's judgment. For example, in a patient who has also had bleeding stomach ulcers, the good doctor would think twice about giving these drugs. They might cause the ulcers to hemmorrhage.

Patient X: I'm speaking of the ordinary attack of thrombosis.

Doctor Y: No attack is ordinary. It all depends upon the patient and the various tests, as to whether such treatment should be given. If a man has slight pain, little drop in blood pressure and few changes in the electrocardiogram and no heart irregularity, he might get well without such blood-thinners as dicumarol or heparin.

Patient X: Do all doctors feel this way?

Doctor Y: No. Some give the drugs to every patient; others don't use them at all. But the majority give these medicines in special cases.

For example, I have just been reading the opinion of Dr. Henry I. Russek given before the annual scientific meeting of the Maryland Academy of General Practice. He does not think that anticoagulants should be given in good - risk cases of coronary thrombosis. Just getting the patient out of bed as early as possible he thinks, will prevent complications.

He cited about 1,000 cases in which patients did well without taking the medicines. But he does believe there are specific indications in some patients for taking these blood - thinners. Most doctors now agree.

The following are good reasons for using anticoagulants: Patients who have had a previous attack. Those who have severe and prolonged pain. Those who already have an enlaged heart. Or those who have what we call congestive (heart) failure. Those who have developed an irregular heart beat. Those who are seen in shock and with sharp fall of blood pressure. And people who have such complications as diabetes, which is difficult to control.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is there any treatment for Bell's Palsy except waiting and hoping that the paralysis of the face will clear up? I should think there's more to it than "conservative" treatment. — Mr. T., Pennsylvania

Comment; Some doctors prescribe heat, massage, and electrical treatments to keep the involved facial muscles "alive." Others say it is a self - limited condition that will improve by itself after a few weeks.

As for me, I believe that more should be done than just stand by and hope. Many doctors feel the same. For example, here are some recommendations by Dr. David D. Cohen in a recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association. He looks upon Bell's Palsy as a medical emergency, and believes in intensifying treatment during the first 48 hours. He recommends "blocking the stellate ganglion" and administering nicotinic acid by hypodermic to help the circulation and cortiscosteroids to reduce swelling. He cites 39 patients treated within two days after the onset of facial paralysis who recovered completely within two weeks. Exceptionally good results!

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Practical Pointers for Coronary Patients," will be mailed on receipt of a stamped, self - addressed envelope, and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c-o this newspaper.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

UIETUS ON FILIBUSTERS —Present plan of the Senate leadership is to bring up change in Senate rules in July (August, ii Congressional session is prolonged) after legislative and most of appropriation bills have been passed. It will provide that 60 of the 100 members of the Senate can limit debate, choking off filibusters. Southerners may not make more than a token fight against the new rules, and may have no more than 18 of the 22 Southern Senators in opposition, with no support outside the South in sight. With the filibuster a dead duck far reaching civil rights legislation would be passed at session of Congress beginning in January.

GATT TARIFF REDUCTIONS —Goal of General Agreement of Tariff and Trade (GATT) meeting in Geneva this week was cutting tariffs between the United States, Great Britain and Continental Europe by 20 per cent. United States under last extension of Reciprocal Trade Act was authorized to make such a cut but some officials think if carried out it might create sufficient resentment to prevent another extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act. Geneva negotiations will go on for several months.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Aug. 19, the 231st day of the year with 134 to follow in 1961.

The moon is full.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1870, elder statesman Bernard Baruch was born in Camden, S.C.

In 1890, the Daughters of the American Revolution were organized. The society was restricted to those who had at least one ancester who aided in establishing American independence.

In 1945, Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of the battle of Corregidor in World War II, was found safe in a Japanese prisoner compound in Manchuria.

In 1960, U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was convicted of espionage in Moscow and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

A thought for today: Thomas Jefferson said, "The God who gave us life, gave us liberty at the same time."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Who Are They?

What Have They Done To Bring Peace To The World?

I see in a Soviet publication a list of Lenin Peace Prize winners and I wonder who some of them are and what they got the Peace Prize for. The winners, this year, are:

"Premier Fidel Castro (Cuba), President Sekou Toure (Guinea), Mme. Rameshwari Nehru (India), writer Mihail Sadoveanu (Rumania), architect Antoine George Tabet (Lebanon), Ostap Dluski (Poland) and William Morrow (Australia)."

Precisely what have these people done to bring peace to the world? Certainly Fidel Castro has not helped the world toward peace; rather he has brought the world closer to war. From this one example, it is possible to wonder whether in the Aesopian language of Soviet Russia peace is not war and war is not peace.

The name of William Morrow of Australia is here. What has William Morrow done to achieve world peace or, for that matter, what could he have done? Or to go a step further, what in particular can Australia do about war or peace?

One gets to wonder about these prizes. What do the Nobel Peace Prizes represent in history? I take the first dozen names from 1901-1908:

"1901-H. Dunant (Swi.); Fred Passy (F.); 1902-E. Ducommun & A. Gobat (Swi.); 1903-Sir William R. Cremer (Br.); 1904-Institute of International Law; 1905-Bertha von Stuttner (Aus.); 1906 Theodore Roosevelt (A.); 1907-E. T. Moneta (I.); L. Renault (F.); 1908-Klas P. Arnoldson (Swe.); Frederick Bajer (Dn.)."

Except for Theodore Roosevelt and L. Renault, what role have these winners played in history? But let us go a step further: what actually did Theodore Roosevelt do for peace? He got his prize for bringing the Russo-Japanese War to an end by the Treaty of Portsmouth which may be an act of peace, depending upon how one views the consequences of historic acts.

The last Nobel Peace Prize winners rather indicate that difficulty is found in making any selection at all. In 1959, a Britisher, Noel-Baker, was chosen; in 1958, the Reverend Dominique Georges Pire another Britisher got it; in 1957, it went to Lester Pearson of Canada and then they could find no one for some years because in 1953, it was given to General George Marshall. Certainly Lester Pearson and General Marshall never did anything for peace. I could not find Reverend Pire's name in any reference book.

While I was looking at lists of prize-winners, I had a look at the Pulitzer Prizes and found a few important names who have left some reputation behind them, but too many of the really great have been omitted.

It is cruel to look at such lists, for how many of us will survive a decade of memory or even six months? Of the billions of human beings in the long history of man, few names survive. The peacemakers, in particular, have been few in number and of those, few achieved peace. The war-makers have been more successful and more famous. Everybody knows the name, Napoleon, who never won a peace prize. Very few know of Alexander I of Russia who really tried to make peace but failed.

I wonder if Abraham Lincoln would have won a peace prize if such were around in his day? In his heart, he wanted peace. He did not make a war but when it came upon him, he fought it to a success. But he hated war and would have made peace at any time. His program for peace, after the war, might have saved the country from much grief. But he won no prizes.

There is no telling who of the present figures in our society will last a decade or a century in history. Will the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry Truman or Dwight D. Eisenhower stand out monumentally? Will they count for as much in history as Stalin or Khrushchev or even Hitler? History has curious ways of picking its great figures and curiously enough it is not the peace-maker but the war-maker who fills pages. True, we do know something about Aristotle, but more about his pupil, Alexander. Alexander or Iskander, as he is sometimes called, has had cities named about him and millions of children have been given his name as their name, but how many are named after Aristotle? The only one on record is a Greek shipowner who is famous for his connection with a temperamental and noisy soprano.

SYLVIA PORTER

Art Thefts

Where Can Thieves Unload Masterpieces Known The World Over?

Not in memory has the world of art been hit by a series of thefts so daring, so audacious, so successful as those of the past few months in France and the United States. This is robbery in the grandest of manners. This is crime on a scale which surely catches your imagination, makes you wonder "What are the forces behind the movement? Where can the thieves possibly unload masterpieces known the world over? Who's buying? How are they getting away with it?"

At Aix-en-Provence in southern France a week ago yesterday, thieves broke into an exhibition hall and stole eight paintings of the French post - impressionist master, Paul Cezanne. The value of the haul was unofficially estimated at $2,000,000-plus. Among the stolen canvases was Cezanne's world - famous "The Card Players," on loan from the Louvre in Paris.

On July 16 in Saint-Tropez on the French Riviera, thieves stole 57 masterpieces from the Annonciada Museum. Among these were paintings by Matisse, Bonnard, Utrillo, Derain, Dufy, Vuillard and Vlaminck — treasured names among the impressionist and post - impressionist masters.

There have been fabulous robberies in the last few months from private collections as well. At Saint - Paul - de - Vence on the Riviera, two burglaries involved 43 paintings with an estimated value of $800,000. All of these paintings have been retrieved for the collectors, though. In Pittsburgh in late July, 10 moderns valued at $300,000 to $400,000 were stolen from the home of a retired millionaire collector.

These are the thefts which have been reaching the front pages. There have been many others on a lesser scale — and unreported.

The major force behind the thefts is the almost incredible art boom of the postwar period — a boom which dwarfs the climb in prices of stocks, real estate, other familiar investment mediums. Faanz Pick, the international currency expert, estimates that since 1945, the "blue chips" among the impressionist and post-impressionist paintings have soared 2,000 per cent and more! Until 1958, the rise in prices of these canvases was running 50 to 100 per cent a year. Just in the first six months of 1961, prices in this group of paintings have jumped another 25-30 per cent. "Nothing beats this stuff, nothing," says Pick. "And museums all over want the impressionist and post - impressionist leaders, are eagerly seeking them. Once a painting is bought by a museum, it 'disappears' from the market and the supply is limited."

The boom explains the "why" dramatically. But how are the thieves getting away with it?

Experts figure that within hours after a painting has been stolen, it has been flown out of the country by chartered plane and one thing is sure — the thieves and the buyers never are in the same country. A stolen masterpiece may pass through dozens of hands within a matter of weeks. An art thief can arrange to have the painting "fixed" — by a cut in its size or a change in the signature, etc. — so that even the shrewdest dealer will hesitate to identify it as a stolen canvas. It's comparatively easy to do this with the moderns because most of them have done so many similar versions of a single work.

Who's buying? Where are the masterpieces being unloaded?

This must be strictly guesswork but in a discussion of this a few weeks ago, "The Insider's Newsletter" guessed that many of the stolen works are disappearing behind the Iron Curtain, going to museums or "wealthy Communist leaders who prefer art to liquid assets, since big bank accounts are regarded with official disfavor." South America is placed second only to the Iron Curtain countries and, adds the newsletter, "Wealthy Latin American collectors are eager for art, but for tax reasons, South American purchasers rarely publicize their acquisitions, or send them to museums."

Each successful art theft apparently encourages more robberies — and with the art boom still going strong, the odds are the saga of the "disappearing masterpieces" has not yet run its course.

To do this would be to isolate ourselves from reality. What is the peculiarity of the Red China revolution? Stalin pointed it out long ago. It is that in China military factors must be the most important. In Russia the industrial factors are supreme.

The Soviet Red Army was designed to be the protective left arm of the world revolution — defending the home and hearth of the Communist world, the USSR. The Chinese Red Army is designed to be "the mighty striking arm" of the world revolution and must gather to it all the vast sources of human material available to it in Asia. Of course, the Russian communist army is just as dangerous as the Chinese Red army. It simply has a different strategic aim. Its aim is to deter aggression against Communism. For this reason the Red Chinese always seems to be more warlike than do the Soviets.

So. now that we have the two strategic roles of the Soviet and Chinese armies straight, let us now find out what the Russian doctrine is on war itself.

Is a war between the socialist world and the free world inevitable?

No. Despite the fact that many scholars say so, this is not the truth. The exact policy is that war between the two worlds is inevitable unless the capitalists drop all resistance to socialism and give in peacefully to the socialists. In other words, we can avoid war if we meekly surrender. If we do not, we shall have war. It's just as simple as that.

The manifesto of last November lays down the classic Communist doctrine on war, dividing it into seven points. The points are these:

1. Only capitalists want war;
2. War between socialist nations is impossible, so permanent peace can come only when we have one socialist world;
3. War on any socialist nation by a capitalist nation is an international crime;
4. War upon a capitalist nation by a colonial nation is good;
5. Civil war by socialist rebels against a capitalist nations is good;
6. War between capitalist and socialist nations is unavoidable unless the capitalist surrender peaceably to the socialist nations;
7. Peaceful coexistence between capitalist and socialist nations is possible and desirable as a stopgap only in that it gives time to the communist countries to grow stronger and it also gives time for the capitalist countries to weaken themselves so they will have no alternative but to surrender meekly to their adversaries.

There is nothing new in this list of objectives. The same basic aims were outlined over a century ago by Karl Marx and were restated by Lenin when the communists took over Russia in 1918.

The danger today is the parroting of these aims and objectives by communist parties of 81 nations at periodic conferences in the Red capital.

Sugar Cane Curtain

With attention focused on Berlin and new, rigid enforcement of the East German - Russian "iron curtain" restrictions, problems in the western hemisphere seem small by comparison.

But the next big advance in Soviet colonialism may come in Latin America, now referred to by some observers as the land behind the "sugar cane" curtain. The outcome of the conference of American states in Uruguay may result in a neighborly aid program from the United States. However, we should take care that the Castro regime and other Latin American governments taking the communist-oriented line should be automatically disqualified.

Some of the heads of government in Latin American countries have urged that the United States "stop putting the spotlight" on Fidel Castro by arguing with or about him. They have suggested that an effective answer to the threat of Castro is a sustained program of United States economic aid to other Latin-American countries on a nation-by-nation basis.

Their theory is that continuation of the debate between Washington and Havana would play into Castro's hands because the Latin American masses would tend to see him as the "underdog".and that would be bad for relations between the U.S. and Latin America as a whole.

There is something wrong with this concept. Castro will not just go away if we turn our backs to him. Nor will any amount of U.S. aid to other Latin American countries bring about the downfall of this Communist-oriented dictator.

Neither the political nor the economic foundations of Castro's regime are based on normal yardsticks. Castro is not in power because he was elected to office by the Cuban people. Neither is his economy dependent upon supply, demand or profit margin.

Castro's regime shot itself into power. It has banned elections. It is subsidized by international Communism, because Soviet Russia and Red China recognize Cuba as a valuable Latin American "showcase" and are determined that the first Red satellite in this hemisphere shall not fall.

We need not negotiate with and cultivate Communism behind the "Sugar Cane" curtain. Rather we should dislodge it from this toehold on our doorstep as a step toward erasing the ugly smear from the world map.

The rest of the world watches to see whether the Western Hemisphere can expel the communist beachhead in Cuba or whether the Monroe Doctrine is dead. Any suggestion that Americans are resigned to Red satellitism will inevitably bring more of the same.

Tito Visit Considered

High State Dept. Officials Favor Early Meeting; Congress Balks At Idea

WASHINGTON — That long - pending proposal to invite Marshal Tito for an official visit here is showing new signs of life.

Whether anything will come of it is still conjectural.

Significantly, however, the latest revival of top - level interest in this on - again - off - again idea is due to three factors:

The increasingly ominous Berlin crisis; the conference of neutral and uncommitted nations slated to be held in Yugoslavia next month; and the generally unknown presence in Washington of Ambassador George Kennan, who returned from Belgrade for consultations at the express request of President Kennedy.

Kennan, one - time Ambassador to the Soviet, ranks on a par with Moscow Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and Assistant Secretary Charles Bohlen, former Ambassador to Russia, as a leading authority on the Iron Curtain.

He is credited as favoring a Tito visit to the U.S.

It is Kennan's belief the Yugoslav Communist ruler "could contribute usefully in various ways" in the war - threatening Berlin situation. Also that he would welcome a U.S. invitation because of Red China's intensified attacks against him.

Such an invitation would unquestionably strengthen his efforts to make himself a leader of the neutral and uncommitted countries.

Principal obstacle to a Tito visit has been congressional opposition.

Former President Eisenhower and the late Secretary John Foster Dulles seriously considered this proposal in 1957. Tito had let it be known he was eager to come to the U.S., and preparations were well advanced.

NO WELCOME MAT — But when congressional leaders were sounded out, their reaction was strongly adverse.

Foremost among them were Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill. Senator Styles Bridges, N.H., head of the Republican Policy Committee, House Democratic Leader John McCormack, Mass., and Representative John Rooney, D-N.Y., chariman of the Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget.

As a result of this powerful hostility, the plan was shelved.

It was revived the following year at the urging of then - Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy, Belgrade Ambassador James Riddleberger, and Warsaw Ambassador Jacob Beam. Several years before, Murphy and Beam, then an Assistant Secretary of State, had arranged for Dulles to confer with Tito.

This group advocated its proposal in a special memorandum to congressional leaders. Highlights were as follows:

"President Tito plays a highly important and significant role in Eastern Europe.

"It would undoubtedly be of assistance in the conduct of U.S. foreign policy for officials of this government to have a direct exchange of views with President Tito. This is the case even though we do not agree with each other's domestic policies.

"There have been conversations looking toward such a visit, but no date has been fixed."

No date was ever fixed. This second attempt to bring the Yugoslav ruler to the U.S. was no more successful than the first. Unyielding congressional disapproval again killed it.

Last year, Tito did get as far as New York — as head of his delegation to the United Nations General Assembly. This was the session also attended by Prime Minister Macmillan, Premier Khrushchev, President Gamal Nasser and Cuban dictator Fidel Castro.

But because of the tense presidential election, Tito was not asked to Washington, although that was urged by some State Department authorities.

The U.S. has a huge foreign aid "investment" in Yugoslavia.

Since 1946, that has amounted to $2.132 billion, of which $1.438 billion economic aid, and $694 million military.

President Kennedy named Kennan, one - time career diplomat, Ambassador to Yugoslvia for the specific purpose of maintaining our strong ties there and to foster closer relations with the Iron Curtain satellites, particularly Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Blood Thinners

Anti-Coagulates Are Not Advised For All Heart Patients

Patient X: Do you believe in the use of blood - thinners in all patients who have had a coronary thrombosis?

Doctor Y: Not in all cases. When not to use anticoagulants (blood-thinners) should depend upon the doctor's judgment. For example, in a patient who has also had bleeding stomach ulcers, the good doctor would think twice about giving these drugs. They might cause the ulcers to hemmorrhage.

Patient X: I'm speaking of the ordinary attack of thrombosis.

Doctor Y: No attack is ordinary. It all depends upon the patient and the various tests, as to whether such treatment should be given. If a man has slight pain, little drop in blood pressure and few changes in the electrocardiogram and no heart irregularity, he might get well without such blood-thinners as dicumarol or heparin.

Patient X: Do all doctors feel this way?

Doctor Y: No. Some give the drugs to every patient; others don't use them at all. But the majority give these medicines in special cases.

For example, I have just been reading the opinion of Dr. Henry I. Russek given before the annual scientific meeting of the Maryland Academy of General Practice. He does not think that anticoagulants should be given in good - risk cases of coronary thrombosis. Just getting the patient out of bed as early as possible he thinks, will prevent complications.

He cited about 1,000 cases in which patients did well without taking the medicines. But he does believe there are specific indications in some patients for taking these blood - thinners. Most doctors now agree.

The following are good reasons for using anticoagulants: Patients who have had a previous attack. Those who have severe and prolonged pain. Those who already have an enlaged heart. Or those who have what we call congestive (heart) failure. Those who have developed an irregular heart beat. Those who are seen in shock and with sharp fall of blood pressure. And people who have such complications as diabetes, which is difficult to control.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is there any treatment for Bell's Palsy except waiting and hoping that the paralysis of the face will clear up? I should think there's more to it than "conservative" treatment. — Mr. T., Pennsylvania

Comment; Some doctors prescribe heat, massage, and electrical treatments to keep the involved facial muscles "alive." Others say it is a self - limited condition that will improve by itself after a few weeks.

As for me, I believe that more should be done than just stand by and hope. Many doctors feel the same. For example, here are some recommendations by Dr. David D. Cohen in a recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association. He looks upon Bell's Palsy as a medical emergency, and believes in intensifying treatment during the first 48 hours. He recommends "blocking the stellate ganglion" and administering nicotinic acid by hypodermic to help the circulation and cortiscosteroids to reduce swelling. He cites 39 patients treated within two days after the onset of facial paralysis who recovered completely within two weeks. Exceptionally good results!

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Practical Pointers for Coronary Patients," will be mailed on receipt of a stamped, self - addressed envelope, and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c-o this newspaper.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

UIETUS ON FILIBUSTERS —Present plan of the Senate leadership is to bring up change in Senate rules in July (August, if Congressional session is prolonged) after legislative and most of appropriation bills have been passed. It will provide that 60 of the 100 members of the Senate can limit debate, choking off filibusters. Southerners may not make more than a token fight against the new rules, and may have no more than 18 of the 22 Southern Senators in opposition, with no support outside the South in sight. With the filibuster a dead duck far reaching civil rights legislation would be passed at session of Congress beginning in January.

GATT TARIFF REDUCTIONS —Goal of General Agreement of Tariff and Trade (GATT) meeting in Geneva this week was cutting tariffs between the United States, Great Britain and Continental Europe by 20 per cent. United States under last extension of Reciprocal Trade Act was authorized to make such a cut but some officials think if carried out it might create sufficient resentment to prevent another extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act. Geneva negotiations will go on for several months.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Aug. 19, the 231st day of the year with 134 to follow in 1961.

The moon is full.

The morning star is Venus.

The evering stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1870, elder statesman Bernard Baruch was born in Camden, S.C.

In 1890, the Daughters of the American Revolution were organized. The society was restricted to those who had at least one ancester who aided in establishing American independence.

In 1945, Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of the battle of Corregidor in World War II, was found safe in a Japanese prisoner compound in Manchuria.

In 1960, U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was convicted of espionage in Moscow and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

A thought for today: Thomas Jefferson said, "The God who gave us life, gave us liberty at the same time."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Who Are They?

What Have They Done To Bring Peace To The World?

I see in a Soviet publication a list of Lenin Peace Prize winners and I wonder who some of them are and what they got the Peace Prize for. The winners, this year, are:

"Premier Fidel Castro (Cuba), President Sekou Toure (Guinea), Mme. Rameshwari Nehru (India), writer Mihail Sadoveanu (Rumania), architect Antoine George Tabet (Lebanon), Ostap Dluski (Poland) and William Morrow (Australia)."

Precisely what have these people done to bring peace to the world? Certainly Fidel Castro has not helped the world toward peace; rather he has brought the world closer to war. From this one example, it is possible to wonder whether in the Aesopian language of Soviet Russia peace is not war and war is not peace.

The name of William Morrow of Australia is here. What has William Morrow done to achieve world peace or, for that matter, what could he have done? Or to go a step further, what in particular can Australia do about war or peace?

One gets to wonder about these prizes. What do the Nobel Peace Prizes represent in history? I take the first dozen names from 1901-1903:

"1901-H. Dunant (Swi.); Fred Passy (F.); 1902-E. Ducommun & A. Gobat (Swi.); 1903-Sir William R. Cremer (Br.); 1904-Institute of International Law; 1905-Bertha von Stuttner (Aus.); 1906 Theodore Roosevelt (A.); 1907-E. T. Moneta (I.); L. Renault (F.); 1908-Klas P. Arnoldson (Swe.); Frederick Bajer (Dn.)."

Except for Theodore Roosevelt and L. Renault, what role have these winners played in history? But let us go a step further: what actually did Theodore Roosevelt do for peace? He got his prize for bringing the Russo-Japanese War to an end by the Treaty of Portsmouth which may be an act of peace, depending upon how one views the consequences of historic acts.

The last Nobel Peace Prize winners rather indicate that difficulty is found in making any selection at all. In 1959, a Britisher, Noel-Baker, was chosen; in 1958, the Reverend Dominique Georges Pire another Britisher got it; in 1957, it went to Lester Pearson of Canada and then they could find no one for some years because in 1953, it was given to General George Marshall. Certainly Lester Pearson and General Marshall never did anything for peace. I could not find Reverend Pire's name in any reference book.

While I was looking at lists of prize-winners, I had a look at the Pulitzer Prizes and found a few important names who have left some reputation behind them, but too many of the really great have been omitted.

It is cruel to look at such lists, for how many of us will survive a decade of memory or even six months? Of the billions of human beings in the long history of man, few names survive. The peacemakers, in particular, have been few in number and of those, few achieved peace. The war-makers have been more successful and more famous. Everybody knows the name, Napoleon, who never won a peace prize. Very few know of Alexander I of Russia who really tried to make peace but failed.

I wonder if Abraham Lincoln would have won a peace prize if such were around in his day? In his heart, he wanted peace. He did not make a war but when it came upon him, he fought it to a success. But he hated war and would have made peace at any time. His program for peace, after the war, might have saved the country from much grief. But he won no prizes.

There is no telling who of the present figures in our society will last a decade or a century in history. Will the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry Truman or Dwight D. Eisenhower stand out monumentally? Will they count for as much in history as Stalin or Khrushchev or even Hitler? History has curious ways of picking its great figures and curiously enough it is not the peace-maker but the war-maker who fills pages. True, we do know something about Aristotle, but more about his pupil, Alexander. Alexander or Iskander, as he is sometimes called, has had cities named about him and millions of children have been given his name as their name, but how many are named after Aristotle? The only one on record is a Greek ship-owner who is famous for his connection with a temperamental and noisy soprano.

Art Thefts

Where Can Thieves Unload Masterpieces Known The World Over?

Not in memory has the world of art been hit by a series of thefts so daring, so audacious, so successful as those of the past few months in France and the United States. This is robbery in the grandest of manners. This is crime on a scale which surely catches your imagination, makes you wonder "What are the forces behind the movement? Where can the thieves possibly unload masterpieces known the world over? Who's buying? How are they getting away with it?"

At Aix-en-Provence in southern France a week ago yesterday, thieves broke into an exhibition hall and stole eight paintings of the French post - impressionist master, Paul Cezanne. The value of the haul was unofficially estimated at $2,000,000-plus. Among the stolen canvases was Cezanne's world - famous "The Card Players," on loan from the Louvre in Paris.

On July 16 in Saint-Tropez on the French Riviera, thieves stole 57 masterpieces from the Annonciada Museum. Among these were paintings by Matisse, Bonnard, Utrillo, Derain, Dufy, Vuillard and Vlaminck — treasured names among the impressionist and post - impressionist masters.

There have been fabulous robberies in the last few months from private collections as well. At Saint - Paul - de - Vence on the Riviera, two burglaries involved 43 paintings with an estimated value of $800,000. All of these paintings have been retrieved for the collectors, though. In Pittsburgh in late July, 10 moderns valued at $300,000 to $400,000 were stolen from the home of a retired millionaire collector.

These are the thefts which have been reaching the front pages. There have been many others on a lesser scale — and unreported.

The major force behind the thefts is the almost incredible art boom of the postwar period — a boom which dwarfs the climb in prices of stocks, real estate, other familiar investment mediums. Faanz Pick, the international currency expert, estimates that since 1945, the "blue chips" among the impressionist and post-impressionist paintings have soared 2,000 per cent and more! Until 1958, the rise in prices of these canvases was running 50 to 100 per cent a year. Just in the first six months of 1961, prices in this group of paintings have jumped another 25-30 per cent. "Nothing beats this stuff, nothing," says Pick. "And museums all over want the impressionist and post - impressionist leaders, are eagerly seeking them. Once a painting is bought by a museum, it 'disappears' from the market and the supply is limited."

The boom explains the "why" dramatically. But how are the thieves getting away with it?

Experts figure that within hours after a painting has been stolen, it has been flown out of the country by chartered plane and one thing is sure — the thieves and the buyers never are in the same country. A stolen masterpiece may pass through dozens of hands within a matter of weeks. An art thief can arrange to have the painting "fixed" — by a cut in its size or a change in the signature, etc. — so that even the shrewdest dealer will hesitate to identify it as a stolen canvas. It's comparatively easy to do this with the moderns because most of them have done so many similar versions of a single work.

Who's buying? Where are the masterpieces being unloaded?

This must be strictly guesswork but in a discussion of this a few weeks ago, "The Insider's Newsletter" guessed that many of the stolen works are disappearing behind the Iron Curtain, going to museums or "wealthy Communist leaders who prefer art to liquid assets, since big bank accounts are regarded with official disfavor." South America is placed second only to the Iron Curtain countries and, adds the newsletter, "Wealthy Latin American collectors are eager for art, but for tax reasons, South American purchasers rarely publicize their acquisitions, or send them to museums."

Each successful art theft apparently encourages more robberies — and with the art boom still going strong, the odds are the saga of the "disappearing masterpieces" has not yet run its course.

2-Car Crash Is Fatal For Six Persons

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) —All six persons in two cars were killed Friday in a collision north of this north-central Ohio community. Five of the victims, including two children, were members of the same family, the sheriffs office reported.

The dead were identified as Don M. Harvey, 57, of Kenton, Ohio; his wife, Ethel M., 55; their son, Frank G., 30, who lived at home; the elder Harveys grandchildren, Linda Nowland, 11, and her sister, Mary, 7, also of Kenton; and the other driver, Claude Hufford, 19, of nearby who was alone.

The crash occurred at the intersection of a Wyandot County road, on which the Harvey station wagon was northbound and Ohio Rt. 509, on which Hufford was westbound. The scene is just south of the Seneca County line, about two miles west of McCutchenville.

Coroner B. H. Hathaway said Hufford probably drowned. His body was found face down in a small stream which runs along a ditch in which both cars came to rest. Dr. Hathaway said Huffords body bore no visible signs of serious injury. He leaves a wife Ruth.

The Goff Funeral Home at Carey where the bodies of Mrs. Harvey and her son were taken, said the Harveys were en route from Kenton to Erie, Pa.

Mrs. Harvey and her son were killed instantly. Don Harvey and Linda Knowland died within an hour after arrival at Mercy Hospital, Tiffin. Mary Knowland was dead on arrival at the hospital. The childrens parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knowland, who were not in the car.

U.S. Will Hire More Negroes For Diplomats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reported Friday it is moving to hire more Negroes for the diplomatic service.

The department of employment opportunity movement made a series of recommendations that were favorably received by the departmnt.

The announcement by the State Department said Secretary Dean Rusk told the group removal of racial discrimination in the United States "is of fundamental importance to the success of the foreign policy of the United States."

"One of the first things we must do is insure that our own department and our own Foreign Service prove themselves on this point," Rusk added.

The department issued statistics showing that while 1,064 of its 4,570 civil service employes, most of whom work in Washington, are Negroes, 85 per cent of these Negroes are in menial jobs.

In the Foreign Service officer corps, which staffs diplomatic missions around the world, only 17 of the 3,732 officers are Negroes. Of 1,140 Foreign Service staff — secretarial and clerical help—only 38 are Negroes, the statistics showed.

West Berliners Hail Decision On U.S. Troops

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin Saturday welcomed President Kennedy's decision to strengthen the 5,000-man U.S. garrison here with a battle group of 1,500 men arriving Sunday.

A spokesman for West Berlin's welcome the measure taken by President Kennedy. Although Mayor Brandt has not asked for such a measure, the West Berlin population welcomes it as visibly underlining the importance of the U.S. position in Berlin."

Brandt, who had been conferring with aids at City Hall into the early morning hours had retired by the time the Washington public announcement reached Berlin.

The spokesman said Mayor Brandt had advance notice of Kennedy's step and he personally welcomed it.

"Deeds," the spokesman said, "are better than words."

Police Probing Mystery Death At Resort Area

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP)—Authorities Friday investigated the mysterious death of a wealthy widow who came to this resort area to forget a broken romance.

The body of Rita Brown, 54, o. Freeport, N.Y., clad in a print dress, was found in the surf Thursday, seven miles from the motel at which she was staying on this eastern tip of Long Island.

Suffolk County Medical Examiner Sidney Weinberg listed the cause of death as possible drowning but said: "This is a strange case. There are no obvious signs of injury on her body. But there are a number of unanswered questions. It could have been an accident suicide or homicide."

One of these questions was the whereabouts of her late model, expensive car.

Mrs. Brown was reported seen driving the car Thursday at 3:30 a.m. Her body was found at 8 a.m. off Napeague Beach, and her wrist watch had stopped at 4 a.m. probably the time of her death.

A number of expensive items of jewelry were found on her body and in her motel room, causing police to believe robbery was not involved.

Authorities said they learned she came here after the breakup of a romance. They did not elaborate.

Freeport police said Mrs. Brown was the widow of a New York City stockbroker who died 15 years ago and left her an estate of about $250,000.

UNSURE OF PLANS

Socialite Who Fled Wedding Is Found

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—An impulsive teen-age socialite who fled from her pending lavish wedding in Miami said here Friday: "I wasn't positive I wanted to go through with it."

Georgine (Gigi) Gorman, 18, willowy debutante who disappeared Tuesday night from Miami, driving her father's $4,500 white sports car, was picked up near here Friday.

"I left to postpone the wedding," she told newsmen. "I was just glad to get away, to think it over and use my own judgment."

Gigi's father, Harold Dale Gorman, a retired trucking executive, chartered a private plane to fly here from Miami.

The jilted bridegroom was Robert M. Oliver III, 20, of Coral Gables.

Gigi, a tall and strikingly pretty blonde, said she just started driving north after the Tuesday night wedding rehearsal. "I stopped the next day, I think it was in Georgia. I had no particular destination in mind."

She said her decision to leave Miami was not due to a conflicting romance. Asked if she still planned to marry Oliver, she replied: "Just maybe, but not at this time."

"I haven't said anything about not being still engaged" she added as she chatted with newsmen at state highway patrol headquarters.

At one point she wept while talking to newsmen, but quickly recovered and spoke with composure during the interview.

"My parents want me to do what I think is best. They don't want me or anyone else to be unhappy."

Gigi, wearing dark glasses and clad in a blue one-piece dress, chose her words carefully in answering questions.

She said she thought her father "kept tabs" on her after she left home.

"I think he knew where I was every minute of the time, and just wanted me to call him up," she said. "He doesn't miss many tricks. He's a wonderful father."

She left her father a note before leaving Miami. He indicated later that he had some idea of her whereabouts.

Her father obtained a warrant at Miami Thursday charging Gigi with theft of the sports car, a legal move to have law agencies alerted for her.

Sahl Named In Paternity Legal Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A TV costume designer named comedian Mort Sahl in a paternity suit and asked for $1,035 a month support for her baby son.

The suit, filed by Patricia Manley, 32, charged that she and Sahl had traveled together throughout the United States and Europe. She also charged that after the birth of her baby last July 15, Sahl contributed to the child's support.

Her attorney said there had been a disagreement on how much support should be paid and the suit was filed as a result.

A court hearing on an application for temporary support was set for Sept. 12.

Sahl, 34, is a top figure among the "new school" of intellectual comics who satirize America's manners and morals.

Mrs. Manley's suit also alleged that:

The child, named Adam Matthew Sahl, has been living with her in West Hollywood;

Sahl earned about $270,000 last year and currently is earning $30,000 a month;

She and Sahl, who is divorced, met in 1960 while she was working as a costume designer on the Steve Allen TV show, and that a romance ensued shortly afterward.'

Mrs. Manley is the widow of writer-actor John Manley, who died of a heart attack in 1957. She has two other children — a boy, 10, and a girl, 9.

A spokesman for Sahl said the comedian was not available for comment, adding: "Mort admits knowing the girl, but doesn't admit paternity. That's up to the court."

Funeral Rites Held For World Peace Advocate

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI) —Dr. Frank Buchman, who conceived the "moral re-armament" ideolgy designed to counter worldliness and foster world peace 23 years ago, was buried Friday in peaceful Fairview cemetery beside the graves of his parents and a brother.

Funeral services, attended by notables and dignitaries from around the world, were held in St. John's Lutheran Church where the 83-year-old Buchman had been ordained a minister.

Buchman died of a heart attack Aug. 7 while vacationing in Freudenstadt in the Black Forest of West Germany.

His will, filed for probate in the Lehigh County court before the services, left his Allentown properties to the Oxford Group Moral Rearmament, Inc., or New York, as a memorial. The estate was estimated at $25,000.

British Talks Are Due On Berlin Crisis

LONDON (UPI) — Foreign Secretary Lord Home interrupted his Scottish vacation Friday night and traveled to London for emergency talks with the Western Allied ambassadors that could lead to an early East-West conference on Berlin.

He scheduled meetings Saturday with the American, French and West German ambassadors in the face of what the Foreign Office called "a critical and serious" situation.

Diplomatic sources said developments in Berlin had prompted the West to push for earlier talks with Russia on the crisis and that a date between Sept. 17 and Oct. 17 was under consideration. These talks could be followed by a big four summit conference later this year.

Home's consultations were expected to deal with immediate measures on Berlin and to speed an Allied reply to Sooviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Aug. 3 notes to the Western powers on the future of Berlin. Khrushchev set out Russia's plans for Berlin and called for negotiations in his note.

The date of Sept. 17 marks the West German election, and the date of Oct. 17 marks the start of the Communist Party Congress in Moscow. Diplomatic sources considered both dates crucial and indicated the West would like to seize the diplomatic offensive during that period.

In the meantime the West was leaving nothing to chance and was taking steps to reinforce the military position against a worsening of the crisis.

Britain was reported forming a 12,000-man strong division as a special force ready to be flown to Germany in an emergency. This would be a self-contained reserve, leaving existing strategic reserve forces free for deployment in other theaters if necessary.

This followed British and French decisions Thursday to increase the military strength in Germany.

Kennedy Gives Swindler Post Despite Threats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy Friday named Joseph C. Swidler chairman of the Federal Power Commission despite threats that such a move would be challenged in the courts.

Kennedy announced that Swidler confirmed as a commission member in June, would assume the chairmanship Sept. 1.

He will replace Jerome Kuykendall, a Republican holdover appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Kuykendall will remain as a commission member.

Kennedy's announced intention to supplant Kuykendall with Swidler made the confirmation proceedings of the former Tennessee Valley Authority general counsel extremely controversial.

Swidler, a long-time advocate of public power, was strongly opposed by many conservative senators although his nomination was confirmed on a voice vote with only Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S. C. dissenting.

Wreck Victim Condition Reported Fair

Ernest Ray, about 30, of West Monroe, who was injured Thursday night in a one car crack - up about a mile west of Highway 80's intersection with I-20 near Calhoun, was listed Friday as in fair condition at Wright - Bendel Clinic.

He was considered to be out of danger.

Ray was reported to have sustained severe lacerations about the head and possible internal injuries at around 9 p.m. Thursday when he lost control of the 1961 automobile he was driving and slammed into a roadside barrier. State Police said the car was not believed to have turned over. Reports on a series of X - rays had not been released Friday night and an exact diagnosis was not available.

Ray said he remembered nothing of the incident and speculated that he must have passed out. Police said he was pulling a utility trailer behind the auto when the accident occurred and their reconstruction indicated that he may have lost control when the trailer began to sway as he attempted to pass another vehicle.

Exact circumstances Friday night, however, still were sketchy, as was Ray's address and occupation. The purpose of his trip also was in doubt. Ray was said to have told hsopital attendants shortly after the crash only his name and the fact that he had been on a long trip.

Since that time, he has not been allowed visitors and members of the family reported that he has been under sedation.

He was alone in the automobile.

2-Car Crash Is Fatal For Six Persons

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—All six persons in two cars were killed Friday in a collision north of this north-central Ohio community. Five of the victims, including two children, were members of the same family, the sheriffs office reported.

The dead were identified as Don M. Harvey, 57, of Kenton, Ohio; his wife, Ethel M., 55; their son, Frank G., 30, who lived at home; the elder Harveys grandchildren, Linda Nowland, 11, and her sister, Mary, 7, also of Kenton; and the other driver, Claude Hufford, 19, of nearby who was alone.

The crash occurred at the intersection of a Wyandot County road, on which the Harvey station wagon was northbound and Ohio Rt. 509, on which Hufford was westbound. The scene is just south of the Seneca County line, about two miles west of McCutchenville.

Coroner B. H. Hathaway said Hufford probably drowned. His body was found face down in a small stream which runs along a ditch in which both cars came to rest. Dr. Hathaway said Huffords body bore no visible signs of serious injury. He leaves a wife Ruth.

The Goff Funeral Home at Carey where the bodies of Mrs. Harvey and her son were taken, said the Harveys were en route from Kenton to Erie, Pa.

Mrs. Harvey and her son were killed instantly. Don Harvey and Linda Knowland died within an hour after arrival at Mercy Hospital, Tiffin. Mary Knowland was dead on arrival at the hospital. The childrens parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knowland, who were not in the car.

U.S. Will Hire More Negroes For Diplomats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reported Friday it is moving to hire more Negroes for the diplomatic service.

The department of employment opportunity movement made a series of recommendations that were favorably received by the departmnt.

The announcement by the State Department said Secretary Dean Rusk told the group removal of racial discrimination in the United States "is of fundamental importance to the success of the foreign policy of the United States."

"One of the first things we must do is insure that our own department and our own Foreign Service prove themselves on this point," Rusk added.

The department issued statistics showing that while 1,064 of its 4,570 civil service employes, most of whom work in Washington, are Negroes, 85 per cent of these Negroes are in menial jobs.

In the Foreign Service officer corps, which staffs diplomatic missions around the world, only 17 of the 3,732 officers are Negroes. Of 1,140 Foreign Service staff — secretarial and clerical help—only 38 are Negroes, the statistics showed.

Police Probing Mystery Death At Resort Area

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP)—Authorities Friday investigated the mysterious death of a wealthy widow who came to this resort area to forget a broken romance.

The body of Rita Brown, 54, o. Freeport, N.Y., clad in a print dress, was found in the surf Thursday, seven miles from the motel at which she was staying on this eastern tip of Long Island.

Suffolk County Medical Examiner Sidney Weinberg listed the cause of death as possible drowning but said: "This is a strange case. There are no obvious signs of injury on her body. But there are a number of unanswered questions. It could have been an accident suicide or homicide."

One of these questions was the whereabouts of her late model, expensive car.

Mrs. Brown was reported seen driving the car Thursday at 3:30 a.m. Her body was found at 8 a.m. off Napeague Beach, and her wrist watch had stopped at 4 a.m. probably the time of her death.

A number of expensive items of jewelry were found on her body and in her motel room, causing police to believe robbery was not involved.

Authorities said they learned she came here after the breakup of a romance. They did not elaborate.

Freeport police said Mrs. Brown was the widow of a New York City stockbroker who died 15 years ago and left her an estate of about $250,000.

UNSURE OF PLANS

Socialite Who Fled Wedding Is Found

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—An impulsive teen-age socialite who fled from her pending lavish wedding in Miami said here Friday: "I wasn't positive I wanted to go through with it."

Georgine (Gigi) Gorman, 18, willowy debutante who disappeared Tuesday night from Miami, driving her father's $4,500 white sports car, was picked up near here Friday.

"I left to postpone the wedding," she told newsmen. "I was just glad to get away, to think it over and use my own judgment."

Gigi's father, Harold Dale Gorman, a retired trucking executive, chartered a private plane to fly here from Miami.

The jilted bridegroom was Robert M. Oliver III, 20, of Coral Gables.

Gigi, a tall and strikingly pretty blonde, said she just started driving north after the Tuesday night wedding rehearsal. "I stopped the next day, I think it was in Georgia. I had no particular destination in mind."

She said her decision to leave Miami was not due to a conflicting romance. Asked if she still planned to marry Oliver, she replied: "Just maybe, but not at this time."

"I haven't said anything about not being still engaged" she added as she chatted with newsmen at state highway patrol headquarters.

At one point she wept while talking to newsmen, but quickly recovered and spoke with composure during the interview.

"My parents want me to do what I think is best. They don't want me or anyone else to be unhappy."

Gigi, wearing dark glasses and clad in a blue one-piece dress, chose her words carefully in answering questions.

She said she thought her father "kept tabs" on her after she left home.

"I think he knew where I was every minute of the time, and just wanted me to call him up," she said. "He doesn't miss many tricks. He's a wonderful father."

She left her father a note before leaving Miami. He indicated later that he had some idea of her whereabouts.

Her father obtained a warrant at Miami Thursday charging Gigi with theft of the sports car, a legal move to have law agencies alerted for her.

Sahl Named In Paternity Legal Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A TV costume designer named comedian Mort Sahl in a paternity suit and asked for $1,035 a month support for her baby son.

The suit, filed by Patricia Manley, 32, charged that she and Sahl had traveled together throughout the United States and Europe. She also charged that after the birth of her baby last July 15, Sahl contributed to the child's support.

Her attorney said there had been a disagreement on how much support should be paid and the suit was filed as a result.

A court hearing on an application for temporary support was set for Sept. 12.

Sahl, 34, is a top figure among the "new school" of intellectual comics who satirize America's manners and morals.

Mrs. Manley's suit also alleged that:

The child, named Adam Matthew Sahl, has been living with her in West Hollywood;

Sahl earned about $270,000 last year and currently is earning $30,000 a month;

She and Sahl, who is divorced, met in 1960 while she was working as a costume designer on the Steve Allen TV show, and that a romance ensued shortly afterward.

Mrs. Manley is the widow of writer-actor John Manley, who died of a heart attack in 1957. She has two other children — a boy, 10, and a girl, 9.

A spokesman for Sahl said the comedian was not available for comment, adding: "Mort admits knowing the girl, but doesn't admit paternity. That's up to the court."

Ray said he remembered nothing of the incident and speculated that he must have passed out. Police said he was pulling a utility trailer behind the auto when the accident occurred and their reconstruction indicated that he may have lost control when the trailer began to sway as he attempted to pass another vehicle.

Exact circumstances Friday night, however, still were sketchy, as was Ray's address and occupation. The purpose of his trip also was in doubt. Ray was said to have told hsopital attendants shortly after the crash only his name and the fact that he had been on a long trip.

Since that time, he has not been allowed visitors and members of the family reported that he has been under sedation.

He was alone in the automobile.

"NO MORE HOT DOGS FOR YOU, DONALD. YOU'VE GOT TO DRIVE!"

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son-in-law is a very big-hearted person, has a good disposition and is a good provider. But he has one fault that bothers me no end. When he eats, he holds his fork straight up, and he cuts his meat all at once into bite-sized pieces. My duaghter knows better, but she has never corrected him. This has been going on for 22 years. Should I speak to him about it? It may seem like a little thing to you, but it annoys me something terrible. —ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Mention it to your daughter in a good-humored way. If "she" wants to correct him, that's her business. But if he has brought home the bacon for 22 years, I'd let him cut it the way he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young (32) unmarried working girl. I get my hair washed and set every week. My hairdresser is a man about my age. He is very good-looking, and single. He has been fixing my hair for over three years, and I am no closer to him now than I was three years ago. He acts like he thinks a lot of me, but he has never asked me out. If he has a girl friend, he has never mentioned her. He shares an apartment with another fellow. He is just about the nicest man I have ever met. How can I get him interested in me? —GOT A CRUSH

DEAR GOT: If this man has been running his fingers through your hair once a week for three years, and you have made no headway, it's time you faced reality. He has no romantic interest in you. If he's a good hairdresser, continue to let him make you beautiful . . . but for somebody else.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the most suspicious man in the world. I have never given him any reason to doubt me. The funniest part of the whole thing is this: I am not especially attractive. I have no figure to speak of. I am on the quiet side, and no man has ever made a pass at me. If I leave the house, and am not back on the dot, my husband gets in the other car and starts to hunt me up. He is always cross-examining me and trying to get me to "confess" things that never happened. It hurts me to think he doesn't trust me. What on earth is wrong with him? I am 38 and he is 42, and we have been married for 17 years. —NOT TRUSTED

DEAR NOT: Persistent suspicion, without grounds, is a well-known symptom of an emotional disorder. Don't tolerate it in hopes that it will disappear. Your husband needs to see a doctor.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

A realistic Cinema expert, here from Hollywood to see "Come Blow Your Horn," has recommended that the movie version star Jack Lemmon in the Hal March role and Ricky Nelson as the kid brother . . . The producers of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" seem to have succeeded on Broadway without really trying. They've been turning down angels left and right, and already have enough funds subscribed to stage the entire show twice . . . Arlene Dahl went into the hospital to have her baby by Caesarian section, while her husband Chris Holmes, was busy assuring friends that they had no plans to separate or divorce after the happy event.

Princess Soraya is wearing a beautiful white sapphire surrounded by diamonds — supposed to be a present from Hugh O'-Brian, despite Soraya's protests that she isn't interested in any man. Some of her best friends say that actually she's just waiting for the Shah of Iran's permission to marry . . . Keely Smith's breakup with Morris Levy, even if temporary, left him free to date an army of beauties — particularly Cynthia Brooks, whose pulchritude has been displayed in the Las Vegas show lines . . . Theatrical page editors might check with genius Jerome Robbins to inquire if he's danced away from his directing chore on "A Funny Thing Happened To Me On The Way To The Forum."

It cost $150,000 to stage "The Miracle Worker" on Broadway. The budget for the screen version was $1,000,000 . . . The scuttlebutt from Havana has it that Fidel Castro would like to meet with President Kennedy for a conference that could only enhance Castro's prestige. Please Mr. President, DON'T DO IT! . . . Joanie Sommers has been signed for her first Las Vegas appearance — seven weeks at the Sahara early in 1962.

One of the best known record companies has stretched its finances so thin it's reached the point of issuing rubber checks to artists. One vocal group waited for weeks to be paid for a recording session, and when the check finally came, it bounced . . . A very pretty 17 - year - old who was passing herself off as "Jane Wyman's daughter" was unmasked as a phony when her real father came looking for her and hustled her home. She'd run away and was hanging around with the jazz musicians in midtown.

Novelist James Jones has become a serious skin - diver. He uses the tanks of oxygen strapped to his back, knife lashed to his leg, lead weights around his waist, flippers, and even a gadget that tells him which way is up . . . Travel agencies complain that U. S. hotel rates are far too steep for overseas visitors and must be lowered or we'll lose a great deal of tourist business from Europe. (They're being unrealistic. Even with low hotel rates, this isn't a tourist - type country.)

Michele Giradon, who is said to have terrific impact in the John Wayne epic "Hatari!" is being signed to a five - year contract by Paramount. They think she's another Ingrid Bergman . . . David Merrick reports that "Carnival" now has a bigger advance than any of his 20 previous productions . . . Margaret and Walter Keane the famed San Francisco painters, will open their New York exhibition at 798 Madison Ave. on Sept. 13. Apart from their wistful, big - eyed "unknown" subjects, the Keanes have done portraits of celebrities ranging from Adlai Stevenson to Zsa Zsa Gabor — and that's quite a range.

The Greek government has been making it tough for the Tony Perkins picture, "SS Phaedre," now being filmed in Athens. A few days after the troupe got official clearance to use a local shipyard for some important scenes, the authorities pounced and ordered the entire company to scram — with no explanations given . . . . Vikki Caro, who sings at the Versailles in Greenwich Village, will marry Frank Uttner on Sept. 17. The ecstatic groom - to - be is wailing at Birdland every night, in the sax section of Maynard Ferguson's band.

Abe Schneider the Columbia Pictures executive, is not and never has been occupying a suite at the St. Regis. That fantasy was dreamed up by the "outside" firm handling the hotel, and is not the fault of any members of the regular St. Regis staff. . . Jack Benny is so enthusiastic about Toni Marcus, a 12 - year - old violinist who performed in his act at Harrah's in Lake Tahoe a few weeks ago, he'll spot her prominently in one of his Winter television shows . . . Don't you love the name of that new Spanish crooner, Juan Tu? (Button my shoe.)

Around Al Cooper's restaurant, they say Betty Cooper, who owns the hatcheck concession there, is a favorite of former Mayor Bill O'Dwyer . . . Joan Blondell, about to wind up her memoirs reports "They're dynamite!" Of course she has plenty to write about — including her intimate experiences with Mike Todd and Dick Powell.

Is nothing sacred? Now there's a stripper on the burlesque belt who calls herself Carole Lombard . . . Leland Hayward and his lovely Pamela were the most attractive duet at Voisin the other night. Leland was generous in his critique of the Noel Coward musical, "Sail Away," which he and the little woman caught in Boston.

FIVE CHILDREN MISSING

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Five children were missing Friday in an Elbe River collision between the British yacht Tammy Moric and a Polish freighter, according to the Hamburg ship reporting service.

The service said the yacht sank immediately. Three adults were picked up by a passing ship but the children, aged 6-15, could not be found, the service reported.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

HYDROPHOBIC SKUNKS

Dry Gulch Jake, writing in a recent issue of Arizona Medicine, quotes the following story on skunk hydrophobia as it appeared in the Prescott, Ariz., Miner Journal in 1908:

"In the throes of unutterable agonies, J. W. Scantlin, the trapper who Saturday was brought to the county hospital — a victim of hydrophobia — died at midnight Sunday. A month and 10 days passed after the skunk bite before the victim noted anything wrong. Three days later he was a corpse."

Skunk hydrophobia was so common in the southwest, cowpokes regarded their skunks as somewhat different from others and called them "hydrophobia skunks." Authorities came from far and near to study the exact species and a government agent (a professor, no less) reported that seven persons had died in the Arizona frontier during a six week period.

Those who knew skunks had to admit the species was separate and distinct from others because these animals usually are tim'd and nocturnal in their habits. The hydrophobic skunk faded away gradually and nowadays the stinker joins dogs, coyotes, foxes, ground squirrels, bats, and wolves as the principal animal reservoirs for rabies.

Dry Gulch Jake says hydrophobia skunks were so real to the Arizona cowhand, a local tent and awning company sold special skunk boats for protection while sleeping in the desert. They were made of heavy canvas and opened up into a fence 6 by 3 feet and 2 feet high.

The cowhand carried this boat in his bed roll. At night, he opened it up and staked it out with a stick at each corner. He wasn't afraid of rattlers but to be bitten by a hydrophobia skunk — man, that would be fatal. Now the skunk boat has joined the prairie schooner in limbo.

MEASLES DURING PREGNANCY

J.S.M. writes: Do a large number of women who develop German measles during early pregnancy give birth to defective children?

REPLY

Yes -- up to 85 per cent — when German measles occurs during the first three months of pregnancy. The child may be born with a defect of the heart, ears, or eyes.

PULSE RISE

A. D. writes: Is it normal for the pulse to go up after smoking a cigaret?

REPLY

Yes, if the person is sensitive to tobacco. There are many unavoidable situations such as exertion, digestion, and emotional upsets that increase the pulse rate. Why add smoking to the list?

INFERTILE MALE

R. W. writes: Have any advances been made in correcting male sterility?

REPLY

Not in the last decade or so. The use of a certain thyroid preparation is said to increase male fertility.

VISION AND READING

J.F. writes: Can a person read a great deal without harming the eyes?

REPLY

Yes. Normal eyes may become fatigued or strained but these manifestations disappear with rest.

INELASTIC FINGERS

F. B. writes: Do stiff, numb fingers indicate arthritis?

REPLY

Not always. Cold and overwork may make fingers stiff and numb.

DEPRESSED FRACTURE

P.T. writes: What is a depressed skull fracture?

REPLY

The skull bone not only is fractured but dented, as a result of an injury.

Novelist James Jones has become a serious skin - diver. He uses the tanks of oxygen strapped to his back, knife lashed to his leg, lead weights around his waist, flippers, and even a gadget that tells him which way is up . . . Travel agencies complain that U. S. hotel rates are far too steep for overseas visitors and must be lowered or we'll lose a great deal of tourist business from Europe. (They're being unrealistic. Even with low hotel rates, this isn't a tourist - type country.)

Michele Giradon, who is said to have terrific impact in the John Wayne epic "Hatari!" is being signed to a five - year contract by Paramount. They think she's another Ingrid Bergman . . . David Merrick reports that "Carnival" now has a bigger advance than any of his 20 previous productions . . . Margaret and Walter Keane the famed San Francisco painters, will open their New York exhibition at 798 Madison Ave. on Sept. 13. Apart from their wistful, big - eyed "unknown" subjects, the Keanes have done portraits of celebrities ranging from Adlai Stevenson to Zsa Zsa Gabor — and that's quite a range.

The Greek government has been making it tough for the Tony Perkins picture, "SS Phaedre," now being filmed in Athens. A few days after the troupe got official clearance to use a local shipyard for some important scenes, the authorities pounced and ordered the entire company to scram — with no explanations given . . . . Vikki Caro, who sings at the Versailles in Greenwich Village, will marry Frank Hittner on Sept. 17. The ecstatic groom - to - be is wailing at Birdland every night, in the sax section of Maynard Ferguson's band.

Abe Schneider the Columbia Pictures executive, is not and never has been occupying a suite at the St. Regis. That fantasy was dreamed up by the "outside" firm handling the hotel, and is not the fault of any members of the regular St. Regis staff . . . Jack Benny is so enthusiastic about Toni Marcus, a 12 - year - old violinist who performed in his act at Harrah's in Lake Tahoe a few weeks ago, he'll spot her prominently in one of his Winter television shows . . . Don't you love the name of that new Spanish crooner, Juan Tu? (Button my shoe.)

Around Al Cooper's restaurant, they say Betty Cooper, who owns the hatcheck concession there, is a favorite of former Mayor Bill O'Dwyer . . . Joan Blondell, about to wind up her memoirs reports "They're dynamite!" Of course she has plenty to write about — including her intimate experiences with Mike Todd and Dick Powell.

Is nothing sacred? Now there's a stripper on the burlesque belt who calls herself Carole Lombard . . . Leland Hayward and his lovely Pamela were the most attractive duet at Voisin the other night. Leland was generous in his critique of the Noel Coward musical, "Sail Away," which he and the little woman caught in Boston.

How To Keep Well

HYDROPHOBIC SKUNKS

Dry Gulch Jake, writing in a recent issue of Arizona Medicine, quotes the following story on skunk hydrophobia as it appeared in the Prescott, Ariz., Miner Journal in 1908:

"In the throes of unutterable agonies, J. W. Scantlin, the trapper who Saturday was brought to the county hospital — a victim of hydrophobia — died at midnight Sunday. A month and 10 days passed after the skunk bite before the victim noted anything wrong. Three days later he was a corpse."

Skunk hydrophobia was so common in the southwest, cowpokes regarded their skunks as somewhat different from others and called them "hydrophobia skunks." Authorities came from far and near to study the exact species and a government agent (a professor, no less) reported that seven persons had died in the Arizona frontier during a six week period.

Those who knew skunks had to admit the species was separate and distinct from others because these animals usually are timid and nocturnal in their habits. The hydrophobic skunk faded away gradually and nowadays the stinker joins dogs, coyotes, foxes, ground squirrels, bats, and wolves as the principal animal reservoirs for rabies.

Dry Gulch Jake says hydrophobia skunks were so real to the Arizona cowhand, a local tent and awning company sold special skunk boats for protection while sleeping in the desert. They were made of heavy canvas and opened up into a fence 6 by 3 feet and 2 feet high.

The cowhand carried this boat in his bed roll. At night, he opened it up and staked it out with a stick at each corner. He wasn't afraid of rattlers but to be bitten by a hydrophobia skunk — man, that would be fatal. Now the skunk boat has joined the prairie schooner in limbo.

MEASLES DURING PREGNANCY

J.S.M. writes: Do a large number of women who develop German measles during early pregnancy give birth to defective children?

REPLY

Yes — up to 85 per cent — when German measles occurs during the first three months of pregnancy. The child may be born with a defect of the heart, ears, or eyes.

PULSE RISE

A. D. writes: Is it normal for the pulse to go up after smoking a cigaret?

REPLY

Yes, if the person is sensitive to tobacco. There are many unavoidable situations such as exertion, digestion, and emotional upsets that increase the pulse rate. Why add smoking to the list?

INFERTILE MALE

R. W. writes: Have any advances been made in correcting male sterility?

REPLY

Not in the last decade or so. The use of a certain thyroid preparation is said to increase male fertility.

VISION AND READING

J.F. writes: Can a person read a great deal without harming the eyes?

REPLY

Yes. Normal eyes may become fatigued or strained but these manifestations disappear with rest.

INELASTIC FINGERS

F. B. writes: Do stiff, numb fingers indicate arthritis?

REPLY

Not always. Cold and overwork may make fingers stiff and numb.

DEPRESSED FRACTURE

P.T. writes: What is a depressed skull fracture?

REPLY

The skull bone not only is fractured but dented, as a result of an injury.

FIVE CHILDREN MISSING

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Five children were missing Friday in an Elbe River collision between the British yacht Tammy Morie and a Polish freighter, according to the Hamburg ship reporting service.

The service said the yacht sank immediately. Three adults were picked up by a passing ship but the children, aged 6-15, could not be found, the service reported.

'PINT-SIZED' PROJECT

Tent 'Motel' Offers Real Bargain Rates

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Walls may be a trifle flimsy and there isnt any pool. But what other motel throws in breakfast with the 15-cent-a-night fee?

And anyway, theres always the telescope for a penny a look and the well-stocked library of the latest comic books.

Put them together and you've got the R.W.G. Motel, a collection of tents which puts the childhood penchant for backyard camping on a paying basis.

The project began unfolding when Tommy Riley, 11, got one tent from his father, a scoutmaster. And it blossomed when Jimmy Gillian, 11, and Mona Wray, 10, pitched in with help and ideas.

"We kept adding on more tents, and first thing we knew it looked like a motel," says Tommy, whose bespectacled face reflects his knack for business. The next step was natural.

"We decided to put it on a paying basis."

And with a promoters instinct Tommy soon had signs advertising the tent motel sprouting on neighborhood trees — complete with the list of charges:

Regular room, 15 cents a person private room, 18 cents; clock, 2 cents; radio, 3 cents; "Kool Aid," 1 cent a glass; crackers, 5 cents a pack, and peek through the telescope, 1 cent.

And to make the motel even more attractive to prospective pint-sized patrons, a comic book library and breakfast in bed—served by Mona, a pert blonde—were added.

The first three nights the motel pulled in $2.52, all of which will go to the crippled childrens hospital here.

None of the neighbors has registered any complaint as yet, but Tommy remarked: "Some of the boys got homesick and went home."

'PINT-SIZED' PROJECT

Tent 'Motel' Offers Real Bargain Rates

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Walls may be a trifle flimsy and there isnt any pool. But what other motel throws in breakfast with the 15-cent-a-night fee?

And anyway, theres always the telescope for a penny a look and the well-stocked library of the latest comic books.

Put them together and you've got the R.W.G. Motel, a collection of tents which puts the childhood penchant for backyard camping on a paying basis.

The project began unfolding when Tommy Riley, 11, got one tent from his father, a scoutmaster. And it blossomed when Jimmy Gillian, 11, and Mona Wray, 10, pitched in with help and ideas.

"We kept adding on more tents, and first thing we knew it looked like a motel," says Tommy, whose bespectacled face reflects his knack for business. The next step was natural.

"We decided to put it on a paying basis."

And with a promoters instinct Tommy soon had signs advertising the tent motel sprouting on neighborhood trees — complete with the list of charges:

Regular room, 15 cents a person private room, 18 cents; clock, 2 cents; radio, 3 cents; "Kool Aid," 1 cent a glass; crackers, 5 cents a pack, and peek through the telescope, 1 cent.

And to make the motel even more attractive to prospective pint-sized patrons, a comic book library and breakfast in bed—served by Mona, a pert blonde—were added.

The first three nights the motel pulled in $2.52, all of which will go to the crippled childrens hospital here.

None of the neighbors has registered any complaint as yet, but Tommy remarked: "Some of the boys got homesick and went home."

Record Military Cash Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Friday that President Kennedy has signed the biggest military appropriation ever passed in peacetime.

Kennedy approved the $46,662,556,000 defense bill Thursday night, exactly a week after it cleared Congress.

The President signed a separate measure Friday appropriating funds to step up the space program, including a start toward sending men to the moon.

The military appropriation includes an extra $3.5 billion which Kennedy requested three weeks ago for an emergency buildup of the nation's fighting forces.

It also includes $207.6 million which Kennedy asked for an intensified Civil Defense program in the face of new Communist threats in Berlin and elsewhere.

The bill contains these major allotments for the fiscal year ending next June 30:

Army $11,802,312,000;
Navy $14,505,665,000;
Air Force $18,836,534,000;
Defense secretary $1,310,445,000.

The bill has $265,611,000 more than Kennedy requested, but there is no requirement that the extra money be spent and authority is providing for shifting funds as emergency needs require.

The Civil Defense allotment, carried in the military budget for the first time, includes funds for a start on the construction of fallout shelters in federal buildings around the country as well as for the purchase of emergency supplies and surveys.

The space program funds were part of a bill appropriating $8,996,285,000 to a score of independent federal agencies. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration receives $1,671,750,000 of the total.

About one-fourth of the NASA allotment was earmarked for expansion of the moon exploration program. That calls for sending a three-man team to the moon and back by 1970.

The biggest single allotment in the bill, $4,889,270,500, goes to the Veterans Administration.

Other agencies covered include the Federal Aviation Agency, the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the National Science Foundation, and General Services Administration.

Jury Acquits Son Of Late Humorist

ENCINITAS, Calif. (AP) — A seven-woman, five-man jury Friday acquitted Will Rogers Jr., son of the late humorist, on charges of lewd and dissolute conduct.

The jury deliberated less than an hour.

Rogers testified he is "an honest, decent and normal human being."

Big Demand Is Declared In Pharmacy

"A big demand for pharmacists still exists in our area," Ralph M. Wilson, dean of the Northeast Louisiana State College School of Pharmacy, said Friday in reviewing the progress of the School since it opened in September, 1956.

"And pharmacy school graduates receive about the highest salaries of all college graduates beginning employment," Dean Wilson added.

The only state school of pharmacy in Louisiana, the Northeast State school had 115 students enrolled during the summer session which ended August 10. Enrolled during the school year 1960-61 were 287 in the spring and 319 in the fall.

Seven received degrees in summer commencement exercises, and 45 graduated at spring semester exercises.

MODERN FACILITIES

With the most modern facilities, the School of Pharmacy offers a Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy degree. Since September, 1960, all recognized pharmacy schools have 5 - year programs, including a 2 - year pre-pharmacy curriculum and a 3-year professional pharmacy curriculum.

The Northeast pharmacy school is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education and by the Louisiana Board of Pharmacy and is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

At Northeast, any high school graduate is eligible to enter the pre - pharmacy program, but students seeking entrance in the professional portion of the program (pharmacy curriculum) must have completed the 66 semester hours as required in the pre - pharmacy program; must have earned a "C" overall average in these hours and have maintained a "C" average in the basic sciences and mathematics of the pharmacy curriculum.

Students receiving B.S. degrees from the Northeast State pharmacy school are eligible to take the state license examination given by the Louisiana Board of Pharmacy. All pharmacists must pass this examination before being licensed to practice as pharmacists in Louisiana.

Opportunities for graduates of the pharmacy school are many, including retail pharmacy, hospital pharmacy, industrial pharmacy, government pharmacy, and college and university teaching.

Persons interested in finding out more about the pharmacy program at Northeast State should write the Registrar or the Dean of the School of Pharmacy.

Monroe's Position To Be Considered

The U. S. Corps of Engineers at Vicksburg is taking Monroe's stand against clearing Bayou Bartholomew into account in its survey of the project.

Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez said Friday that he has received a letter from U. S. District Engineer Col. Warren S. Everett on the matter.

On August 8, the City Council adopted a resolution opposing the project. The same day, the Ouachita Parish Police Jury followed suit with a similar resolution, and last Tuesday the Monroe Utilities Commission joined them in opposing the bayou work.

Copies of the resolutions were sent to the Corps of Engineers, Louisiana Department of Public Works, Tensas Levee Board and Bayou Bartholomew Levee Board.

Everett acknowledged the city's resolution.

Monroe's position will be taken into account in studies and a survey now being made on the proposed work, his letter stated.

The city and parish favor construction of a levee and water retention structures on Bayou Bartholomew, to assist in flood control.

But they oppose clearance work which Arkansas interests are urging the federal government to do.

These interests, located mainly in Pine Bluff, are asking the Corps of Engineers to drain the Bayou from Pine Bluff south to the Ouachita River, dredge out stumps and dig a canal for straight passage in places where the Bayou bends.

Monroe, looking to Bartholomew as a future source of water, warns that serious harm would be caused if such work were done on the Bayou.

Bartholomew is termed "one of the few remaining sources of clear water in north Louisiana."

One Firm May Get Hospital Policies

The State Board of Education may place all its hospitalization insurance with one company, Dr. B. M. Woodard, chairman of the board's insurance committee, confirmed yesterday.

Dr. Woodard, in a telephone interview from his Lake Charles office, told the Morning World that Louisiana colleges are being polled to determine the number of personnel who would participate.

"This thing is in the early stages," he stated. "We won't do anything until we get the forms back from the colleges."

With the board meeting in Baton Rouge Monday and Tuesday, Dr. Woodard said the matter would not be brought up. In fact, he said the board as a whole has not discussed the proposal.

At present Louisiana College personnel participate in insurance programs handled by several companies, but Dr. Woodard said he didn't know how many.

He said, however, that the possibility of changing to the one-company system was not connected with the state's recent contract with Houston Fire and Casualty Co. for over $100 - million worth of insurance.

"If you had everybody under the same policy," Dr. Woodard said, "it wouldn't be so expensive. It costs more money as it's set up now."

In addition, he said if one company had all the board's insurance, "It would give some insurance company a chance to afford better coverage."

Dr. Woodard added. "This will be the outcome if it's as workable as we think it is."

Should the board decide to insure its personnel through one company, competitive bids would be called for, Dr. Woodard explained.

Other committee members are W. J. Dodd, Baton Rouge, Nash C. Roberts, New Orleans, and Leon Gary, Houma.

But Dr. Woodard said the committee hadn't met yet to discuss the one-company idea, explaining that mailing forms to the colleges was the first step.

Howard Slated To Attend National Meet

Leaving Friday on "the first vacation since I've been in office," Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard during his two weeks absence will represent the Louisiana Municipal Association in Seattle, Wash., at the annual convention of the American Municipal Association.

He will serve on the resolutions committee.

Also at the meet will be three other LMA delegates — Mayor Charles Cassidy, of Bogalusa, LMA president; Mayor President Jack Christian of Baton Rouge; and Sidney Gray, LMA executive director.

Howard will meet with the resolutions committee August 26. He indicated that the convention would take but two days of his vacation, during which he will tour "parts west."

Tunisia Chief Slates U.N. Protest Rally

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba warned Friday that Tunisia's armed forces will fight back if French troops attempt to interfere with mass public demonstrations planned in the French-occupied city of Bizerte.

"Orders will be given to the resistants, to the army and national guard to counter" if French forces intervene, Bourguiba declared in a speech to a crowd in the southern port city of Sousse.

The fiery Tunisian leader ordered the public protests in connection with a special U.N. General Assembly session which opens Monday. It will deal with the French-Tunisian dispute over the Bizerte naval base.

French troops occupied parts of Bizerte City when the dispute flared up last month over France's refusal to evacuate the naval base.

(At the United Nations, Tunisia appealed to the U.N. Security Council to be on the alert for possible disturbances. Tunisian Ambassador Mongi Slim asserted that the council may have to act quickly "in case the French begin shooting at us again.")

Authorities at the French base said earlier they were prepared for possible disorders. The nationwide demonstrations are expected to reach a peak with mass rallies in Tunis and Bizerte Saturday.

Bourguiba's comments before the crowd estimated at 300,000 was broadcast over the radio. Fear gripped the French community and settlers stayed indoors.

"It is possible that in the last minute the great powers allied with France will put pressure on that nation or decide to vote against her," Bourguiba said. He said he hoped the United States specifically would change its position.

Roars of, "Ya-hia Bourguiba!" — Long live Bourguiba — burst from the crowd which overflowed from the square in which he spoke. Sousse is about 80 miles of Tunis.

Bourguiba's ruling Neo Destour party called on citizens to "demonstrate peacefully." The president said foreign embassies will be guarded both by the army and "by the entire people."

His comments followed the release of a Foreign Ministry communique rejecting a French offer to negotiate a return to normalcy in Bizerte.

Berlin 'Fencing' By Reds Assailed

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt Friday bitterly attacked communism's fence in Berlin as a violation of human rights. Adenauer said West Germany plans to bolster its military defenses and warned the Soviet Union the West is stronger than the Communist bloc.

Adenauer told a thunderously applauding special Bundestag — lower house — session that the West must be ready to counter all Communist moves. He did not spell out the details of the Bonn government's military plans.

Brandt, Adenauer's Socialist opponent for chancellor, called East Germany the "cold Hungary" and urged the United Nations to step in before "the world begins to burn." The two opponents in next month's West German elections addressed the packed lower house of Parliament called in special session to consider the Berlin crisis.

"The Soviet Union must know that the total Western military potential is superior to that of the Soviet Union," Adenauer declared.

Khrushchev's threats to destroy North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries with nuclear arms are dangerous, he said, because "the Soviet government knows very well that such a blow will unleash a counterblow."

The chancellor said he felt the Berlin crisis could still be solved through negotiations and pledged to support all steps which could lead toward talks between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

Neither Adenauer nor Brandt brought up the subject of economic reprisals against East Germany. The chancellor earlier this week mentioned a trade blockade against the Communist regime as a possible countermeasure.

"We are convinced that the efforts of the free world, and especially our efforts, will make it possible for you (in East Germany) to some day regain your freedom," Adenauer said to a roar of applause.

Adenauer said military measures will not solve East-West problems, however. He repeated his long-standing demand for free elections to unite Germany, a demand backed by all Western powers.

Record Military Cash Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Friday that President Kennedy has signed the biggest military appropriation ever passed in peacetime.

Kennedy approved the $46,662,556,000 defense bill Thursday night, exactly a week after it cleared Congress.

The President signed a separate measure Friday appropriating funds to step up the space program, including a start toward sending men to the moon.

The military appropriation includes an extra $3.5 billion which Kennedy requested three weeks ago for an emergency buildup of the nation's fighting forces.

It also includes $207.6 million which Kennedy asked for an intensified Civil Defense program in the face of new Communist threats in Berlin and elsewhere.

The bill contains these major allotments for the fiscal year ending next June 30:

Army $11,802,312,000;
Navy $14,505,665,000;
Air Force $18,836,534,000;
Defense secretary $1,310,445,000.

The bill has $265,611,000 more than Kennedy requested, but there is no requirement that the extra money be spent and authority is providing for shifting funds as emergency needs require.

The Civil Defense allotment, carried in the military budget for the first time, includes funds for a start on the construction of fallout shelters in federal buildings around the country as well as for the purchase of emergency supplies and surveys.

The space program funds were part of a bill appropriating $8,996,285,000 to a score of independent federal agencies. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration receives $1,671,750,000 of the total.

About one-fourth of the NASA allotment was earmarked for expansion of the moon exploration program. That calls for sending a three-man team to the moon and back by 1970.

The biggest single allotment in the bill, $4,889,270,500, goes to the Veterans Administration.

Other agencies covered include the Federal Aviation Agency, the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the National Science Foundation, and General Services Administration.

Big Demand Is Declared In Pharmacy

"A big demand for pharmacists still exists in our area," Ralph M. Wilson, dean of the Northeast Louisiana State College School of Pharmacy, said Friday in reviewing the progress of the School since it opened in September, 1956.

"And pharmacy school graduates receive about the highest salaries of all college graduates beginning employment," Dean Wilson added.

The only state school of pharmacy in Louisiana, the Northeast State school had 115 students enrolled during the summer session which ended August 10. Enrolled during the school year 1960-61 were 287 in the spring and 319 in the fall.

Seven received degrees in summer commencement exercises, and 45 graduated at spring semester exercises.

MODERN FACILITIES

With the most modern facilities, the School of Pharmacy offers a Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy degree. Since September, 1960, all recognized pharmacy schools have 5-year programs, including a 2-year prepharmacy curriculum and a 3-year professional pharmacy curriculum.

The Northeast pharmacy school is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education and by the Louisiana Board of Pharmacy and is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

At Northeast, any high school graduate is eligible to enter the pre-pharmacy program, but students seeking entrance in the professional portion of the program (pharmacy curriculum) must have completed the 66 semester hours as required in the pre-pharmacy program; must have earned a "C" overall average in these hours and have maintained a "C" average in the basic sciences and mathematics of the pharmacy curriculum.

Students receiving B.S. degrees from the Northeast State pharmacy school are eligible to take the state license examination given by the Louisiana Board of Pharmacy. All pharmacists must pass this examination before being licensed to practice as pharmacists in Louisiana.

Opportunities for graduates of the pharmacy school are many, including retail pharmacy, hospital pharmacy, industrial pharmacy, government pharmacy, and college and university teaching.

Persons interested in finding out more about the pharmacy program at Northeast State should write the Registrar or the Dean of the School of Pharmacy.

Monroe Breezes By Walnut Ridge Nine In Tourney

Grant Defeats NY For Cleveland 5-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Grant held the New York Yankees to three hits in pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory in the opener of a four-game series Friday night before a crowd of 37,840, largest of the season at Municipal Stadium.

Yankee sluggers Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, hitting homers at a pace exceeding Babe Ruth's 60 in 1927, failed to add to their totals of 48 and 45, respectively.

The defeat cut the Yankees' American League lead to three games over the Detroit Tigers, who beat the Boston Red Sox 5-0.

Jim Piersall backed up against the fence in right center field near the 380-foot mark to make a leaping catch of Mantle's line drive in the fifth inning.

This was the second game in a row in which neither Maris nor Mantle hit one out of the park. Both went 0-for-4, each striking out twice.

Maris-Mantle vs. Ruth
By The Associated Press
The following table shows how Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle of New York compare with the record pace of Babe Ruth in 1927:

Player	Homer Number	Games Played	Date Hit
Maris	48	121	Aug 16
Mantle	45	121	Aug 13
Ruth	48	134	Sept 7

(Games column includes one tie for each player)

Bubba Phillips drove in two runs with his 18th homer and Woodie Held sent two more runners home with a triple to back up Grant, who went the distance in picking up his 12th victory in 18 decisions.

The 26-year-old right-hander retired the first 14 batters he faced before the Yankees got their first hit, a home run by Elston Howard. The only other hits off Grant were a ground rule double by Bud Daley which bounced into the right field stands in the sixth inning and a single by Tony Kubek in the ninth.

The Indians got all their runs off starter Jim Coates (9-4), who gave up five hits in the 2 2-3 innings he worked. Daley and Al Downing followed him to the mound.

This was the sixth straight complete game for Grant, who finished strong by retiring 11 of the last 12 batters he faced. He struck out nine and walked only one.

The Indians jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first inning. With one out, Piersall singled to right field and scored on Tito Francona's double to the left field fence. Francona advanced to third on an infield out and then scored ahead of Phillips, who picked on Coates' first pitch to hit his homer, a shot over the left field fence.

Two more runs by the Indians sent Coates to the showers in the third inning. Phillips was hit by a pitch and advanced to second on a passed ball by John Blanchard. John Romano walked. Phillips and Romano scored on Held's triple to the fence in left field and that was all for Coates. He was relieved by Daley, a left-handed knuckleballer, who struck out Grant to end the rally.

Howard's homer over the center field fence in the fifth was his 12th.

Three Run 7th Gives KC Win Over Sox, 3-1

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A three-run outburst in the seventh inning gave Kansas City a 3-1 victory over Chicago Friday night in a pitching duel between Ray Herbert of the White Sox and Bob Shaw of the Athletics.

Both Herbert and Shaw, principals in a trade between the A's and Sox last June, left the game during the seventh inning scoring spree. Shaw gave way to a pinch hitter and Herbert left after the Athletics had scored three times and had a runner on second base.

Shaw limited Chicago to four hits in his seven-inning stint and the only run he gave up scored as Norm Siebern, A's first baseman, let a throw get away from him on an attempted doubleplay in the fifth inning.

The winning rally also started with an error. Sam Esposito made a wide throw on Dick Howser's grounder after Joe Nuxhall had batted for Shaw and grounded out. Herbert then walked Jim Rivera and got Jerry Lumpe on a fly out before Siebern's single and Deron Johnson's double scored the three runs.

Warren Hacker replaced Herbert and Ed Rakow finished up for the Athletics.

Roy Sievers scored the White Sox' only run. Shaw walked both Sievers and Al Smith with none out in the fifth. Camilo Carreon grounded to Siebern, who forced Smith at second but let the return throw to first get away from him for an error and Sievers crossed the plate.

The victory gave Shaw an 8-11 record, identical with Herbert's.

Gunn Pitches Four-Hitter For 4-0 Win

MEMPHIS (Special) — Monroe breezed past outmanned Walnut Ridge, Ark. 4-0 here last night to take their second straight South-Central Regional Legion game without a loss.

The win puts the Brown-Rivers-Scogin bombers into a 4 p.m. game today with the team from Balboa of the Panama Canal Zone. Balboa stayed alive in an earlier game yesterday by eliminating Denton, Texas 8-6. Both Denton and Balboa lost in the opening day of the double elimination tournament.

With big Neal Gunn fanning batters the way a crafty veteran should, the little Porkers from Walnut Ridge never got much in the way of an offense going.

When they did threaten, Gunn tightened up and pitched the way he always does when the pressure is on. Everytime Arkansas got men on base Gunn either whiffed the last outs or forced the batters into easy outs.

At the same time B.R.S. batsmen pounced on Walnut Ridge starter Joe Wagner with early ferocity, causing him to surrender walks and hits by the bushel.

Monroe scored in the first inning when Joey McGinn scooted home on a throw to first after walking to get on base. Two more runs crossed the plate in the third on a two-run single by Gunn.

This was it for the winners until the eighth. hey notched another run this frame on back to back doubles by Biggar and Carl Guinn. Biggar slapped a two-bagger into centerfield, then Guinn laced a solid one down the right field line to push Biggar home.

Gunn was at his superb best, striking out eleven and allowing only three hits. He struck out seven of the first nine outs and sent seven consecutive batters down swinging.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE

The Panama Insurance team from Balboa, Panama, is making its third appearance in a regional tournament. The first two were not very successful. But with a solid four-man pitching staff and five .300-plus hitters, Panama hopes to make a better showing this week.

Pitchers Curt Schwarzrock and Frank Reichart have been the cogs in leading their club to a 27-7 record. Reichart has a record of 7-2 and is hitting .395. Schwarzrock posted a 5-0 slate and batted .357. Another pitcher, Bob Fortune, hit .341.

Panama made only five errors during its 34 games during the season.

MONROE OPENED FAST

Cromwell, the first man up, beat out an infield hit to open the first. He advanced to second on Ralph Roberts' bunt.

McGinn walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Kincaid was put on too, loading the bases, but Cromwell was forced at home.

McGinn scored when Biggar hit one down the third base line and was safe at first.

George Guinn walked for Walnut Ridge in the first and Chester Berry hit one to short and beat out the throw, while Guinn went all the way to third on the play, putting Monroe in hot water with none out.

Gunn and Company came to the rescue, however, as they did several times later on. Neal fanned the next batter, Guinn was caught trying to steal home and the the third batsman went down Gunn's effective change - up.

Gunn pitched to three men in the second inning and struckout all three, then added six and seven in a row in the fourth.

McGinn made a sensational one-handed stab of a hot hit in the fifth and fired to first for the out to douse a would - be Arkansas rally.

Cromwell bobbled a hard grounder in the sixth, and was pressed to get a throw off to first. The ball went in the dirt, but Guinn held - on for the out.

Wagner made first in the ninth for Walnut Ridge with one out, and went to second on a passed ball. Gunn, however whiffed the next out and the third bounced out to end the game.

Phils Drop Another Game; Set Major League Record

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies set a modern major league record with their 21st consecutive defeat Friday night, dropping a 4-1 decision to Milwaukee. It was the eighth straight victory for the Braves.

Handcuffed on six hits by Milwaukee ace Lew Burdette, the Phils now are within three defeats of the all-time record of 24 straight set by Cleveland, then in the National League, in 1899. The Phils wiped out the old modern mark of 20 consecutive losses set by the Boston Red Sox in 1906 and the Philadelphia A's in 1916 and 1943.

Burdette, observing the anniversary of his only no-hitter against the same Phils a year ago, struck out three and had flawless control in earning his 15th victory against eight losses. He did not walk a man. The 34-year-old right-hander has won 11 of his last 13 decisions.

Burdette's bid for his fourth shutout was ruined by Don Demeter, who led off the seventh with his 11th homer, a 400-foot blast to left center.

STEEPLECHASE RUN

Tuscarora In Win At Saratoga Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tuscarora, a one-time $6,000 claimer, again demonstrated his quality as a jumper when he packed topweight of 155 pounds to victory on the $17,500 Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap Friday.

Owned by his breeder, George H. Bostwick, Tuscarora negotiated the 2½ miles over 16 fences in 4:42 2-5, smashing 20 3-5 seconds from the previous course mark set by Independence in 1959.

Chufquen was second, beaten three lengths, while Bugle Call 2nd was third.

Tuscarora, ridden by Ronald Cartwright, paid $3.40. This was his third straight stakes success over jumps, two at the current meeting.

Calumet Farm's Plum Cake lugged 121 pounds to a victory in Shelburne Purse at Atlantic City.

The triumph gained a consecutive double for Jockey Steve Brooks, who guided the 3-year-old daughter of Ponder over 6 furlongs in 1:09 4-5.

Highland Lassie, who replaced Joyous Jo on the lead turning for home, was three parts of a length back of the winner and a neck before Revoked's Jewel.

Plum Cake, who had won a division of the Jasmine earlier this year, paid $5.80.

Brooks, who now has 15 victories to top the meeting, also won the sixth race aboard Alhambra Circle at $13.

Emilio Manzi's Atom Rocket won the feature at Rockingham Park.

The big gray gelding finished the 6 furlongs two lengths before Invincible and returned $6.80 after being clocked in 1:12. Crafty Doll was third.

Alamode Farms' Flying Mercury nosed out Thinking Man in a photo finish of the $5,000 Lord of the Manor Purse at Arlington Park.

Breakaway was third and Editorialist, favored at 4-5 by the crowd of 12,450, took fourth in the 6-furlong race for 3-year-olds.

Ridden by Larry Gilligan, Flying Mercury paid $26 and was timed in 1:09 1-5.

Davidson Gets Texans Over Buffalo, 35-26

BUFUFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Straigh shooting Cotton Davidson struck on three touchdown passes and scored one himself to lead the Dallas Texans to a 35-26 victory over the Buffalo Bills in an American Football League exhibition game Friday night.

It was the Texans' third straight victory.

The former Baylor standout twice threw to Johnny Robinson for first quarter scores as the unbeaten Texans took advantage of early Buffalo miscues. The first was a 24-yarder to Robbie, the ex-LSU Uace, with the second for half that distance.

Buffalo, which produced most of its scoring on spectacular runs, broke into the touchdown column when Art Baker handed off to Elbert Dubenion on a kickoff return reverse. Duby raced 90 yards for the score.

The Bills put together an 88-yard drive for their second score to tie it, with Baker rushing for 60 yards, including the last three.

Davidson sparked the Texans' 68-yard drive in the second quarter and ended it with a 1-yard plunge to put Dallas in a lead it never relinquished.

Dubenion brought the bills back into contention seconds later with a 92-yard kickoff return, but a pass for a two-point conversion failed and the bills were behind for the rest of the night.

Cepeda Homer In 10th Nips Dodgers, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Orlando Cepeda crashed a 10th inning home run off relief pitcher Larry Sherry and gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

The burly Cepeda, first batter for the Giants in the 10th, looked at a ball and then hit his 33rd homer of the year—a smash over the left field fence.

Cepeda's homer before a Candlestick Park crowd of 30,145 dropped the Dodgers two games behind the National League leading Cincinnati Reds with third place San Francisco staying eight games off the pace.

Ace reliever Stu Miller, who took over in the seventh as the third Giants' hurler, won his 10th game against three defeats. Sherry, who came on in the eighth, relieving Don Drysdale, put his record at 4-4.

Nearly forgotten, Willie McCovey, starting his first game since benched July 28, slammed a seventh inning homer off Drysdale to give the Giants a 1-0 lead.

6-3 VICTORY

Reds Blast Cards To Remain In 1st

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's fired-up Reds held to their first place lead in the National League Friday night as they pounced on starter Bob Gibson for three quick runs in the first inning and went on for a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frank Robinson, continuing to roar back from a mild batting slump, got two hits and drove in two runs, while Ken Johnson, a castoff from the Kansas City Athletics, built his record to 4-1 as he limited the Cards to six hits.

It was Cincinnati's fifth straight victory.

Ken Boyer got a home run for St. Louis, his 18th of the year.

The Reds wasted little time picking on losing pitcher Gibson. Gordon Coleman's triple cleared the bases after they had been filled on a single by Eddie Kasko and two walks.

They got another run in the third with only one hit. Robinson walked, went to third on Jerry Lunch's single and then scored as they executed a double steal.

Cole Winner; Thomas Loser In Colonial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Defending champion Jackie Nicklaus was bounced out of the Colonial Amateur Invitational Friday in a pressure-packed match that went to a sudden death playoff.

Bobby Greenwood, 22, of Sparta, a relative unknown, upset the big favorite from Columbus, Ohio 1-up in 19 holes with a surge of sub-par golf in the tournament's first round.

Greenwood won it with an approach, fired from the rough, that trickled to within inches of the cup to set up a birdie on the 19th. Nicklaus, faced with a 20-foot putt, missed his birdie bid.

Louisiana champion Bert Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., defeated Joe Thomas of Monroe, La., 1 up.

Other results included:

Clayton Cole, Monroe, defeated Jordan Ball, Richmond, Va., 1 up.

Rob Robinson, Meridian, Miss., defeated Ronnie Wenzler, Memphis, 2 up.

Grba 4-Hitter Downs Twins 5-2 For LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eli Grba held the Minnesota Twins to four hits Friday night as the Los Angeles Angels opened a 17-game home stand with a 5-2 victory.

The win ended a personal losing streak of seven games for Grba, who scored his last victory June 6 over Baltimore. He is 6-11.

The Angels gave the bespectacled Grba brilliant support. Third baseman George Thomas made a leaping catch of Bob Allison's savage liner in the seventh and second baseman Rocky Bridges robbed Billy Martin of a hit in the sixth by going deep behind second and throwing him out.

Monroe Breezes By Walnut Ridge Nine In Tourney

Gunn Pitches Four-Hitter For 4-0 Win

MEMPHIS (Special) — Monroe breezed past out-manned Walnut Ridge, Ark. 4-0 here last night to take their second straight South-Central Regional Legion game without a loss.

The win puts the Brown-Rivers-Scogin bombers into a 4 p.m. game today with the team from Balboa of the Panama Canal Zone. Balboa stayed alive in an earlier game yesterday by eliminating Denton, Texas 8-6. Both Denton and Balboa lost in the opening day of the double elimination tournament.

With big Neal Gunn fanning batters the way a crafty veteran should, the little Porkers from Walnut Ridge never got much in the way of an offense going.

When they did threaten, Gunn tightened up and pitched the way he always does when the pressure is on. Everytime Arkansas got men on base Gunn either whiffed the last outs or forced the batters into easy outs.

At the same time B.R.S. batsmen pounced on Walnut Ridge starter Joe Wagner with early ferocity, causing him to surrender walks and hits by the bushel. Monroe scored in the first inning when Joey McGinn scooted home on a throw to first after walking to get on base. Two more runs crossed the plate in the third on a two-run single by Gunn.

This was it for the winners until the eighth. hey notched another run this frame on back to back doubles by Biggar and Carl Guinn. Biggar slapped a two-bagger into centerfield, then Guinn laced a solid one down the right field line to push Biggar home.

Gunn was at his superb best, striking out eleven and allowing only three hits. He struck out seven of the first nine outs and sent seven consecutive batters down swinging.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE

The Panama Insurance team from Balboa, Panama, is making its third appearance in a regional tournament. The first two were not very successful. But with a solid four-man pitching staff and five .300-plus hitters, Panama hopes to make a better showing this week.

Pitchers Curt Schwarzrock and Frank Reichart have been the cogs in leading their club to a 27-7 record. Reichart has a record of 7-2 and is hitting .395. Schwarzrock posted a 5-0 slate and batted .357. Another pitcher, Bob Fortune, hit .341.

Panama made only five errors during its 34 games during the season.

MONROE OPENED FAST

Cromwell, the first man up, beat out an infield hit to open the first. He advanced to second on Ralph Roberts' bunt.

McGinn walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Kincaid was put on too, loading the bases, but Cromwell was forced at home.

McGinn scored when Biggar hit one down the third base line and was safe at first.

George Guinn walked for Walnut Ridge in the first and Chester Berry hit one to short and beat out the throw, while Guinn went all the way to third on the play, putting Monroe in hot water with none out.

Gunn and Company came to the rescue, however, as they did several times later on. Neal fanned the next batter, Guinn was caught trying to steal home and the the third batsman went down Gunn's effective change - up.

Gunn pitched to three men in the second inning and struckout all three, then added six and seven in a row in the fourth.

McGinn made a sensational one-handed stab of a hot hit in the fifth and fired to first for the out to douse a would - be Arkansas rally.

Cromwell bobbled a hard grounder in the sixth, and was pressed to get a throw off to first. The ball went in the dirt, but Guinn held - on for the out.

Wagner made first in the ninth for Walnut Ridge with one out, and went to second on a passed ball. Gunn, however whiffed the next out and the third bounced out to end the game.

Grant Defeats NY For Cleveland 5-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Grant held the New York Yankees to three hits in pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory in the opener of a four-game series Friday night before a crowd of 37,840, largest of the season at Municipal Stadium.

Yankee sluggers Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, hitting homers at a pace exceeding Babe Ruth's 60 in 1927, failed to add to their totals of 48 and 45, respectively.

The defeat cut the Yankees' American League lead to three games over the Detroit Tigers, who beat the Boston Red Sox 5-0.

Jim Piersall backed up against the fence in right center field near the 330-foot mark to make a leaping catch of Mantle's line drive in the fifth inning.

This was the second game in a row in which neither Maris nor Mantle hit one out of the park. Both went 0-for-4, each striking out twice.

Maris-Mantle vs. Ruth
By The Associated Press

The following table shows how Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle of New York compare with the record pace of Babe Ruth in 1927:

Player	Homer Number	Games Played	Date Hit
Maris	48	121	Aug 16
Mantle	45	121	Aug 13
Ruth	48	134	Sept 7

(Games column includes one tie for each player)

Bubba Phillips drove in two runs with his 18th homer and Woodie Held sent two more runners home with a triple to back up Grant, who went the distance in picking up his 12th victory in 18 decisions.

The 26-year-old right-hander retired the first 14 batters he faced before the Yankees got their first hit, a home run by Elston Howard. The only other hits off Grant were a ground rule double by Bud Daley which bounced into the right field stands in the sixth inning and a single by Tony Kubek in the ninth.

The Indians got all their runs off starter Jim Coates (9-4), who gave up five hits in the 2 2-3 innings he worked. Daley and Al Downing followed him to the mound.

This was the sixth straight complete game for Grant, who finished strong by retiring 11 of the last 12 batters he faced. He struck out nine and walked only one.

The Indians jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first inning. With one out, Piersall singled to right field and scored on Tito Francona's double to the left field fence. Francona advanced to third on an infield out and then scored ahead of Phillips, who picked on Coates' first pitch to hit his homer, a shot over the left field fence.

Two more runs by the Indians sent Coates to the showers in the third inning. Phillips was hit by a pitch and advanced to second on a passed ball by John Blanchard. John Romano walked. Phillips and Romano scored on Held's triple to the fence in left field and that was all for Coates. He was relieved by Daley, a left-handed knuckleballer, who struck out Grant to end the rally.

Howard's homer over the center field fence in the fifth was his 12th.

Three Run 7th Gives KC Win Over Sox, 3-1

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A three-run outburst in the seventh inning gave Kansas City a 3-1 victory over Chicago Friday night in a pitching duel between Ray Herbert of the White Sox and Bob Shaw of the Athletics.

Both Herbert and Shaw, principals in a trade between the A's and Sox last June, left the game during the seventh inning scoring spree. Shaw gave way to a pinch hitter and Herbert left after the Athletics had scored three times and had a runner on second base.

Shaw limited Chicago to four hits in his seven-inning stint and the only run he gave up scored as Norm Siebern, A's first baseman, let a throw get away from him on an attempted doubleplay in the fifth inning.

The winning rally also started with an error. Sam Esposito made a wide throw on Dick Howser's grounder after Joe Nuxhall had batted for Shaw and grounded out. Herbert then walked Jim Rivera and got Jerry Lumpe on a fly out before Siebern's single and Deron Johnson's double scored the three runs.

Warren Hacker replaced Herbert and Ed Rakow finished up for the Athletics.

Roy Sievers scored the White Sox' only run. Shaw walked both Sievers and Al Smith with none out in the fifth. Camilo Carreon grounded to Siebern, who forced Smith at second but let the return throw to first get away from him for an error and Sievers crossed the plate.

The victory gave Shaw an 8-11 record, identical with Herbert's.

Phils Drop Another Game; Set Major League Record

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies set a modern major league record with their 21st consecutive defeat Friday night, dropping a 4-1 decision to Milwaukee. It was the eighth straight victory for the Braves.

Handcuffed on six hits by Milwaukee ace Lew Burdette, the Phils now are within three defeats of the all-time record of 24 straight set by Cleveland, then in the National League, in 1899. The Phils wiped out the old modern mark of 20 consecutive losses set by the Boston Red Sox in 1906 and the Philadelphia A's in 1916 and 1943.

Burdette, observing the anniversary of his only no-hitter against the same Phils a year ago, struck out three and had flawless control in earning his 15th victory against eight losses. He did not walk a man. The 34-year-old right-hander has won 11 of his last 13 decisions.

Burdette's bid for his fourth shutout was ruined by Don Demeter, who led off the seventh with his 11th homer, a 400-foot blast to left center.

STEEPLECHASE RUN

Tuscarora In Win At Saratoga Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tuscarora, a one-time $6,000 claimer, again demonstrated his quality as a jumper when he packed top-weight of 155 pounds to victory on the $17,500 Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap Friday.

Owned by his breeder, George H. Bostwick, Tuscarora negotiated the 2½ miles over 16 fences in 4:42 2-5, smashing 20 3-5 seconds from the previous course mark set by Independence in 1959.

Chufquen was second, beaten three lengths, while Bugle Call 2nd was third.

Tuscarora, ridden by Ronald Cartwright, paid $3.40. This was his third straight stakes success over jumps, two at the current meeting.

Calumet Farm's Plum Cake lugged 121 pounds to a victory in Shelburne Purse at Atlantic City.

The triumph gained a consecutive double for Jockey Steve Brooks, who guided the 3-year-old daughter of Ponder over 6 furlongs in 1:09 4-5.

Highland Lassie, who replaced Joyous Jo on the lead turning for home, was three parts of a length back of the winner and a neck before Revoked's Jewel.

Plum Cake, who had won a division of the Jasmine earlier this year, paid $5.80.

Brooks, who now has 15 victories to top the meeting, also won the sixth race aboard Alhambra Circle at $13.

Emilio Manzi's Atom Rocket won the feature at Rockingham Park.

The big gray gelding finished the 6 furlongs two lengths before Invincible and returned $6.80 after being clocked in 1:12. Crafty Doll was third.

Alamode Farms' Flying Mercury nosed out Thinking Man in a photo finish of the $5,000 Lord of the Manor Purse at Arlington Park.

Breakaway was third and Editorialist, favored at 4-5 by the crowd of 12,450, took fourth in the 6-furlong race for 3-year-olds.

Ridden by Larry Gilligan, Flying Mercury paid $26 and was timed in 1:09 1-5.

Davidson Gets Texans Over Buffalo, 35-26

BUFUFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Straigh shooting Cotton Davidson struck on three touchdown passes and scored one himself to lead the Dallas Texans to a 35-26 victory over the Buffalo Bills in an American Football League exhibition game Friday night.

It was the Texans' third straight victory.

The former Baylor standout twice threw to Johnny Robinson for first quarter scores as the unbeaten Texans took advantage of early Buffalo miscues. The first was a 24-yarder to Robbie, the ex-LSU Uace, with the second for half that distance.

Buffalo, which produced most of its scoring on spectacular runs, broke into the touchdown column when Art Baker handed off to Elbert Dubenion on a kickoff return reverse. Duby raced 90 yards for the score.

The Bills put together an 88-yard drive for their second score to tie it, with Baker rushing for 60 yards, including the last three.

Davidson sparked the Texans' 68-yard drive in the second quarter and ended it with a 1-yard plunge to put Dallas in a lead it never relinquished.

Dubenion brought the bills back into contention seconds later with a 92-yard kickoff return, but a pass for a two-point conversion failed and the bills were behind for the rest of the night.

Airline Park Defeated

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Mighty Airline Park, La., the defending champions, fell for the first time in the Little Boys baseball Dixie World Series Friday. West Columbia, S. C., beat Airline Park 6-1.

Airline Park met Rossville, Ga., in a night game for the right to challenge Columbia in the championship Saturday.

Cepeda Homer In 10th Nips Dodgers, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Orlando Cepeda crashed a 10th inning home run off relief pitcher Larry Sherry and gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

The burly Cepeda, first batter for the Giants in the 10th, looked at a ball and then hit his 33rd homer of the year—a smash over the left field fence.

Cepeda's homer before a Candlestick Park crowd of 30,145 dropped the Dodgers two games behind the National League leading Cincinnati Reds with third place San Francisco staying eight games off the pace.

Ace reliever Stu Miller, who took over in the seventh as the third Giants' hurler, won his 10th game against three defeats. Sherry, who came on in the eighth, relieving Don Drysdale, put his record at 4-4.

Nearly forgotten, Willie McCovey, starting his first game since benched July 28, slammed a seventh inning homer off Drysdale to give the Giants a 1-0 lead.

6-3 VICTORY

Reds Blast Cards To Remain In 1st

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's fired-up Reds held to their first place lead in the National League Friday night as they pounced on starter Bob Gibson for three quick runs in the first inning and went on for a 6-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frank Robinson, continuing to roar back from a mild batting slump, got two hits and drove in two runs, while Ken Johnson, a castoff from the Kansas City Athletics, built his record to 4-1 as he limited the Cards to six hits.

It was Cincinnati's fifth straight victory.

Ken Boyer got a home run for St. Louis, his 18th of the year.

The Reds wasted little time picking on losing pitcher Gibson. Gordon Coleman's triple cleared the bases after they had been filled on a single by Eddie Kasko and two walks.

They got another run in the third with only one hit. Robinson walked, went to third on Jerry Lunch's single and then scored as they executed a double steal.

Cole Winner; Thomas Loser In Colonial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Defending champion Jackie Nicklaus was bounced out of the Colonial Amateur Invitational Friday in a pressure-packed match that went to a sudden death playoff.

Bobby Greenwood, 22, of Sparta, a relative unknown, upset the big favorite from Columbus, Ohio 1-up in 19 holes with a surge of sub-par golf in the tournament's first round.

Greenwood won it with an approach, fired from the rough, that trickled to within inches of the cup to set up a birdie on the 19th. Nicklaus, faced with a 20-foot putt, missed his birdie bid.

Louisiana champion Bert Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., defeated Joe Thomas of Monroe, La., 1 up.

Other results included:

Clayton Cole, Monroe, defeated Jordan Ball, Richmond, Va., 1 up.

Rob Robinson, Meridian, Miss., defeated Ronnie Wenzler, Memphis, 2 up.

Grba 4-Hitter Downs Twins 5-2 For LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eli Grba held the Minnesota Twins to four hits Friday night as the Los Angeles Angels opened a 17-game home stand with a 5-2 victory.

The win ended a personal losing streak of seven games for Grba, who scored his last victory June 6 over Baltimore. He is 6-11.

The Angels gave the bespectacled Grba brilliant support. Third baseman George Thomas made a leaping catch of Bob Allison's savage liner in the seventh and second baseman Rocky Bridges robbed Billy Martin of a hit in the sixth by going deep behind second and throwing him out.

Titans And Patriots Play Exhibition In Philadelphia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philadelphia will get its first peek at American Football League teams Saturday night when the New York Titans and the Boston Patriots meet in Philadelphia Stadium in one of four exhibition contests on the day's program—two in the AFL and two in the National Football League.

The other AFL exhibition matches Oakland and Denver at Spokane, Wash., and in the NFL the Washington Redskins play the Chicago Bears at Charleston, S.C. and the New York Giants meet the Los Angeles Rams at Los Angeles, Cleveland meets the San Francisco 49ers in San Francisco Sunday.

The Giants will face an apparently improved Los Angeles team, judging by the Rams' 26-7 victory over the Redskins last week. The Rams, thanks to intensive drills instituted by Coach Bob Waterfield to eliminate fumbles, overcame last season's tendency to muff the ball at crucial moments.

They also showed an alert pass defense, picking off five Redskin tosses while none of their own were intercepted.

This pass defense will serve as warning to the Giant tossers—the veteran Charlie Conerly and young Lee Grosscup. Y.A. Tittle, another veteran signal caller obtained this week in a deal with the 49ers, probably will not play. He has had only two workouts with his new club.

The Redskins, who won only one game, tied two and lost nine in finishing last in the Eastern Conference last season, are hopeful of getting on a winning track in their game at Charleston with the Bears, who had a 5-6-1 record in the Western Conference in 1960.

They will have to overcome the tendency they showed in the game with the Rams to make opponents their best pass receivers, however. The Skins got off to a bad start in that game by having a toss intercepted on first scrimmage play.

A large crowd is expected for the Titan-Patriot game in the home town of the NFL champion Eagles. A supermarket chain has purchased tickets for distribution to customers on the purchase of a certain amount of food. The stadium seats 100,000.

The Patriots expect to show a faster defense and depth and running at quarterback, and with a little more experience should be vastly improved over the club that finished at the bottom of the Eastern Division in the AFL's maiden season last year.

The acquisition by trade of veteran quarterback Babe Parilli and fullback Billy Lott from the Oakland Raiders figures to help the Boston club.

The Titan offense figures to be handicapped by a sore arm suffered by ace quarterback Al Dorow. The injury leaves the passing chores to Dick Jamieson and Bob Scrabis.

The Oakland Raiders uncovered a capable passer in second-string quarterback Nick Papac in their game against the Houston Oilers in Honolulu. Regular quarterback Tom Flores was shaken up early in the game. He continued to play but couldn't see his receivers too well, and eventually was relieved by Papac.

The Raiders and the Denver Broncs split in their two meetings last year, Denver winning 31-14 and losing 48-10. Despite their 31-13 defeat at the hands of Houston there were bright spots in the Denver picture, particularly the punting of George Herring and the play of speedy Al Frazier.

15TH WIN

Barber Beats Nats For Baltimore, 3-2

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steve Barber survived a rocky start and shaky finish Friday night to pitch the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators before 11,624 fans.

It was the sophomore southpaw's 15th victory of the season against nine losses. It also marked the eighth complete game the durable lefty has hurled in his last 10 starts, during which span he has won eight. He fanned 9, walked 4 and allowed 5 hits, three in the first inning.

Joe McClain, the loser, dropped his eighth straight decision to make his record 7-14. He was touched for nine hits in eight innings. Mike Garcia yielded the final Oriole hit in the ninth.

Jim Gentile's single in the eighth, driving in his 109th run of the season, decided the pitchers battle. Gentile's blow followed a scratch hit by Whitey Herzog and a bunt single by Jackie Brandt.

The Senators nearly had Barber put away in the first frame when Chuck Hinton opened with a single and scored on Danny O'Connell's double. A short single by Willie Tasby moved O'Connell to third and he scored on Bob Johnson's infield out.

The Orioles finally broke through in the sixth with Harry Bright's error giving Brooks Robinson a life. Herzog and Brandt followed with singles to load the bases before Hank Foiles looped a two-run single to short center to tie the score.

Foiles was in for catcher Gus Triandos, who suffered a lineal fracture of the right thumb in the first inning on a foul tip. It is estmiated he will be out of action from one to two weeks.

Starr Throws Green Bay By Cards, 31-10

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bart Starr passed Green Bay to a 31-10 romp over St. Louis in a National Football League exhibition Friday night as the Cardinals lost John David Crow, a 1,000-yard man last season, for six weeks with a fractured ankle.

Starr passed for two touchdowns, set up a third with his passes and completed 10 of 19 for 193 yards. Jim Taylor, a bruising 215-pound fullback, scored 13 points with his running and kicking.

It was a dismal game for the Cards before a Busch Stadium crowd of 31,055—largest ever to see a football game in St. Louis.

Crow, a power runner and key man in the Cardinal offense, was hurt in the third quarter and taken to St. Mary's Hospital where X rays disclosed a fracture of the fibula bone on the outer side of his left ankle. His leg will be in a cast and he'll be out six weeks.

The Packers raced to a 14-0 lead, scoring the first two times they got the ball. In the first half they scored on drives of 62, 52 an 80 yards, Paul Hornung blasting one yard for the first score.

Starr passed 39 yards to Max McGee and 32 to Ron Kramer for the other two touchdowns.

Six-Team Touch Football League May Be Formed

FERRIDAY (Special) Possibility of the formation of a six-team Miss-Lou Touch Football League was discussed at a meeting of interested parties at the Naval Reserve Training Facility at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Robert B. "Buck" Peden, yoeman first class of the U.S. Navy Reserves and last season's president of the Commission presided. He pointed out that for the past several seasons the Parks and Recreation has sponsored a City Touch Football League in Natchez, and that is has proven successful in providing many adults with the opportunity to play organized football once again.

Peden pointed out that the expansion of the league into six teams, including two from Natchez, and one from Vidalia, Ferriday, Fayette and Washington, would not only extend this opportunity to more persons, but would add the spice of inter-city rivalry.

The meeting, which was well attended, was primarily to ascertain the feasibility of the proposed league. They also discussed the playing rules for the coming season, selecting a league commission and commissioner and accepted nominations for managerships of the league.

N. C. Wins Teener Title With Victory Over Bossier 4-1

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Gastonia, N.C., repeated as VFW Teener Baseball champion Friday defeating Bossier City, La., 4-1, behind the no-hit pitching of Candler Baumgardner.

The North Carolinians scored all their runs in the first inning.

Gastonia was undefeated in the four-day tournament and has now won eight straight games over a two-year period, scoring an unprecedented double championship in the process.

A brief streak of wildness in the seventh inning cost Baumgardner a shutout.

Gastonia scored on a walk, a triple by center fielder Fred MacMurray, an error, and a pair of singles by Ray Pike and Tony Hill.

Fernandez Faces Tough Opponent In Isaac Logart

NEW YORK (AP)—Jorge Fernandez, third ranking welterweight from Buenos Aires who has knocked out 50 of the 72 men he has defeated, meets veteran Isaac Logart of Camaguey, Cuba, in a 10-round feature bout at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Fernandez, a challenger for Emile Griffith's welterweight title, has lost only five of 78 bouts. Another ended in a draw. He is currently on a four-bout winning streak.

The 28-year-old Logart, now in his 13th year in the ring, shows a record of 60 victories, 16 losses and eight draws. He has knocked out 23 opponents.

One of Logart's knockout victims is Fernandez. This happened on Nov. 29, 1958. It is the only knockout ever suffered by the 25-year-old Argentine.

Double World Records Fall In AAU Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two world records and one American mark were smashed Friday as the Men's National AAU Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships got off to an explosive start.

Eighteen-year-old Steve Clark of Santa Clara, Calif., broke the 100-meter freestyle record with a time of 54.4, bettering the established world mark of 54.6 set by John Devitt of Australia in 1957.

Ted Stickles of Indianapolis again bettered the world mark in the 400-meter individual medley with a clocking of 4:55.6. The recognized record is 5:04.5, set last year by Dennis Rounsavelle of the University of Southern California. Stickles already has a pending mark of 4:56.8.

Overshadowing these brilliant marks, however, was the smashing victory of Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., a 16-year-old high school senior who won the 1,500-meter freestyle in 17:29.8, which erased the American record of 17:30.6 set by George Breen a year ago.

The shock in this race was not merely the victor by the California youngster but the disappointing sixth-place finish by Japan's greatest swimmer, Tsuyoshi Yamanaka.

Alan Somers of Indianapolis set most of the pace, with Saari finishing strongly while the 22-year-old Japanese international star faded.

In the individual medley, which wound up the three finals on the opening day's schedule, Cary Tremewan, teammate of Stickles from the Indianapolis Athletic Club, also bettered the world mark with 5:01.5.

The three-meter springboard gold medal went to John Vogel of Lafayette, Ind., who rallied after barely making the finals of the event. His last four optional dives pushed him to the front with a point total of 485.51, with Louis Vittucci of Hollywood, Fla., next with 476.70.

In the 100-meter freestyle Clark likewise barely made the finals. He placed seventh with a time of 56.0 among the seven qualifiers in the morning preliminaries.

Murray Rose of the Los Angeles Athletic Club failed by one-tenth of a second to qualify for the 100 meters, finishing just behind Clark.

On doctor's orders, Rose was advised not to try the long 1,500 meters because of fatigue and dietary trouble in the past few days.

Clark's victory in the 100-meter freestyle came shortly after Saari's in the 1,500.

Saari's time bettered the recognized American mark of 16:30.6, set last year by veteran George Breen. It fell shy of the time Saari set in Japan July 29 of 17:21.8 when he defeated Yamanaka in a startling upset.

The race lost much of its lustre when Rose withdrew.

Al Somers of the Indianapolis Athletic Club, who held the lead much of the way, finished second in 17:32.2 and Tony Ralphs of the Los Angeles AC was third in 17:44.7.

"This was the greatest win for me," said Saari.

"I'm tired. I felt tired after the first hundred meters," said Yamanaka.

John Vogel of the Lafayette, Ind., Swim Club registered a spectacular comeback to win the 3-meter springboard diving title.

Vogel, from Purdue University, barely made the finals after trailing eighth and last in the preliminary round. He averaged more than eight points on his last four optional dives—choosing the most difficult executions in the sport—and won with a point score of 485.51.

Louis Vittucci of Hollywood, Fla., was second with 476.70.

Mexico's Alvaro Gaxiola, who led in the preliminaries, finished fourth with 470.45.

The swimming events were held in the Los Angeles Swim Satdium, site of the 1932 Olympic games, while the diving was held at Los Coyotes Country Club in suburban Buena Park.

Casper Leads By One Stroke Despite 71 On Second Round

Billy Maxwell Close Behind With Two 69's

By GEORGE BOWEN

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Billy Casper's reliable putter went sour on him Friday and sent him a stroke over par 70, but the chubby golfer from Apple Valley, Calif., had enough of a head start to hold the second round lead in the $35,000 Spring Open.

Casper'a 71 was five strokes higher than he shot in Thursday's opening round of the 72-hole tournament and left him with a total 137.

But his nearest first round pursuers had even worse luck on the difficult 7,031-yard course and left the way open for a new set of Casper challengers.

Billy Maxwell, fresh from a victory at the Insurance City Open in Hartford, Conn., shot his way to within one stroke of Casper. The Dallas pro displayed consistency by taking 69 strokes for the second straight time.

Casper, who has earned more than $31,000 without winning a tournament this year, put the blame squarely on his best club, the putter, for being unable to break par.

"I putted very poorly," he said ruefully. Not counting the two birdies he made, Casper felt he should have putted in at least three more.

It was three bogey 5s on the first nine that put Casper behind the eight ball. It took him three strokes to hole out from the edge of the third, a trapped shot put him in trouble at the eighth and he took three putts on the ninth after the best shot of the round.

This was a 7 iron out of the rough that hooked on to the green only to have Casper's putter let him down.

The mallet head club did knock in a 35-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the seventh. In his only departure from par on the second nine, Casper had to putt only 2 feet for a birdie 4 on the 583-yard 15th.

Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., muffed the best chance to take advantage of Casper's lapse. They started the second round only two strokes behind him.

But Rudolph skyrocketed to 74 and Jacobs went two strokes higher.

DAVIS CUP MATCH

U.S. And Mexico Tied Up After Bartzen's Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, playing a solid game, gave the United States a 1-1 tie with Mexico in the American Zone Davis Cup Tennis Championships Friday.

The 33-year-old Bartzen beat Mario Llamas, Mexico's No. 1 player, in the second round of singles play 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. He continually forced Llamas across the back line, making his opponent drive the ball into the net several times.

In the first round, Mexico's Rafael Osuna relied on a powerful serve and accurate forehand smash to beat Chuck McKinley in straight sets, all by 6-3 scores.

The teams resume their best-of-5 struggle for supremacy on the clay courts of the Cleveland Skating Club with doubles Saturday and a pair of singles Sunday. The same Mexican squad that just missed an upset a year ago is rated a good chance to win. The margin then was just 3-2.

U.S. Capt. Dave Freed said he felt Bartzen's fine condition made the difference as he "ran everything out of Llamas."

Llamas wrapped up his lone victory of the day in the 10th and deciding game of the first set. Bartzen played too deep and Llamas rushed the net, catching the Texan from Dallas short.

From that point on Bartzen started to drive the ball deep, forcing Llamas to play near the back line. He made Llamas play his type of game, volleying back and forth until Bartzen could drive one past Llamas. In the final set Llamas showed signs of tiring. Bartzen was able to drive four service aces past Llamas, all for game points.

Osuna, 22-year-old University of Southern California student, proved too fast and powerful for McKinley, a recent runner-up at Wimbledon. The 20-year-old McKinley never broke through the Mexican's service.

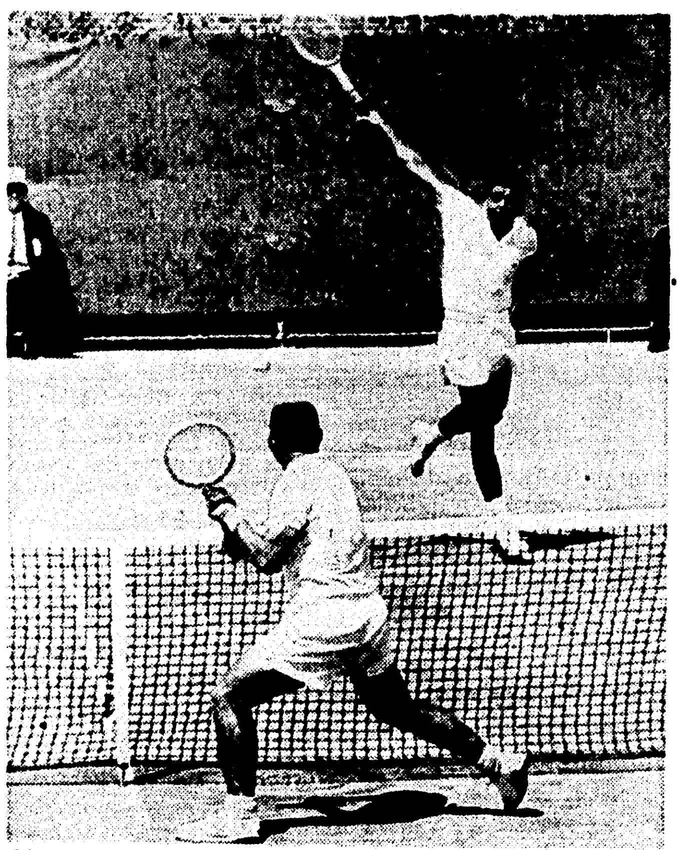
The St. Louis netter played brilliantly in the deciding game of the second set. Three times McKinley had the advantage at that point, but failed to capitalize. The score went to deuce six times before Osuna finally won the 16-minute game.

Although McKinley was regarded as the top U.S. hope, his loss to Osuna did not come as a surprise. The U.S. team was rated no better than an even bet to win the competition at the start of Friday's matches. Freed had warned of Osuna's ability. He believes Osuna is the fastest player in the world today.

"Everything went just as expected," said Mexican Capt. Francisco (Pancho) Contreras after Osuna won. "The serve was the big thing."

Freed, who had counted on Bartzen to win, advised Bartzen in the final set not to let Llamas play too close to the net. Bartzen began to drive the 33-year-old Llamas deeper and won the next three games to wrap up the American triumph.

In Saturday's doubles, McKinley is scheduled to team with 19-year-old Dennis Ralston, who has been nursing a sore throat the past few days but expects to be ready. Ready to step into his place, if the need arises, is Jon Douglas, former Stanford University football quarterback.



MEXICO'S RAFAEL OSUNA completes an overhead smash as America's Chuck McKinley prepares to return it. The 22-year-old Osuna gave Mexico a 1-0 lead in the American zone Davis Cup tennis championships yesterday by defeating McKinley in straight sets, all by 6-3 scores. It was the first round on the clay courts of the Cleveland Skating club. (AP Wirephoto)

Tigers With Kline Beat Red Sox, 5-0

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP) — Ron Kline, a castoff picked up last week by Detroit, pitched a four-hitter against Boston Friday night as the Tigers blanked the Red Sox 5-0.

Only his fourth triumph and first complete game, Kline's hurling helped the Tigers whittle the New York Yankee's league lead to three games. The Yanks lost to Cleveland 5-1.

The Tigers routed loser Billy Monbouquette, who failed for the ninth time to get his ninth victory, in four innings.

Monbouquette gave up Rocky Colavito's 32nd home run in the two-run first and Billy Bruton's 12th in the three-run fourth.

Kline carried a one-hitter into the eighth. He weakened slightly by yielding a one-out single to Carroll Hardy and a double to Don Buddin.

But the strapping right-hander struck out pinch hitter Pete Runnels and got Chuck Schilling on a grounder to escape from his only dangerous situation of the game before 33,733.

Russ Nixon got the first hit off Kline, sold to Detroit by the Los Angeles Angels, in the second. Frank Malzone singled with two out in the ninth.

Kline, an ex-National Leaguer, walked Malzone in the fourth and then retired 10 straight Red Sox before Hardy's single.

Chet Nichols and Glen Cisco pitched the final four innings for Boston without allowing Detroit another score.

Bruton drove in the Tiger's first run in the first after Jake Wood singled, stole second and took third on Nixon's wild throw. Dick McAuliffe drove in two runs in the fourth with a single.

Titans And Patriots Play Exhibition In Philadelphia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philadelphia will get its first peek at American Football League teams Saturday night when the New York Titans and the Boston Patriots meet in Philadelphia Stadium in one of four exhibition contests on the day's program—two in the AFL and two in the National Football League.

The other AFL exhibition matches Oakland and Denver at Spokane, Wash., and in the NFL the Washington Redskins play the Chicago Bears at Charleston, S.C. and the New York Giants meet the Los Angeles Rams at Los Angeles. Cleveland meets the San Francisco 49ers in San Francisco Sunday.

The Giants will face an apparently improved Los Angeles team, judging by the Rams' 26-7 victory over the Redskins last week. The Rams, thanks to intensive drills instituted by Coach Bob Waterfield to eliminate fumbles, overcame last season's tendency to muff the ball at crucial moments.

They also showed an alert pass defense, picking off five Redskin tosses while none of their own were intercepted.

This pass defense will serve as warning to the Giant tossers—the veteran Charlie Conerly and young Lee Grosscup. Y.A. Tittle, another veteran signal caller obtained this week in a deal with the 49ers, probably will not play. He has had only two workouts with his new club.

The Redskins, who won only one game, tied two and lost nine in finishing last in the Eastern Conference last season, are hopeful of getting on a winning track in their game at Charleston with the Bears, who had a 5-6-1 record in the Western Conference in 1960.

They will have to overcome the tendency they showed in the game with the Rams to make opponents their best pass receivers, however. The Skins got off to a bad start in that game by having a toss intercepted on first scrimmage play.

A large crowd is expected for the Titan-Patriot game in the home town of the NFL champion Eagles. A supermarket chain has purchased tickets for distribution to customers on the purchase of a certain amount of food. The stadium seats 100,000.

The Patriots expect to show a faster defense and depth and running at quarterback, and with a little more experience should be vastly improved over the club that finished at the bottom of the Eastern Division in the AFL's maiden season last year.

The acquisition by trade of veteran quarterback Babe Parilli and fullback Billy Lott from the Oakland Raiders figures to help the Boston club.

The Titan offense figures to be handicapped by a sore arm suffered by ace quarterback Al Dorow. The injury leaves the passing chores to Dick Jamieson and Bob Scrabis.

The Oakland Raiders uncovered a capable passer in second-string quarterback Nick Papac in their game against the Houston Oilers in Honolulu. Regular quarterback Tom Flores was shaken up early in the game. He continued to play but couldn't see his receivers too well, and eventually was relieved by Papac.

The Raiders and the Denver Broncs split in their two meetings last year, Denver winning 31-14 and losing 48-10. Despite their 31-13 defeat at the hands of Houston there were bright spots in the Denver picture, particularly the punting of George Herring and the play of speedy Al Frazier.

15TH WIN

Barber Beats Nats For Baltimore, 3-2

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steve Barber survived a rocky start and shaky finish Friday night to pitch the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators before 11,624 fans.

It was the sophomore southpaw's 15th victory of the season against nine losses. It also marked the eighth complete game the durable lefty has hurled in his last 10 starts, during which span he has won eight. He fanned 9, walked 4 and allowed 5 hits, three in the first inning.

Joe McClain, the loser, dropped his eighth straight decision to make his record 7-14. He was touched for nine hits in eight innings. Mike Garcia yielded the final Oriole hit in the ninth.

Jim Gentile's single in the eighth, driving in his 109th run of the season, decided the pitchers battle. Gentile's blow followed a scratch hit by Whitey Herzog and a bunt single by Jackie Brandt.

The Senators nearly had Barber put away in the first frame when Chuck Hinton opened with a single and scored on Danny O'Connell's double. A short single by Willie Tasby moved O'Connell to third and he scored on Bob Johnson's infield out.

The Orioles finally broke through in the sixth with Harry Bright's error giving Brooks Robinson a life. Herzog and Brandt followed with singles to load the bases before Hank Foiles looped a two-run single to short center to tie the score.

Foiles was in for catcher Gus Triandos, who suffered a lineal fracture of the right thumb in the first inning on a foul tip. It is estmiated he will be out of action from one to two weeks.

Starr Throws Green Bay By Cards, 31-10

ST. LOUIUS (AP) — Bart Starr passed Green Bay to a 31-10 romp over St. Louis in a National Football League exhibition Friday night as the Cardinals lost John David Crow, a 1,000-yard man last season, for six weeks with a fractured ankle.

Starr passed for two touchdowns, set up a third with his passes and completed 10 of 19 for 193 yards. Jim Taylor, a bruising 215-pound fullback, scored 13 points with his running and kicking.

It was a dismal game for the Cards before a Busch Stadium crowd of 31,056—largest ever to see a football game in St. Louis.

Crow, a power runner and key man in the Cardinal offense, was hurt in the third quarter and taken to St. Mary's Hospital where X rays disclosed a fracture of the fibula bone on the outer side of his left ankle. His leg will be in a cast and he'll be out six weeks.

The Packers raced to a 14-0 lead, scoring the first two times they got the ball. In the first half they scored on drives of 62, 52 an 80 yards, Paul Hornung blasting one yard for the first score.

Starr passed 39 yards to Max McGee and 32 to Ron Kramer for the other two touchdowns.

Six-Team Touch Football League May Be Formed

FERRIDAY (Special) Possibility of the formation of a six-team Miss-Lou Touch Football League was discussed at a meeting of interested parties at the Naval Reserve Training Facility at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Robert B. "Buck" Peden, yoeman first class of the U.S. Navy Reserves and last season's president of the Commission presided. He pointed out that for the past several seasons the Parks and Recreation has sponsored a City Touch Football League in Natchez, and that is has proven successful in providing many adults with the opportunity to play organized football once again.

Peden pointed out that the expansion of the league into six teams, including two from Natchez, and one from Vidalia, Ferriday, Fayette and Washington, would not only extend this opportunity to more persons, but would add the spice of inter-city rivalry.

The meeting, which was well attended, was primarily to ascertain the feasibility of the proposed league. They also discussed the playing rules for the coming season, selecting a league commission and commissioner and accepted nominations for managerships of the league.

N. C. Wins Teener Title With Victory Over Bossier 4-1

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Gastonia, N.C., repeated as VFW Teener Baseball champion Friday defeating Bossier City, La., 4-1, behind the no-hit pitching of Candler Baumgardner.

The North Carolinians scored all their runs in the first inning.

Gastonia was undefeated in the four-day tournament and has now won eight straight games over a two-year period, scoring an unprecedented double championship in the process.

A brief streak of wildness in the seventh inning cost Baumgardner a shutout.

Gastonia scored on a walk, a triple by center fielder Fred MacMurray, an error, and a pair of singles by Ray Pike and Tony Hill.

Fernandez Faces Tough Opponent In Isaac Logart

NEW YORK (AP)—Jorge Fernandez, third ranking welterweight from Buenos Aires who has knocked out 50 of the 72 men he has defeated, meets veteran Isaac Logart of Camaguey, Cuba, in a 10-round feature bout at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Fernandez, a challenger for Emile Griffith's welterweight title, has lost only five of 78 bouts. Another ended in a draw. He is currently on a four-bout winning streak.

The 28-year-old Logart, now in his 13th year in the ring, shows a record of 60 victories, 16 losses and eight draws. He has knocked out 23 opponents.

One of Logart's knockout victims is Fernandez. This happened on Nov. 29, 1958. It is the only knockout ever suffered by the 25-year-old Argentine.

Double World Records Fall In AAU Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two world records and one American mark were smashed Friday as the Men's National AAU Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships got off to an explosive start.

Eighteen-year-old Steve Clark of Santa Clara, Calif., broke the 100-meter freestyle record with a time of 54.4, bettering the established world mark of 54.6 set by John Devitt of Australia in 1957.

Ted Stickles of Indianapolis again bettered the world mark in the 400-meter individual medley with a clocking of 4:55.6. The recognized record is 5:04.5, set last year by Dennis Rounsavelle of the University of Southern California. Stickles already has a pending mark of 4:56.8.

Overshadowing these brilliant marks, however, was the smashing victory of Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., a 16-year-old high school senior who won the 1,500-meter freestyle in 17:29.8, which erased the American record of 17:30.6 set by George Breen a year ago.

The shock in this race was not merely the victor by the California youngster but the disappointing sixth-place finish by Japan's greatest swimmer, Tsuyoshi Yamanaka.

Alan Somers of Indianapolis set most of the pace, with Saari finishing strongly while the 22-year-old Japanese international star faded.

In the individual medley, which wound up the three finals on the opening day's schedule, Cary Tremewan, teammate of Stickles from the Indianapolis Athletic Club, also bettered the world mark with 5:01.5.

The three-meter springboard gold medal went to John Vogel of Lafayette, Ind., who rallied after barely making the finals of the event. His last four optional dives pushed him to the front with a point total of 485.51, with Louis Vittucci of Hollywood, Fla., next with 476.70.

In the 100-meter freestyle Clark likewise barely made the finals. He placed seventh with a time of 56.0 among the seven qualifiers in the morning preliminaries.

Murray Rose of the Los Angeles Athletic Club failed by one-tenth of a second to qualify for the 100 meters, finishing just behind Clark.

On doctor's orders, Rose was advised not to try the long 1,500 meters because of fatigue and dietary trouble in the past few days.

Clark's victory in the 100-meter freestyle came shortly after Saari's in the 1,500.

Saari's time bettered the recognized American mark of 16:30.6, set last year by veteran George Breen. It fell shy of the time Saari set in Japan July 29 of 17:21.8 when he defeated Yamanaka in a startling upset.

The race lost much of its lustre when Rose withdrew.

Al Somers of the Indianapolis Athletic Club, who held the lead much of the way, finished second in 17:32.2 and Tony Ralphs of the Los Angeles AC was third in 17:44.7.

"This was the greatest win for me," said Saari.

"I'm tired. I felt tired after the first hundred meters," said Yamanaka.

John Vogel of the Lafayette, Ind., Swim Club registered a spectacular comeback to win the 3-meter springboard diving title.

Vogel, from Purdue University, barely made the finals after trailing eighth and last in the preliminary round. He averaged more than eight points on his last four optional dives—choosing the most difficult executions in the sport—and won with a point score of 485.51.

Louis Vittucci of Hollywood, Fla., was second with 476.70.

Mexico's Alvaro Gaxiola, who led in the preliminaries, finished fourth with 470.45.

The swimming events were held in the Los Angeles Swim Satdium, site of the 1932 Olympic games, while the diving was held at Los Coyotes Country Club in suburban Buena Park.

Casper Leads By One Stroke Despite 71 On Second Round

Billy Maxwell Close Behind With Two 69's

By GEORGE BOWEN

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Billy Casper's reliable putter went sour on him Friday and sent him a stroke over par 70, but the chubby golfer from Apple Valley, Calif., had enough of a head start to hold the second round lead in the $35,000 Spring Open.

Casper'a 71 was five strokes higher than he shot in Thursday's opening round of the 72-hole tournament and left him with a total 137.

But his nearest first round pursuers had even worse luck on the difficult 7,031-yard course and left the way open for a new set of Casper challengers.

Billy Maxwell, fresh from a victory at the Insurance City Open in Hartford, Conn., shot his way to within one stroke of Casper. The Dallas pro displayed consistency by taking 69 strokes for the second straight time.

Casper, who has earned more than $31,000 without winning a tournament this year, put the blame squarely on his best club, the putter, for being unable to break par.

"I putted very poorly," he said ruefully. Not counting the two birdies he made, Casper felt he should have putted in at least three more.

It was three bogey 5s on the first nine that put Casper behind the eight ball. It took him three strokes to hole out from the edge of the third, a trapped shot put him in trouble at the eighth and he took three putts on the ninth after the best shot of the round.

This was a 7 iron out of the rough that hooked on to the green only to have Casper's putter let him down.

The mallet head club did knock in a 35-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the seventh. In his only departure from par on the second nine, Casper had to putt only 2 feet for a birdie 4 on the 583-yard 15th.

Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., muffed the best chance to take advantage of Casper's lapse. They started the second round only two strokes behind him.

But Rudolph skyrocketed to 74 and Jacobs went two strokes higher.

DAVIS CUP MATCH

U.S. And Mexico Tied Up After Bartzen's Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, playing a solid game, gave the United States a 1-1 tie with Mexico in the American Zone Davis Cup Tennis Championships Friday.

The 33-year-old Bartzen beat Mario Llamas, Mexico's No. 1 player, in the second round of singles play 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. He continually forced Llamas across the back line, making his opponent drive the ball into the net several times.

In the first round, Mexico's Rafael Osuna relied on a powerful serve and accurate forehand smash to beat Chuck McKinley in straight sets, all by 6-3 scores.

The teams resume their best-of-5 struggle for supremacy on the clay courts of the Cleveland Skating Club with doubles Saturday and a pair of singles Sunday. The same Mexican squad that just missed an upset a year ago is rated a good chance to win. The margin then was just 3-2.

U.S. Capt. Dave Freed said he felt Bartzen's fine condition made the difference as he "ran everything out of Llamas."

Llamas wrapped up his lone victory of the day in the 10th and deciding game of the first set. Bartzen played too deep and Llamas rushed the net, catching the Texan from Dallas short.

From that point on Bartzen started to drive the ball deep, forcing Llamas to play near the back line. He made Llamas play his type of game, volleying back and forth until Bartzen could drive one past Llamas. In the final set Llamas showed signs of tiring. Bartzen was able to drive four service aces past Llamas, all for game points.

Osuna, 22-year-old University of Southern California student, proved too fast and powerful for McKinley, a recent runner-up at Wimbledon. The 20-year-old McKinley never broke through the Mexican's service.

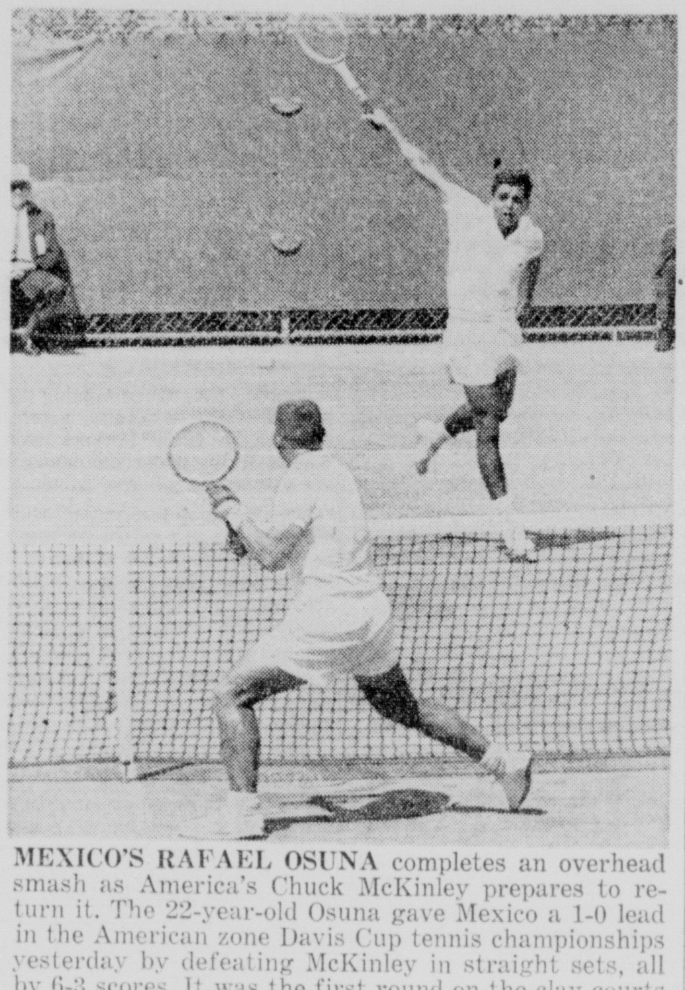
The St. Louis netter played brilliantly in the deciding game of the second set. Three times McKinley had the advantage at that point, but failed to capitalize. The score went to deuce six times before Osuna finally won the 16-minute game.

Although McKinley was regarded as the top U.S. hope, his loss to Osuna did not come as a surprise. The U.S. team was rated no better than an even bet to win the competition at the start of Friday's matches. Freed had warned of Osuna's ability. He believes Osuna is the fastest player in the world today.

"Everything went just as expected," said Mexican Capt. Francisco (Pancho) Contreras after Osuna won. "The serve was the big thing."

Freed, who had counted on Bartzen to win, advised Bartzen in the final set not to let Llamas play too close to the net. Bartzen began to drive the 33-year-old Llamas deeper and won the next three games to wrap up the American triumph.

In Saturday's doubles, McKinley is scheduled to team with 19-year-old Dennis Ralston, who has been nursing a sore throat the past few days but expects to be ready. Ready to step into his place, if the need arises, is Jon Douglas, former Stanford University football quarterback.



MEXICO'S RAFAEL OSUNA completes an overhead smash as America's Chuck McKinley prepares to return it. The 22-year-old Osuna gave Mexico a 1-0 lead in the American zone Davis Cup tennis championships yesterday by defeating McKinley in straight sets, all by 6-3 scores. It was the first round on the clay courts of the Cleveland Skating club. (AP Wirephoto)

Tigers With Kline Beat Red Sox, 5-0

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP) — Ron Kline, a castoff picked up last week by Detroit, pitched a four-hitter against Boston Friday night as the Tigers blanked the Red Sox 5-0.

Only his fourth triumph and first complete game, Kline's hurling helped the Tigers whittle the New York Yankee's league lead to three games. The Yanks lost to Cleveland 5-1.

The Tigers routed loser Billy Monbouquette, who failed for the ninth time to get his ninth victory, in four innings.

Monbouquette gave up Rocky Colavito's 32nd home run in the two-run first and Billy Bruton's 12th in the three-run fourth.

Kline carried a one-hitter into the eighth. He weakened slightly by yielding a one-out single to Carroll Hardy and a double to Don Buddin.

But the strapping right-hander struck out pinch hitter Pete Runnels and got Chuck Schilling on a grounder to escape from his only dangerous situation of the game before 33,733.

Russ Nixon got the first hit off Kline, sold to Detroit by the Los Angeles Angels, in the second. Frank Malzone singled with two out in the ninth.

Kline, an ex-National Leaguer, walked Malzone in the fourth and then retired 10 straight Red Sox before Hardy's single.

Chet Nichols and Glen Cisco pitched the final four innings for Boston without allowing Detroit another score.

Bruton drove in the Tiger's first run in the first after Jake Wood singled, stole second and took third on Nixon's wild throw. Dick McAuliffe drove in two runs in the fourth with a single.

DISCIPLINARIANS HOLD KEY

Will Florida Field Explosive Attack?

By VERNON BUTLER

ATLANTA (AP) — Tiny Larry Libertone, Florida's 138-pound quarterback wizard, could be directing the most explosive backfield in the Southeastern conference this autumn-or he could be loking for somebody to direct, depending on university disciplinarians.

Coach Ray Graves, who stood the SEC on its ear in his freshman season as a head coach last year, thinks he has the finest backfield in the conference. But the trouble boss of the Gators must await eligibility rulings on halfbacks Bob Hoover and Dick Skelly and fullback Don Goodman.

Goodman is perspiring in summer school to pull his grades to a satisfactory level. Skelly and Hoover are in the dog house because of some tail-chopping involving Albert, the teams alligator mascot.

If all are declared eligible, the Gator backfield should be an awesome thing. And the second unit backfield, consisting of Bobby Dodd, Ron Stoner, Lindy Infante and Cecil Ewell, could be almost as deadly.

By The Associated Press
Lettermen returning:22
Lettermen lost: 16
Top all-star prospects: Quarterback Larry Liberore, fullback Don Goodman, halfback Bob Hoover, tackle Jim Beaver.
1960 Record: Won 8, lost 2 :SEC record was 5-1).
1961 Opponents: Clemson, Florida State, Tulane, Rice, Vanderbilt, LSU Georgia Tech, Georgia, Auburn, Miami.
Coach: Ray Graves (Tennessee 1941).
Outlook: Defense Weaker, but the attack one of SEC's most potent. Surprise element which helped 1960 darkhorse is missing, but the Gators still figure to be among the top six.

Florida lacks depth in the line, especially in the midsection where the Gators were so tough last season. Five lettermen return at end, but there are only two tackles, two guards and one center with experience in the rugged SEC. And some of those played only briefly in 1960.

Tom Smith and Sam Holland will man the flanks, assisted by Russ Brown, Tom Kelley, Tom Gregory and Billy Cash. Brown is a sophomore of limitless potential.

Jim Beaver, the team captain, brings talents of all-SEC proportions to one of the tackle posts. Floyd Dean, a 230-pound junior, will be the other starter. Reserve hopefuls are Anton Peters, L. E. Hicks and sophomore Fred Pearson. Larry Travis and Charley Gill are lettermen guards, and Jack Thompson and John Oliva are promising sophomores who'll have to mature quickly.

Bruce Culpepper, a third-stringer last season, inherits the center job with sophomore John Dent, a freshman tackle in 1960, lending assistance.

It isn't likely the 1961 line will be as unyielding as the 1960 group, but Graves is hopeful the defensive secondary and veteran ends will help to make up for some of the line weakness. Graves is particularly concerned about his guards.

Defensive backfield specialists Paul White and Walt Hickneloopper will make throwing against the Gators a difficult thing.

"Florida will throw more than last year," Graves promises. "Our quarterbacks, Libertore and Dodd, improved their passing this spring, and we have good receivers.

"We had a very young backfield in 1960 that improved with every game right on through the win over Baylor in the Gator Bowl, and this experience and improvement should make us an offensive threat this year.

"We definitely should be able to move the ball better, and we will need to, for defense appears a weakness."

Injuries could bring disaster to the thinly spread Gators up front. Key men include Culpepper at center, Beaver at tackle and Traves at guard. They may have to be iron men as well.

Hixon Chosen For Mangham Club President

MANGHAM (Special) — The Mangham Quarterback Club held its first meeting of the season here Tuesday night in the school cafeteria and elected the following officers for the 1961-62 school year: W. E. Hixon, president; Aubrey B. Parham, vice-president; and Leo Cheek, secretary-treasurer. Dan B. McKay is the out-going president.

The club voted to hold weekly meetings every Tuesday night beginning August 29. Each weekly session is to begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. and adjourn at 8:30, without fail. The Quarterbacks also agreed to join with the "M" Club, the high school lettermen's organization, in the purchase of a 16 mm. movie camera for the purpose of filming all football games. As often as possible these films will be shown to the Quarterbacks at the meeting.

After the business session, Coach Armed M. Mathews discussed the team's prospects for the coming year, making no predictions, especailly in view of the strength of many of the Dragon opponents. He pointed out, however, that we had overcome the prennial problems of lack of experience and depth bfore and that it remained to be seen whether it could be done again this season.

Tompion, Oink, And Ashlar Are Pre-Race Picks

C.V. Whitney's Tompion at Saratoga, Jacnot Stable's Oink at Arlington Park and Shoestring Stable's Ashlar at Atlantic City were favored to run off with the big money features in Saturday's horse racing program.

Tompion, to be ridden by Johnny Rotz, was quoted at 2 to 1 to capture the $50,000-added Saratoga Handicap for 3-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a quarter. Winner of last year's Travers and the Hopeful, Tompion only recently returned to competition after an absence of many weeks.

This week, he worked 6 furlong in 1:13 3-5 and was timed for 5 furlongs in a handy :59.

Tompion's chief competition is expected to come from Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Tippett's Divine Comedy, who last week equalled the track record for 7 furlongs of 1:22 3-5. Willie Shoemaker has come East from Chicago to ride the rangy chestnut. Divine Comedy is 5-2.

Gus Ring's Don Poggio, who will carry top weight of 124, one pound more than Divine Comedy and six more than Tompion, also will have heavy backing. The Argentine-bred horse won the Monmouth Handicap but was a dull seventh in the Brooklyn at Aqueduct. Eddie Arcaro is slated to ride him.

Others in the field of nine include Whodunit (120), winner of the Sunset 'Cap at Hollywood Park; Francis S. (114), Mamboreta, (106), Gawain (109), Rienzi (115) and Grey Monarch (110).

The race will gross $56,300 with $36,595 going to the winner.

Oink will be accompanied by stablemate Resolved, 114 pounds, in the 1 3-16 mile $50,000-added Arlington Handicap over the grass course. The entry is a 2-1 favorite. Tough contenders include J. Graham Brown's Run For Nurse (120), Kerr Stable's Prince Blessed (118), Lynn Boice's Physician (115), William H. Bishop's Salason (115), Hill Farms' Tudoreih (115), Verna Lea Farm's Noholme II (112), Mrs. Vera Smith's Bass Clef (110). Other expected starters include Bride's Rock, Heroshogala, Grey Eagle, Moderado and Come About.

If all 14 start the winner will earn $35,950 with a gross worth of $54,450.

Oink, winner of the Round Table Handicap, the Citation, the Armour Memorial and the Stars and Stripes, has been idle since being outrun in the Monmouth Handicap last month. John Sellers, the nation's leading rider, will ride Oink.

Ashlar goes after his third stakes triumph in the $25,000-added Philadelphia Turf Handicap at Atlantic City. The 5-year-old gelding will carry top weight of 118 pounds for the 11th running of the mile and a sixteenth grass race which attracted nine overnight candidates.

Ashlar, winner of the Laurel Handicap and Diamond State Handicap, will engage Jaclyn Stable's Li'l Fella (117), Mrs. Connie M. Ring's Dress Up (116), Calumet Farm's Pied D'Or (114), Maine Chance Farm's Roman Torch (112), George D. Widener's Udaipur (112), Tally-Ho Stable's August Sun (110), C.P. Kimmel's National Gallery (108) and David Shaer's Too Much Brass (107). Ashlar will be ridden by Tommy Lee.

The winner will earn $19,175 of the $29,500 gross purse.

Another important race Saturday will be the $15,000-added Bing Crosby Handicap at Del Mar. Revel, carrying 127 pounds, heads a probable field of six. Other contenders are Henrihan (120), First Balcony (119) and Fightin' Indian (118).

'GOOD OLD CHARLIE'

New Year For NY, But Same Old Ace

(First in a series of Pro football propects)

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants have several new faces and a new offensive formation, but chances are their fortunes will ride with the talent and staying power of the oldest player in the National Football League.

That old-timer is 'good old Charlie" Conerly, their 40-year-old quarterback who maintains, 'I feel better now than I have felt in three years."

Just in case Conerly finally succumbs to the rigors of the tough pro game, the Giants have acquired Y. A. Tittle from the San Francisco Forty-Niners as a backstop.

Between these two brainy old hands, whose age will total 75 years by October, new head coach Al Sherman feels the Giants are well-fixed at the most important position on the team. Young Lee Grosscup, the Giants' No. 3 quarterback, does not appear to be quite ready.

Felt Club Was Done

When Sherman first inherited this team from the retiring Jim Lee Howell at the close of last season, there were many who felt Al was taking over a club that was over-the-hill.

However, during the off-season the Giants made more player trades than any other club in the NFL They strengthened both the offense and defense and now must be considered once again as a leading challenger for the Eastern Division title.

Besides Tittle, the key players the Giants acquired in deals were: Jim Podoley and Joe Walton, a pair of standout pass-catchers from the Washington Redskins; Joel Wells, a fleet halfback who played in Canada two seasons ago; Zeke Smith, linebacker and offensive guard; Charlie Janerette, 255-pound offensive tackle; Erich Barnes, who is winning a regular defensive backfield job, and Jerry Richardson, who was Ray Berry's offensive end understudy with the Baltimore Colts.

Many Good Rookies

There also are a half-dozen promising rookies in the Giants' camp. The three standouts appear to be Jerry Fields, a linebacker from Ohio State; Bob Gaiters, No. 1 draft choice from New Mexico State who currently is No. 2 fullback behind Phil King, and Glenfield Wright, a "sleeper" draft pick from little Shaw University in North Carolina. Wright is an offensive end.

Three other rookies with a chance of making the team are offensive linemen Bruce Tarbox of Syracuse and Ben Davidson of Washington, and halfback Allan Webb of Arnold College.

Joe Morrison, who has divided his previous seasons between halfback and fullback, has an edge on Podoley for the flanker position.

The rest of the backfield thus shapes up as Conerely and Tittle as quarterbacks; Wells and veteran Alex Webster at running back; and King and Gaiters at fullback. Ed Sutton and Webb also are available as running backs.

The heart of the offensive line includes Giant old-timers Ray Wietecha at center, Jack Stroud and Darrell Dess at guards, and All-NFL Roosevelt Brown at tackle jobs.

Banks Leads Cubs To Win Over Bucs 2-1

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks' double scored Jerry Kindall with one out in the 11th inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday.

In scoring the winning run, Kindall collided with catcher Don Leppert, who was attempting to block the plate while waiting for the relay throw from shortstop Dick Groat after Bill Virdon recovered Banks' blow.

Kindall remained on the ground for three minutes before walking off the field after successfully beating the throw to Leppert.

The loss was a heart-breaker for American League cast-off Tom Sturdivant, who suffered his first National League defeat. He gave up eight hits. Winner Dick Ellsworth, who balanced his record at 7-7, was tagged for 10 hits as the Cubs squared their season series with the Pirates at 6-6.

The Cubs scored first, picking up a run in the fourth. Kindall stroked a leadoff double, took third after Banks flied deep to Joe Christopher and scored on George Altman's sacrifice fly.

Pittsburgh's bid for the tying run in the sixth was voided by first baseman Andre Rodgers' heads-up defensive play. Dick Stuart opened with a double. Don Hoak then hit sharply to Rodgers, whose throw to Ron Santo cut down Stuart trying for third. Catcher Leppert then grounded into a double-play.

The Pirates got to Ellsworth for the tying run in the seventh. Virdon opened with a single, but was forced by Bill Mazeroski. After Mazeroski took second on a wild pitch, Groat doubled him across.

DISCIPLINARIANS HOLD KEY

Will Florida Field Explosive Attack?

By VERNON BUTLER

ATLANTA (AP) — Tiny Larry Libertone, Florida's 138-pound quarterback wizard, could be directing the most explosive backfield in the Southeastern conference this autumn-or he could be loking for somebody to direct, depending on university disciplinarians.

Coach Ray Graves, who stood the SEC on its ear in his freshman season as a head coach last year, thinks he has the finest backfield in the conference. But the trouble boss of the Gators must await eligibility rulings on halfbacks Bob Hoover and Dick Skelly and fullback Don Goodman.

Goodman is perspiring in summer school to pull his grades to a satisfactory level. Skelly and Hoover are in the dog house because of some tail-chopping involving Albert, the teams alligator mascot.

If all are declared eligible, the Gator backfield should be an awesome thing. And the second unit backfield, consisting of Bobby Dodd, Ron Stoner, Lindy Infante and Cecil Ewell, could be almost as deadly.

By The Associated Press
Lettermen returning:22
Lettermen lost: 16
Top all-star prospects: Quarterback Larry Liberore, fullback Don Goodman, halfback Bob Hoover, tackle Jim Beaver.
1960 Record: Won 8, lost 2 :SEC record was 5-1).
1961 Opponents: Clemson, Florida State, Tulane, Rice, Vanderbilt, LSU Georgia Tech, Georgia, Auburn, Miami.
Coach: Ray Graves (Tennessee 1941).
Outlook: Defense Weaker, but the attack one of SEC's most potent. Surprise element which helped 1960 darkhorse is missing, but the Gators still figure to be among the top six.

Florida lacks depth in the line, especially in the midsection where the Gators were so tough last season. Five lettermen return at end, but there are only two tackles, two guards and one center with experience in the rugged SEC. And some of those played only briefly in 1960.

Tom Smith and Sam Holland will man the flanks, assisted by Russ Brown, Tom Kelley, Tom Gregory and Billy Cash. Brown is a sophomore of limitless potential.

Jim Beaver, the team captain, brings talents of all-SEC proportions to one of the tackle posts. Floyd Dean, a 230-pound junior, will be the other starter. Reserve hopefuls are Anton Peters, L. E. Hicks and sophomore Fred Pearson. Larry Travis and Charley Gill are lettermen guards, and Jack Thompson and John Oliva are promising sophomores who'll have to mature quickly.

Bruce Culpepper, a third-stringer last season, inherits the center job with sophomore John Dent, a freshman tackle in 1960, lending assistance.

It isn't likely the 1961 line will be as unyielding as the 1960 group, but Graves is hopeful the defensive secondary and veteran ends will help to make up for some of the line weakness. Graves is particularly concerned about his guards.

Defensive backfield specialists Paul White and Walt Hickneloopper will make throwing against the Gators a difficult thing.

"Florida will throw more than last year," Graves promises. "Our quarterbacks, Libertore and Dodd, improved their passing this spring, and we have good receivers.

"We had a very young backfield in 1960 that improved with every game right on through the win over Baylor in the Gator Bowl, and this experience and improvement should make us an offensive threat this year.

"We definitely should be able to move the ball better, and we will need to, for defense appears a weakness."

Injuries could bring disaster to the thinly spread Gators up front. Key men include Culpepper at center, Beaver at tackle and Traves at guard. They may have to be iron men as well.

'GOOD OLD CHARLIE'

New Year For NY, But Same Old Ace

(First in a series of Pro football propects)

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants have several new faces and a new offensive formation, but chances are their fortunes will ride with the talent and staying power of the oldest player in the National Football League.

That old-timer is 'good old Charlie" Conerly, their 40-year-old quarterback who maintains, 'I feel better now than I have felt in three years."

Just in case Conerly finally succumbs to the rigors of the tough pro game, the Giants have acquired Y. A. Tittle from the San Francisco Forty-Niners as a backstop.

Between these two brainy old hands, whose age will total 75 years by October, new head coach Al Sherman feels the Giants are well-fixed at the most important position on the team. Young Lee Grosscup, the Giants' No. 3 quarterback, does not appear to be quite ready.

Felt Club Was Done

When Sherman first inherited this team from the retiring Jim Lee Howell at the close of last season, there were many who felt Al was taking over a club that was over-the-hill.

However, during the off-season the Giants made more player trades than any other club in the NFL They strengthened both the offense and defense and now must be considered once again as a leading challenger for the Eastern Division title.

Besides Tittle, the key players the Giants acquired in deals were: Jim Podoley and Joe Walton, a pair of standout pass-catchers from the Washington Redskins; Joel Wells, a fleet halfback who played in Canada two seasons ago; Zeke Smith, linebacker and offensive guard; Charlie Janerette, 255-pound offensive tackle; Erich Barnes, who is winning a regular defensive backfield job, and Jerry Richardson, who was Ray Berry's offensive end understudy with the Baltimore Colts.

Many Good Rookies

There also are a half-dozen promising rookies in the Giants' camp. The three standouts appear to be Jerry Fields, a linebacker from Ohio State; Bob Gaiters, No. 1 draft choice from New Mexico State who currently is No. 2 fullback behind Phil King, and Glenfield Wright, a "sleeper" draft pick from little Shaw University in North Carolina. Wright is an offensive end.

Three other rookies with a chance of making the team are offensive linemen Bruce Tarbox of Syracuse and Ben Davidson of Washington, and halfback Allan Webb of Arnold College.

Joe Morrison, who has divided his previous seasons between halfback and fullback, has an edge on Podoley for the flanker position.

The rest of the backfield thus shapes up as Conerely and Tittle as quarterbacks; Wells and veteran Alex Webster at running back; and King and Gaiters at fullback. Ed Sutton and Webb also are available as running backs.

The heart of the offensive line includes Giant old-timers Ray Wietecha at center, Jack Stroud and Darrell Dess at guards, and All-NFL Roosevelt Brown at tackle job.

Banks Leads Cubs To Win Over Bucs 2-1

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Banks' double scored Jerry Kindall with one out in the 11th inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday.

In scoring the winning run, Kindall collided with catcher Don Leppert, who was attempting to block the plate while waiting for the relay throw from shortstop Dick Groat after Bill Virdon recovered Banks' blow.

Kindall remained on the ground for three minutes before walking off the field after successfully beating the throw to Leppert.

The loss was a heart-breaker for American League cast-off Tom Sturdivant, who suffered his first National League defeat. He gave up eight hits. Winner Dick Ellsworth, who balanced his record at 7-7, was tagged for 10 hits as the Cubs squared their season series with the Pirates at 6-6.

The Cubs scored first, picking up a run in the fourth. Kindall stroked a leadoff double, took third after Banks flied deep to Joe Christopher and scored on George Altman's sacrifice fly.

Pittsburgh's bid for the tying run in the sixth was voided by first baseman Andre Rodgers' heads-up defensive play. Dick Stuart opened with a double. Don Hoak then hit sharply to Rodgers, whose throw to Ron Santo cut down Stuart trying for third. Catcher Leppert then grounded into a double-play.

The Pirates got to Ellsworth for the tying run in the seventh. Virdon opened with a single, but was forced by Bill Mazeroski. After Mazeroski took second on a wild pitch, Groat doubled him across.

Hixon Chosen For Mangham Club President

MANGHAM (Special) — The Mangham Quarterback Club held its first meeting of the season here Tuesday night in the school cafeteria and elected the following officers for the 1961-62 school year: W. E. Hixon, president; Aubrey B. Parham, vice-president; and Leo Cheek, secretary-treasurer. Dan B. McKay is the out-going president.

The club voted to hold weekly meetings every Tuesday night beginning August 29. Each weekly session is to begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. and adjourn at 8:30, without fail. The Quarterbacks also agreed to join with the "M" Club, the high school lettermen's organization, in the purchase of a 16 mm. movie camera for the purpose of filming all football games. As often as possible these films will be shown to the Quarterbacks at the meeting.

After the business session, Coach Armed M. Mathews discussed the team's prospects for the coming year, making no predictions, especailly in view of the strength of many of the Dragon opponents. He pointed out, however, that we had overcome the prennial problems of lack of experience and depth bfore and that it remained to be seen whether it could be done again this season.

Tompion, Oink, And Ashlar Are Pre-Race Picks

C.V. Whitney's Tompion at Saratoga, Jacnot Stable's Oink at Arlington Park and Shoestring Stable's Ashlar at Atlantic City were favored to run off with the big money features in Saturday's horse racing program.

Tompion, to be ridden by Johnny Rotz, was quoted at 2 to 1 to capture the $50,000-added Saratoga Handicap for 3-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a quarter. Winner of last year's Travers and the Hopeful, Tompion only recently returned to competition after an absence of many weeks.

This week, he worked 6 furlong in 1:13 3-5 and was timed for 5 furlongs in a handy :59.

Tompion's chief competition is expected to come from Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Tippett's Divine Comedy, who last week equalled the track record for 7 furlongs of 1:22 3-5. Willie Shoemaker has come East from Chicago to ride the rangy chestnut. Divine Comedy is 5-2.

Gus Ring's Don Poggio, who will carry top weight of 124, one pound more than Divine Comedy and six more than Tompion, also will have heavy backing. The Argentine-bred horse won the Monmouth Handicap but was a dull seventh in the Brooklyn at Aqueduct. Eddie Arcaro is slated to ride him.

Others in the field of nine include Whodunit (120), winner of the Sunset 'Cap at Hollywood Park; Francis S. (114), Mamboreta, (106), Gawain (109), Rienzi (115) and Grey Monarch (110).

The race will gross $56,300 with $36,595 going to the winner.

Oink will be accompanied by stablemate Resolved, 114 pounds, in the 1 3-16 mile $50,000-added Arlington Handicap over the grass course. The entry is a 2-1 favorite. Tough contenders include J. Graham Brown's Run For Nurse (120), Kerr Stable's Prince Blessed (118), Lynn Boice's Physician (115), William H. Bishop's Salason (115), Hill Farms' Tudorcih (115), Verna Lea Farm's Noholme II (112), Mrs. Vera Smith's Bass Clef (110). Other expected starters include Bride's Rock, Heroshogala, Grey Eagle, Moderado and Come About.

If all 14 start the winner will earn $35,950 with a gross worth of $54,450.

Oink, winner of the Round Table Handicap, the Citation, the Armour Memorial and the Stars and Stripes, has been idle since being outrun in the Monmouth Handicap last month. John Sellers, the nation's leading rider, will ride Oink.

Ashlar goes after his third stakes triumph in the $25,000-added Philadelphia Turf Handicap at Atlantic City. The 5-year-old gelding will carry top weight of 113 pounds for the 11th running of the mile and a sixteenth grass race which attracted nine overnight candidates.

Ashlar, winner of the Laurel Handicap and Diamond State Handicap, will engage Jaclyn Stable's Li'l Fella (117), Mrs. Connie M. Ring's Dress Up (116), Calumet Farm's Pied D'Or (114), Maine Chance Farm's Roman Torch (112), George D. Widener's Udaipur (112), Tally-Ho Stable's August Sun (110), C.P. Kimmel's National Gallery (103) and David Shaer's Too Much Brass (107). Ashlar will be ridden by Tommy Lee.

The winner will earn $19,175 of the $29,500 gross purse.

Another important race Saturday will be the $15,000-added Bing Crosby Handicap at Del Mar. Revel, carrying 127 pounds, heads a probable field of six. Other contenders are Henrihan (120), First Balcony (119) and Fightin' Indian (118).

BURLAP

If that newly-fashionable fabric — burlap — has found its way into your wardrobe, you'll be happy to learn that it can be safely laundered at home.

A major producer of burlap recommends washing it separately by hand, in lukewarm soap or detergent suds and rinses. Just dip the garment up and down in the suds and rinses, hang it to drip, and smooth it while drying. If pressing is needed, use a warm —not hot — iron.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

"Dear Mrs. Eldred:

"I have recently become a working mother, leaving home at 7:45 a.m., and returning at 5:45 p.m. My two little girls (18 months and 3 years have been taken care of by four maids, the last a school girl who will be leaving in the fall.

"I am 24 and my husband is 27 and we have been happily married for four years. I am working so we can buy a house next spring. We live on the second floor of a four-plex and the owner who lives on the first floor does not like to see the children in the yard.

"I wonder whether my working for the next few years will affect my children's behavior? I know this constant changing of maids is not good, and I am sorry I could not do otherwise.

"When I take care of them in the evenings and all week end, their behavior still seems pretty good. The 3-year-old has started to wet in the daytime again (she still does at night), and she is more turbulent when we come home. The little one requires attention which we give her.

"Should I stop working this fall? Please tell me any consequences, serious or not?" —Mrs. F. De L.

ANSWER

No one can be definite about the consequences of your working. It is true that at these ages a child needs its mother more than it will later. However, there has been a good deal of research done on mothers and there are some advantages as great as the disadvantages.

The most important factor is the children's care-taker—she should be warm-hearted, love children and be kind to yours. Her ways of discipline should be similar to those you employ when home.

Unquestionably your children would profit by a home of their own and a play place outdoors. If you cannot see any real detrimental changes in the children's behavior (the wetting could be a demand for attention or be due to present feelings of insecurity), then you will have to weigh the benefit of having your own home eventually against the disadvantages of your absence now, and make your choice. No one can do it for you.

Mrs. E.E.B. wonders if she was wrong in being angry at a neighbor. "I read your column on 'Visitors'" she writes. "I came home from the hospital with twins and having done the washing my neighbor came in and yelled at me, 'I do my washing upstairs.' The babies were asleep and I was tired and I said, 'Shut up and go away.'

"Later, she told my husband she had a gift for me but had returned it. She has a maid and grown children, I have four small ones."

Do you want me to praise you for your rudeness? Whatever the provocation, this was inexcusable behavior. Your neighbor came with friendly intent and you insulted her. Go and apologize.

Soviet's Berlin Chief Rejects West's Protest

BERLIN (AP) — Western protests against the Communist ban on refugees from East Germany were rejected Friday by Col. Andrei I. Solovyev, the Soviet commandant in Berlin.

Solovyev said the ban was the business of the East German Communist regime—a Soviet satellite the West refuses to recognize.

The protest was made earlier in the week by Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the American commandant of the city, and the generals who represent Britain and France.

Solovyev's letter put the blame for "certain discomforts" caused by the measure on what he called "the revenge-seeking militaristic circles of the German Federal public, and the Western powers."

"It follows," he wrote in letters to each of the three Western generals, "that you too, commandant, as a person standing at the head of an occupation power, also bear the responsibility."

He said that was why he rejected the protest as "completely groundless."

Soviets Charge Allies Planning Nuclear Blows

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union made public Friday night purported top-secret Western military plans for the nuclear devastation of vast areas in Iran and Pakistan to block Soviet military moves.

The documents were displayed to foreign correspondents by officials of the Soviet news agency Tass.

A Tass statement accompanying the documents accused the United States and the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) powers—Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan—of planning to "stab the Soviet Union in the back" from CENTO bases.

Tass said the United States and its allies have plans to attack the Soviet Union with nuclear weapons based along the southern borders of the Communist heartland.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our eight-year-old son is gentle and kind. He has a sweet disposition and gets along well with everyone. Every night when we sit down to dinner his father says, "Well, son, have you had a fight yet?"

The boy always lowers his eyes and meekly replies, "No." His father has suggested in many ways that it is manly to fight, and if a boy does not have a few fist fights he is either cowardly or other people are pushing him around. I deplore this notion, but he says women don't understand these things and that if it were up to me the boy would be a cream-puff.

Please discuss this in your column. If I am the one who needs straightening around I will gladly change my ideas. —A MOTHER

Dear Mother: It is normal for boys to fight now and then but a boy who does "not" fight is not abnormal, nor is he cowardly.

Your husband sounds like a bully who found satisfaction in beating up on others. He can't understand how a boy can get along without the crutch that he found so useful. He should be grateful that his son is better adjusted, more secure, and more mature than he was.

Dear Ann: My best girl friend lives in the same block. Her father is a respected member of the community. Our parents have been friends for many years.

This summer I went on a trip, 250 miles away, to visit relatives. They gave a small dinner for me at the downtown hotel. As I glanced around the dining room I saw Louise's father sitting at a cozy table for two with a pretty woman. I pretended not to see him but I'm sure he saw me.

Since returning home I've been wondering about this. Louise casually mentioned that her dad had been to the same city "to get his teeth fixed."

I keep telling myself the woman was a relative or a business acquaintance but I must admit it didn't look that way. I wouldn't mention this to Louise, but shall I tell my mother? —BIG EYES

Dear Big Eyes: Why? Merely mentioning it suggests that you think the worst, and you have no evidence whatsoever because you have no idea who the woman was.

Loose talk can cause immense damage and heartache. Remember that big people talk about ideas. Medium-size people talk about things. Small people talk about people.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going to be married to a successful business man soon. His first wife died five years ago and I have spent the last 20 years of my life being a career woman.

Henry insists I stop working and devote all my time to being a homemaker and a hostess. He is in the banking business and we will be entertaining a good bit. Frankly, all this is frightening. I've never done fancy entertaining because of a limited budget.

I've bought some books on how to give a successful dinner party, but the menus, floral pieces and fancy settings throw me. I know you don't write a food or etiquette column but I need moral support. What makes a "good" dinner party? —B.T.B.

Dear B.T.B.: It's not what's on the table that makes a good dinner party. It's what's on the chairs.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read "Ann Landers'" booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

"Dear Mrs. Eldred:

"I have recently become a working mother, leaving home at 7:45 a.m., and returning at 5:45 p.m. My two little girls (18 months and 3 years have been taken care of by four maids, the last a school girl who will be leaving in the fall.

"I am 24 and my husband is 27 and we have been happily married for four years. I am working so we can buy a house next spring. We live on the second floor of a four-plex and the owner who lives on the first floor does not like to see the children in the yard.

"I wonder whether my working for the next few years will affect my children's behavior? I know this constant changing of maids is not good, and I am sorry I could not do otherwise.

"When I take care of them in the evenings and all week end, their behavior still seems pretty good. The 3-year-old has started to wet in the daytime again (she still does at night), and she is more turbulent when we come home. The little one requires attention which we give her.

"Should I stop working this fall? Please tell me any consequences, serious or not?" —Mrs. F. De L.

ANSWER

No one can be definite about the consequences of your working. It is true that at these ages a child needs its mother more than it will later. However, there has been a good deal of research done on mothers and there are some advantages as great as the disadvantages.

The most important factor is the children's care-taker—she should be warm-hearted, love children and be kind to yours. Her ways of discipline should be similar to those you employ when home.

Unquestionably your children would profit by a home of their own and a play place outdoors. If you cannot see any real detrimental changes in the children's behavior (the wetting could be a demand for attention or be due to present feelings of insecurity), then you will have to weigh the benefit of having your own home eventually against the disadvantages of your absence now, and make your choice. No one can do it for you.

Mrs. E.E.B. wonders if she was wrong in being angry at a neighbor. "I read your column on 'Visitors'" she writes. "I came home from the hospital with twins and having done the washing my neighbor came in and yelled at me, 'I do my washing upstairs.' The babies were asleep and I was tired and I said, 'Shut up and go away.'

"Later, she told my husband she had a gift for me but had returned it. She has a maid and grown children, I have four small ones."

Do you want me to praise you for your rudeness? Whatever the provocation, this was inexcusable behavior. Your neighbor came with friendly intent and you insulted her. Go and apologize.

If you have a 'problem neighbor' or if there's friction in the neighborhood, the 10-cent booklet, "Neighborhood Problems" will be helpful to you. To obtain it, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this paper.

SQUEEZES THEM TO DEATH

Woman Tortures, Kills Young Boys

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A 24-year-ld woman, sitting only a few feet from the neat trim beds where the bodies of two boys were found a short time earlier, sullenly admitted Friday that she had tortured one child with burning matches, then "squeezed them until they were dead."

The wman was Lucille Adams, a fat and dumpy brunette hired by William R. Craig Jr., as a housekeeper after he and his wife separated about three months ago.

Questioned by Deputy Detective Inspector Harold Breier and Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley, the woman said she had trouble with Dnald Craig, 4, and his brother, Ronald, 2, Thursday afternoon. She said they threw one of her shoes, a toothbrush and other articles out of a bedroom window.

Breier asked if she had punished the baby by burning his ear, palm and fingertips with matches.

"Maybe I did," Miss Adams said.

"Damn it," Breier said, "you know you did."

"Yes, I did," the woman said.

McCauley said that Miss Adams told him she got the idea of smothering the children after "hearing that story on the radio." He said she apparently referred to a Duuque, Iowa, baby sitter, involved in similar deaths of three children.

"She said that when she was 10 years old she did the same thing to a cat," McCauley said. "She said she hated cats."

Craig, a night shipping clerk at a wholesale grocery firm, found the bodies of his sons, dressed in undershirts and shorts, lying on their beds when he came home from work about 9 a.m. Friday. A Teddy bear, a red ball and a toy truck were on the floor between them.

Mis Adams was asleep in another room.

Breeir said the woman told him that after Craig went to work Thursday night "she played with the boys and squeezed them until they were dead."

Relatives of the family said Miss Adams came to Milwaukee to work for Craig on the recommerdation of other relatives in Los Angeles, where Craig and his wife were married some five five years ago.

Meanwhile, the mother of the dead boys arrived in Milwaukee from her home in Kansas City to visit her sons. Police said Betty June Craig was about seven months pregnant. She was taken to County Emergency Hospital, and then to the district attorney's office.

Dr. L. J. Van Hecke, county medical examiner, said the boys apparently died of suffocation and had been dead five hours or more when they were found.

McCauley said he would issue a warrant charging Miss Adams with two counts of first-degree murder.

Bridge To Span English Channel

PARIS (AP)—A channel-spanning bridge linking Britain with France would cost one-third more than a railroad tunnel—but would be worth it, a spokesman for the project said Friday.

Jules Moch, president of a study group that has made a preliminary plan for the 13.5-mile bridge, estimated the cost at $60 million.

However, Moch said the bridge stretching from Dover to Cap Blanc-Nez near Calais could accommodate 5,000 cars an hour at about $18 a car. A tunnel, while cheaper, could only handle rail traffic.

MISS LUCILLE ADAMS, 24, housekeeper for William C. Craig Jr., is led from home in Milwaukee where Craig's sons, David, 4, and Donald Dean, 2, were found strangled Friday. Deputy Inspector Harold Breier quoted her as saying she "squeezed them until they were dead. She is flanked by Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley (left) and a detective. (AP Wirephoto)

OTHERS CAN CROSS

Border Is Closed To East Germans

BERLIN (AP)—Who can and who can't cross through the little Iron Curtain by which the East German Communists divided Berlin last Sunday?

Well, everybody can except East Germans—they need special permission granted only to trusted Reds—and certain West Germans whom the Communists call warmongers, revenge seekers and militarists.

If you are a foreigner, you can cross without hindrance. You show your passport at one of the 12 crossing points still open to enter East Berlin. You get out the same way—just showing your passport. No visa, no fuss.

Foreigners—and that includes Americans, Britons and French who are here as occupying Allies—can enter East Berlin cars bearing Allied, West German, West Berlin or other license plates.

West Germans have a little problem.

They have to obtain personal entry permits. These are handed out at the checkpoints by the Red people's police. Few West Germans have been denied entry.

West Berliners don't need personal entry permits but they must obtain permission to take their West Berlin-registered car into East Berlin.

Personal and car permits are being issued at only two checkpoints.

Then there are incidents.

A West German reporter drove an American correspondent and an Irish photographer to a checkpoint where no permits are issued.

The West German reporter needed both a personal permit and a car permit. The American and Irishman needed neither.

The people's police, in a jovial mood, waved them all through.

You can walk over to East Berlin or go by subway or elevated train. Both lines end at East Berlin's Friedrichstrasse station. If you want to go on deeper into East Berlin, switch trains there.

A fair number of persons enter East Berlin by car, rail or subway every day. But few East Berliners receive permits to go to West Berlin.

Never before in Berlin's history has the zonal border dividing the former Reich capital been so tightly guarded.

But the June 1953 anti-Communist uprising in East Germany led the Soviets to seal off East Berlin for a few days.

In October 1957, while the East Germans carried out a currency reform, the border was shut for a day.

Passman Hits Leftist Trend

FERRIDAY (Special) — Rep. Otto E. Passman, (D-La.) of the Fifth District, Friday punched at certain phases of welfare programs in a talk to the Rotary Club here.

Passman spoke by telephone from Washington.

"We teach our children that each individual is to contribute his share to society by the sweat of his brow, that it is immoral to live off the bounty of one's neighbors," Passman said.

He said it is also taught "that the great basic purpose in life is the wise and competent use of those endowments which God has seen fit to bestow. We preach that it is not the quantity but the qualiy of effort that is significant."

He asked, "Are these principals reflected in our national life in 1961?"

Passman said many Americans have "unconsciously perhaps," accepted socialistic ideas.

"This does not mean that I am not going to advocate Federal expenditures where such expenditures show a sound return to the American people on the money invested," Passman said.

He said he supports measures to obtain funds for preservation of natural resources.

"I will continue working hard at this phase of my job, toward attainment of the goal of providing maximum flood protection for Concordia Parish, as well as for all other areas of our district," Passman promised.

APPROVES AMENDMENT

RANGOON (UPI) — The Burmese Parliament overwhelmingly approved Friday a constitutional amendment to make Buddhism the state religion here. The vote was 220-15.

Foster Mother Fails To Teach Swan To Swim

SIRMIONE, Italy (AP)—The sinking swan of Sirmione Castle has his keepers amazed.

Castle attendants got the big white bird a week ago and dumped him in the castle moat.

The swan almost drowned. Three other swans grace the the moat.

Keepers hastily hauled the terrified bird out by the neck and tried again. Once more the bird struggled, gasped, gurgled and got its head under the water.

They had to face the incredible fact: Their new swan couldn't swim.

They finally found out that the swan's mother died a year ago when the cygnet hatched. The little bird was turned over to a brooding hen who took the role of foster mother.

It taught the little swan to eat and waddle, but didn't teach it to swim.

Perez Blasts FBI Agents' Voter Probe

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Leander H. Perez Sr., political boss of Plaquemine Parish Friday charged an FBI vote registration probe was an intrusion into parish affairs. He added the federal government "can go to hell."

Perez' comments came a day after the parish police jury president advised voters not to talk to FBI agents.

The FBI confirmed it was checking voter registration in the southeastern Louisiana parish whose vote procedures have come under scrutiny of the federal civil Rights Commission.)

Perez, an ardent segregationist and asst. District Attorney of Plaquemines, told the States-Item:

"The federal government can go to hell and that goes for whever gives the FBI their orders—straight up to Washington."

"We resent the intrusion of the secret police called the FBI and gestapo methods to harrass our people about their registration," Perez said.

He said the FBI probe was "part of a conspiracy that has as its objective the establishment of federal registrars who would hand out registrations without regard to qualifications."

At a civil rights hearing earlier this year, figures showed there were 44 Negroes registered out of 4,135 non-white adults in Plaquemines. There were 7,010 whites registered out of a total white population of 8,183.

Police jury president Joseph Antonio, in a newspaper advertisement, advised parish voterss:

"Your registration is none of their (the FBI's) business. Tell them they are not welcome. Stand on your registration and right to vote "

Perez said the published advice was his (Perez') idea.

Harry G. Maynor, FBI agent in charge of the New Orleans office, said his agents were making inquiries in the parish at the request of Burk Marshall, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's civil rights division.

Maynor said his agents have been in the parish two days.

Joe Pasternack Red Cross Chief

FERRIDAY (Special) — Joe Pasternack has been re-elected chairman of the Concordia Parish Red Cross. Other officers are P. H. Farmer, vice chairman; Sidney Murray, treasurer; and J. S. Burris, executive secretary.

Douglas Watkins was named 1962 fund-raising chairman for the parish campaign. Edward Jackson of Sevier Elementary School in Ferriday was commended for relief work.

Pasternack also was presented an award certificate for achievements in the 1961 fund campaign.

Man Makes Living Scratching In Grass

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—"You have to have drive and initiative. This is real free enterprise."

Thur Virgil Hougland described his way of making a living. He scratches in the grass around parking meters in Tulsa. The first month brought him $185 in small change.

Hougland, 34, got into the business by accident. He was leaning against a meter broke, hungry and discouraged.

"I looled down and saw a dime," he said. "Then the thought struck me: If there's a dime here, how about the other meters?

SQUEEZES THEM TO DEATH

Woman Tortures, Kills Young Boys

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A 24-year-ld woman, sitting only a few feet from the neat trim beds where the bodies of two boys were found a short time earlier, sullenly admitted Friday that she had tortured one child with burning matches, then "squeezed them until they were dead."

The wman was Lucille Adams, a fat and dumpy brunette hired by William R. Craig Jr., as a housekeeper after he and his wife separated about three months ago.

Questioned by Deputy Detective Inspector Harold Breier and Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley, the woman said she had trouble with Dnald Craig, 4, and his brother, Ronald, 2, Thursday afternoon. She said they threw one of her shoes, a toothbrush and other articles out of a bedroom window.

Breier asked if she had punished the baby by burning his ear, palm and fingertips with matches.

"Maybe I did," Miss Adams said.

"Damn it," Breier said, "you know you did."

"Yes, I did," the woman said.

McCauley said that Miss Adams told him she got the idea of smothering the children after "hearing that story on the radio." He said she apparently referred to a Duuque, Iowa, baby sitter, involved in similar deaths of three children.

"She said that when she was 10 years old she did the same thing to a cat," McCauley said. "She said she hated cats."

Craig, a night shipping clerk at a wholesale grocery firm, found the bodies of his sons, dressed in undershirts and shorts, lying on their beds when he came home from work about 9 a.m. Friday. A Teddy bear, a red ball and a toy truck were on the floor between them.

Mis Adams was asleep in another room.

Breeir said the woman told him that after Craig went to work Thursday night "she played with the boys and squeezed them until they were dead."

Relatives of the family said Miss Adams came to Milwaukee to work for Craig on the recommerdation of other relatives in Los Angeles, where Craig and his wife were married some five five years ago.

FULL RECOVERY

U.S. Index Shows Recession Is Over

NEW YORK (AP)—"With the Federal Reserve Board index of industrial production at a new record high in July, full recovery from the recession has been accomplished in five months."

That's the opinion of Lewis L. Schellbach, vice president of the investment advisory service, Standard & Poors Corp.

He points out that this is a considerably shorter time than in 1949-50, when nine months were required; 1954-55, 12 months, and 1958-59, 10 months.

Then he raises the question of whether further advance will be moderate as in 1955-56 and 1959-60 when it was less than 9 per cent, or violent as in 1950-53, when the Korean War helped push the production index up almost 30 per cent.

Schellbach says that while we are not now in a hot war, and business projections are based on avoidance of open conflict, defense expenditures will have a great impact on the economy.

'Although less than that provided by the Korean War, they will be more influential than in the two more recent upward waves," he adds.

'On this basis, we would expect the forward movement to considerably exceed those of 1955-56 and 1959-60. If it should reach midway between those and the Korean boom, it would carry the production index to the neighborhood of 130, which now seems a not unreasonable potential," The index reached 112 in July.

'While the full impact of new defense spending will not be immediate, the psychological effects should cause a quickening of upward general business momentum by early fall."

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower Friday.

Hedge selling and liquidation depressed old crop October during early dealings with selling based on prospects for increased movement of the new crop. Commission houses supported distant deliveries which moved higher. Buying of new crop months reflected trade belief that supplies of new crop cotton later in the season may be tight. It is expected that a large percentage of the 1961 cotton crop will be placed into the government loan.

The Census Bureau reported U.S. Mills during July used a daily average rate of 26,979 running bales of cotton compared with 32,966 bales in June and 28,101 bales in July a year ago. The lower rate of use in July reflected the vacation period for the industry.

Engineering Complaint Is Given Study

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The State Board of Highways Friday studied a complaint from a Louisiana Engineers Society official charging that out-of-state consulting engineering firms are getting the biggest share of Louisiana jobs.

Alvin M. Fromherz of New Orleans, an LES functional section committee chairman, made the complaint public Friday.

He said one out-of-state company was breaking the law by negotiating for a Louisiana contract.

Board chairman Ted Price was not immediately available for comment nor was State Highway Dept. Director Ray Burgess. A Highways Dept. spokesman said a similar complaint was first received two months ago and was under study.

Fromherz said he was informed two out-of-state companies getting awards in Louisiana were Hayden, Harding and Buchanan, Inc., of Boston and E. Lionel Pavlo of New York city.

The principals of the Boston firm, he said, are not listed as being licensed to practice in the state. Hence, they were violating state law when they bid for the contract, he contended.

Fromherz did not name the jobs involved. But he said work had not started yet.

Fromherz, in an Aug. 16 letter to Chairman Price and members of the highways board, said Louisiana consulting engineers could produce more economical designs on state projects.

They are better qualified and better informed about local conditions affecting design and construction, he said. Most of them "are not presently overloaded with work," he added.

In contrast to the trend toward out-of-state awards, Fromherz said the Bureau of Public Roads refused to approve the high level bridge over the Industrial Canal—on the Interstate route through New Orleans—if it was to be designed by a firm of consulting engineers.

Fromherz said the Bureau insisted the Louisiana Highway Department do the job.

Fromherz also said the Highway Department in 1960 awarded a contract to the Mobile, Ala., firm of Ewin Engineer Corp. for a road to connect U. S. 80 with state Highway No. 1 on Shreveport.

The award went to the Mobile firm despite the fact that Shreveport had previously appointed the consulting engineers, he said. Shreveport pays half the cost of the project.

He said another award went to Palmer & Baker, Inc., of Mobile, Ala., on the Donaldsville bridge.

"As far as we know not one contract of consequence has been awarded to a Louisiana consulting engineer in more than one year," Fromherz said.

Movies Give Larry Parks New Chance

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Larry Parks, who rocked Hollywood 10 years ago with his admission before the Un-American Activities Committee that he was a Communist, is returning to movies.

Parks has landed a top role in "The Story of Freud," the man who invented the couch — well, the psychiatrist's couch anyway. He will play a Dr. Breuer, Freud's longtime friend and associate.

Director John Huston signed Parks for the role to co-star with Montgomery Clift and Susan Kohner.

This is the first real news of Parks since he made screaming headlines in March, 1951, when he was the first movie star to admit Communist party membership.

His confession came hard on the heels of the biggest movie success of his career, "The Jolson Story."

After that he couldn't find work in Hollywood.

The word was out, "Don't hire Parks." The anti-Parks feeling persisted despite the fact he recanted. He blew the whistle on some fellow card-carriers but didn't speak as fully as the committee had hoped he would.

At one point he begged Congressional committee members not to make him "crawl through the mud to be an informer."

Committee members said he gave them four or five names which already were known to them, but his memory failed on many other facts.

Since his harrowing experience in the limelight, Parks has almost dropped from sight. Back in 1952-53 he went on tour in a night club act with his entertainer wife, Betty Garrett. They also appeared at one of the Las Vegas hotels.

But jobs have been few and far between.

There was talk after Parks had almost bared his soul in Washington that the public and Movietown's bigwigs would forgive him for his slip into subversion.

But either the public or Hollywood has a longer memory than was at first suspected. Parks' name rarely comes up but what someone doesn't say, "Oh, yeah, he's the guy who carried a Cimmunist card."

Now that Larry is going back into the movies, he has gone into seclusion, speaking only through spokesmen.

"Larry isn't going to talk to the press until the picture is well under way," one spokesman said. "He doesn't want any trouble. You know, he doesn't want all of the past brought up."

Another spokesman said simply, "I hope you'll understand why Larry doesn't want to talk."

Silent Parks will travel to Europe to appear in the Froud picture later this year. He promises to discuss his career and the picture when he returns to Hollywood.

Earl E. Chambers Dies; Services Set For Sunday

Funeral services for Earl E. Chambers, 51, Lake St. John, who died at 12 a.m. Friday following an illness of three weeks, will be Sunday, time pending, under the direction of Youngs Funeral Home of Ferriday. He was the brother of two Monroe women.

Interment will follow in Memorial Park Cemetery in Monroe. The body will lie in state in the funeral home chapel until time for services.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Effie Chambers, Lake St. John; one brother, John C. Chambers, Roxie, Miss.; four sisters, Mrs. Georgia Williams, Monroe; Mrs. J. O. Walter, Morton, Miss.; Mrs. G. E. Stedman, Franklin; and Mrs. Russell A. Brown, Monroe.

Cash Is Taken From Purse; Police Probing

Monroe police Friday were investigating a $20 theft reported by Mrs. Wayne Deacon of 204 Filhoil St. in West Monroe.

The money apparently was taken from her purse sometime between noon and 3 p.m. Friday. Mrs. Deacon reported leaving the purse for about ten minutes at one time in an office where she works at the Twin Cities Y.M.C.A.

She did not discover the loss until sometime later.

Her son, who works in an adjoining office, stated to police that a man whom he did not know came into his mother's office to use a phone while she was out.

PRIMATE OF ENGLAND

Archbishop, Wife Vacationing In Pub

HOLNE, England (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. and Right Honorable Dr. Michael Ramsey, primate of all England, is vacationing in a pub.

"I like the food," said the 57-year-old churchman in an interview. "It's good plain stuff—and I like a drop of cider with it. The cider rounds off the meal."

Known as a forthright and courageous individualist, the new archbishop has been taking rooms at the pub for his vacation for years.

"My new job won't stop me from coming here," he explained. "Why should it?

Dr. Ramsey became archbishop on June 27.

He and Mrs. Ramsey are paying 10 pounds 10 shillings—$29.40—a week for their three-week holiday.

The ancient pub—Oliver Cromwell once stayed there—is located next door to the village church. That's why it's called 'The Church Inn."

For another few shillings a week, the primate has rented the front parlor of a widow's cottage across the road.

"That's just for a little privacy so that I can do any work I have to," explained His Grace, "but we still sleep and eat at the inn."

Asked if he used the pub's television set, one of three in the village, the archbishop replied: "Never look at it. I prefer a good book."

One of the attractions of this part of rural Devonshire is its remoteness.

"We're having a wonderful time," said the primate. "You see, the moors are only a mile away and we do quite a bit of walking."

Saying this, the archbishop—dressed in a cloth cap, a green tweed sports coat and a pair of baggy flannels—marched off with his wife beside him.

Airlines Cut $100 Off Certain Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new day dawned for airline passengers Friday. All three major transcontinental airlines whacked about $100 off the price of certain coast-to-coast flights.

The new fares, approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, involve a $198 round-trip excursion fare for jets and $178 for piston-engine planes, plus the 10 per cent federal transportation tax.

A week ago, a round trip between Los Angeles and New York cost $280 plus tax on one of the airlines.

The new fares apply to coach travel between Monday noon and Friday noon, and require the round trip to be completed in not less than 13 days and not more than 30 days.

Trans World Airlines started the reduced fares Thursday, and American and United followed suit today. TWA reported a tremendous response.

A TWA spokesman said coach sections on jet flights leaving New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and San Francisco under the new fares were filled to 91 per cent of capacity — 2,359 available seats and 2,138 of them occupied by paying passengers.

Compared to Wednesday of the previous week, TWA's coach bookings went up 136 per cent in New York, 122 per cent in Philadelphia, 89 per cent in Los Angeles, 74 per cent at San Francisco and 29 per cent in Pittsburgh. The spokesman said TWA already has booked more than 5,000 advance reservations under the new excursion plan.

The airline industry views the reduced fares as a key test of a theory that lower-priced tickets will mean better business for the hard-pressed carriers.

The incident occurred about 7 a.m. in the bathroom of the home of a son - in - law, Ralph Reynolds.

Reynolds and his family heard the shot and rushed to the bathroom, where Mrs. Cook's body was found.

The pistol was described as a 38-caliber revolver.

The body was taken to Gay's Funeral Home here for funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Cooks husband is a former manager of a service station here.

State Has Seven Polio Cases In Week's Period

ATLANTA (UPI) — The number of polio cases in the nation increased 'notably' last week but still remained under last year's level, the Communicable Disease Center reported Friday.

The U.S. Public Health Service center here said 54 new cases were reported during the week ending Aug. 12 — seven of them from Louisiana and six from New York. Thirty-six of the nations polio cases were paralytic including three of Louisiana's and three from Frederick County, Md.

Two of Louisiana's paralytic cases and one of the four nonparalytic cases were from New Orleans. The center said three additional paralytic polio cases have occurred in New Orleans and three more suspect cases are being investigated.

The center said a total of nine paralytic cases have been reported in Frederick County this year. Seven of the nine persons had received no polio vaccination, the center said.

The six paralytic cases from New York state are from different counties.

Three new paralytic cases have occurred in the Atlanta area. None had either Salk or Sabin vaccine. A total of 11 cases have occurred in Atlanta.

PLANS EARLY RETURN

LONDON (UPI) — The Foreign Office announced Friday that Foreign Secretary Lord Home will return from his vacation early Saturday for Berlin crisis talks with the Western envoys.

A spokesman said Home was traveling overnight from Scotland and would confer Saturday with the American, French and West German ambassadors on the recent developments in Berlin.

Allies Plan Troops Hike For Berlin

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France agreed in principle Friday to dispatch token troop reinforcements to their West Berlin garrisons, Western diplomats reported.

The gesture was described as one phase of a multiple-point plan to counter the East German sealing of the border dividing Berlin.

Other tit-for-tat actions, including curbs on East German Reds wishing to travel westwards, also have been agreed by a four-power Allied group in Washington, informants said. These measures will be applied soon with little fuss or drama.

The symbolic strengthening of the West Berlin garrison—probably by only several hundred men—is intended to dispel any doubt of West Berliners that the Western powers are resolved to defend the city.

Leaders of the 2.2 million West Berliners have been dismayed at the refusal of the Western powers to take more dramatic counteraction against the East German Reds.

British defense authorities are planning to announce the decision to send more men to West Berlin Saturday, informants said. The reinforcement operation will unfold without fanfare. The British feel it important not to spoil the chance of negotiating a settlement on Berlin with the Soviet Union.

There was emphasis among officials on the possibility of finding an acceptable basis for East-West negotiation.

These developments emerged:

— Joseph Godber, minister of state for foreign affairs, dined Friday night as the guest of Soviet Ambassador Alexander Soldatov. It was expected that Godber would try to determine how the Soviet Union is likely to react if a proposal for negotiations is formally presented.

—Foreign Secretary Lord Home interrupted a Scottish vacation and arranged to meet the American, French and West German ambassadors in London Saturday.

FULL RECOVERY

U.S. Index Shows Recession Is Over

NEW YORK (AP)—"With the Federal Reserve Board index of industrial production at a new record high in July, full recovery from the recession has been accomplished in five months."

That's the opinion of Lewis L. Schellbach, vice president of the investment advisory service, Standard & Poors Corp.

He points out that this is a considerably shorter time than in 1949-50, when nine months were required; 1954-55, 12 months, and 1958-59, 10 months.

Then he raises the question of whether further advance will be moderate as in 1955-56 and 1959-60 when it was less than 9 per cent, or violent as in 1950-53, when the Korean War helped push the production index up almost 30 per cent.

Schellbach says that while we are not now in a hot war, and business projections are based on avoidance of open conflict, defense expenditures will have a great impact on the economy.

'Although less than that provided by the Korean War, they will be more influential than in the two more recent upward waves," he adds.

'On this basis, we would expect the forward movement to considerably exceed those of 1955-56 and 1959-60. If it should reach midway between those and the Korean boom, it would carry the production index to the neighborhood of 130, which now seems a not unreasonable potential," The index reached 112 in July.

'While the full impact of new defense spending will not be immediate, the psychological effects should cause a quickening of upward general business momentum by early fall."

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower Friday.

Hedge selling and liquidation depressed old crop October during early dealings with selling based on prospects for increased movement of the new crop. Commission houses supported distant deliveries which moved higher. Buying of new crop months reflected trade belief that supplies of new crop cotton later in the season may be tight. It is expected that a large percentage of the 1961 cotton crop will be placed into the government loan.

The Census Bureau reported U.S. Mills during July used a daily average rate of 26,979 running bales of cotton compared with 32,966 bales in June and 28,101 bales in July a year ago. The lower rate of use in July reflected the vacation period for the industry.

Engineering Complaint Is Given Study

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The State Board of Highways Friday studied a complaint from a Louisiana Engineers Society official charging that out-of-state consulting engineering firms are getting the biggest share of Louisiana jobs.

Alvin M. Fromherz of New Orleans, an LES functional section committee chairman, made the complaint public Friday.

He said one out-of-state company was breaking the law by negotiating for a Louisiana contract.

Board chairman Ted Price was not immediately available for comment nor was State Highway Dept. Director Ray Burgess. A Highways Dept. spokesman said a similar complaint was first received two months ago and was under study.

Fromherz said he was informed two out-of-state companies getting awards in Louisiana were Hayden, Harding and Buchanan, Inc., of Boston and E. Lionel Pavlo of New York city.

The principals of the Boston firm, he said, are not listed as being licensed to practice in the state. Hence, they were violating state law when they bid for the contract, he contended.

Fromherz did not name the jobs involved. But he said work had not started yet.

Fromherz, in an Aug. 16 letter to Chairman Price and members of the highways board, said Louisiana consulting engineers could produce more economical designs on state projects.

They are better qualified and better informed about local conditions affecting design and construction, he said. Most of them "are not presently overloaded with work," he added.

In contrast to the trend toward out-of-state awards, Fromherz said the Bureau of Public Roads refused to approve the high level bridge over the Industrial Canal—on the Interstate route through New Orleans—if it was to be designed by a firm of consulting engineers.

Fromherz said the Bureau insisted the Louisiana Highway Department do the job.

Fromherz also said the Highway Department in 1960 awarded a contract to the Mobile, Ala., firm of Ewin Engineer Corp. for a road to connect U. S. 80 with state Highway No. 1 on Shreveport.

The award went to the Mobile firm despite the fact that Shreveport had previously appointed the consulting engineers, he said. Shreveport pays half the cost of the project.

He said another award went to Palmer & Baker, Inc., of Mobile, Ala., on the Donaldsville bridge.

"As far as we know not one contract of consequence has been awarded to a Louisiana consulting engineer in more than one year," Fromherz said.

Movies Give Larry Parks New Chance

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Larry Parks, who rocked Hollywood 10 years ago with his admission before the Un-American Activities Committee that he was a Communist, is returning to movies.

Parks has landed a top role in "The Story of Freud," the man who invented the couch — well, the psychiatrist's couch anyway. He will play a Dr. Breuer, Freud's longtime friend and associate.

Director John Huston signed Parks for the role to co-star with Montgomery Clift and Susan Kohner.

This is the first real news of Parks since he made screaming headlines in March, 1951, when he was the first movie star to admit Communist party membership.

His confession came hard on the heels of the biggest movie success of his career, "The Jolson Story."

After that he couldn't find work in Hollywood.

The word was out, "Don't hire Parks." The anti-Parks feeling persisted despite the fact he recanted. He blew the whistle on some fellow card-carriers but didn't speak as fully as the committee had hoped he would.

At one point he begged Congressional committee members not to make him "crawl through the mud to be an informer."

Committee members said he gave them four or five names which already were known to them, but his memory failed on many other facts.

Since his harrowing experience in the limelight, Parks has almost dropped from sight. Back in 1952-53 he went on tour in a night club act with his entertainer wife, Betty Garrett. They also appeared at one of the Las Vegas hotels.

But jobs have been few and far between.

There was talk after Parks had almost bared his soul in Washington that the public and Movietown's bigwigs would forgive him for his slip into subversion.

But either the public or Hollywood has a longer memory than was at first suspected. Parks' name rarely comes up but what someone doesn't say, "Oh, yeah, he's the guy who carried a Cimmunist card."

Now that Larry is going back into the movies, he has gone into seclusion, speaking only through spokesmen.

"Larry isn't going to talk to the press until the picture is well under way," one spokesman said. "He doesn't want any trouble. You know, he doesn't want all of the past brought up."

Another spokesman said simply, "I hope you'll understand why Larry doesn't want to talk."

Silent Parks will travel to Europe to appear in the Freud picture later this year. He promises to discuss his career and the picture when he returns to Hollywood.

Earl E. Chambers Dies; Services Set For Sunday

Funeral services for Earl E. Chambers, 51, Lake St. John, who died at 12 a.m. Friday following an illness of three weeks, will be Sunday, time pending, under the direction of Youngs Funeral Home of Ferriday. He was the brother of two Monroe women.

Interment will follow in Memorial Park Cemetery in Monroe. The body will lie in state in the funeral home chapel until time for services.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Effie Chambers, Lake St. John; one brother, John C. Chambers, Roxie, Miss.; four sisters, Mrs. Georgia Williams, Monroe; Mrs. J. O. Walter, Morton, Miss.; Mrs. G. E. Stedman, Franklin; and Mrs. Russell A. Brown, Monroe.

Cash Is Taken From Purse; Police Probing

Monroe police Friday were investigating a $20 theft reported by Mrs. Wayne Deacon of 204 Filhoil St. in West Monroe.

The money apparently was taken from her purse sometime between noon and 3 p.m. Friday. Mrs. Deacon reported leaving the purse for about ten minutes at one time in an office where she works at the Twin Cities Y.M.C.A.

She did not discover the loss until sometime later.

Her son, who works in an adjoining office, stated to police that a man whom he did not know came into his mother's office to use a phone while she was out.

PRIMATE OF ENGLAND

Archbishop, Wife Vacationing In Pub

HOLNE, England (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. and Right Honorable Dr. Michael Ramsey, primate of all England, is vacationing in a pub.

"I like the food," said the 57-year-old churchman in an interview. "It's good plain stuff—and I like a drop of cider with it. The cider rounds off the meal."

Known as a forthright and courageous individualist, the new archbishop has been taking rooms at the pub for his vacation for years.

"My new job won't stop me from coming here," he explained. "Why should it?

Dr. Ramsey became archbishop on June 27.

He and Mrs. Ramsey are paying 10 pounds 10 shillings—$29.40—a week for their three-week holiday.

The ancient pub—Oliver Cromwell once stayed there—is located next door to the village church.

That's why it's called 'The Church Inn."

For another few shillings a week, the primate has rented the front parlor of a widow's cottage across the road.

"That's just for a little privacy so that I can do any work I have to," explained His Grace, "but we still sleep and eat at the inn."

Asked if he used the pub's television set, one of three in the village, the archbishop replied: "Never look at it. I prefer a good book."

One of the attractions of this part of rural Devonshire is its remoteness.

"We're having a wonderful time," said the primate. "You see, the moors are only a mile away and we do quite a bit of walking."

Saying this, the archbishop—dressed in a cloth cap, a green tweed sports coat and a pair of baggy flannels—marched off with his wife beside him.

Airlines Cut $100 Off Certain Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new day dawned for airline passengers Friday. All three major transcontinental airlines whacked about $100 off the price of certain coast-to-coast flights.

The new fares, approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, involve a $198 round-trip excursion fare for jets and $178 for piston-engine planes, plus the 10 per cent federal transportation tax.

A week ago, a round trip between Los Angeles and New York cost $280 plus tax on one of the airlines.

The new fares apply to coach travel between Monday noon and Friday noon, and require the round trip to be completed in not less than 13 days and not more than 30 days.

Trans World Airlines started the reduced fares Thursday, and American and United followed suit today. TWA reported a tremendous response.

A TWA spokesman said coach sections on jet flights leaving New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and San Francisco under the new fares were filled to 91 per cent of capacity — 2,359 available seats and 2,138 of them occupied by paying passengers.

Compared to Wednesday of the previous week, TWA's coach bookings went up 136 per cent in New York, 122 per cent in Philadelphia, 89 per cent in Los Angeles, 74 per cent at San Francisco and 29 per cent in Pittsburgh. The spokesman said TWA already has booked more than 5,000 advance reservations under the new excursion plan.

The airline industry views the reduced fares as a key test of a theory that lower-priced tickets will mean better business for the hard-pressed carriers.

Providence Woman Dies Of Gunshot

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Mrs. H. R. Cook, of Lake Providence, was fatally injured here Thursday morning.

Coroner Dr. D. F. Davis said Mrs. Cook was killed by "a self-inflicted wound — a pistol shot in the right temple."

He said the family physician reported Mrs. Cook had been in ill health for several years.

The incident occurred about 7 a.m. in the bathroom of the home of a son - in - law, Ralph Reynolds.

Reynolds and his family heard the shot and rushed to the bathroom, where Mrs. Cook's body was found.

The pistol was described as a 38-caliber revolver.

The body was taken to Gay's Funeral Home here for funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Cooks husband is a former manager of a service station here.

State Has Seven Polio Cases In Week's Period

ATLANTA (UPI) — The number of polio cases in the nation increased 'notably' last week but still remained under last year's level, the Communicable Disease Center reported Friday.

The U.S. Public Health Service center here said 54 new cases were reported during the week ending Aug. 12 — seven of them from Louisiana and six from New York. Thirty-six of the nations polio cases were paralytic including three of Louisiana's and three from Frederick County, Md.

Two of Louisiana's paralytic cases and one of the four nonparalytic cases were from New Orleans. The center said three additional paralytic polio cases have occurred in New Orleans and three more suspect cases are being investigated.

The center said a total of nine paralytic cases have been reported in Frederick County this year. Seven of the nine persons had received no polio vaccination, the center said.

The six paralytic cases from New York state are from different counties.

Three new paralytic cases have occurred in the Atlanta area. None had either Salk or Sabin vaccine. A total of 11 cases have occurred in Atlanta.

PLANS EARLY RETURN

LONDON (UPI) — The Foreign Office announced Friday that Foreign Secretary Lord Home will return from his vacation early Saturday for Berlin crisis talks with the Western envoys.

A spokesman said Home was traveling overnight from Scotland and would confer Saturday with the American, French and West German ambassadors on the recent developments in Berlin.

Allies Plan Troops Hike For Berlin

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France agreed in principle Friday to dispatch token troop reinforcements to their West Berlin garrisons, Western diplomats reported.

The gesture was described as one phase of a multiple-point plan to counter the East German sealing of the border dividing Berlin.

Other tit-for-tat actions, including curbs on East German Reds wishing to travel westwards, also have been agreed by a four-power Allied group in Washington, informants said. These measures will be applied soon with little fuss or drama.

The symbolic strengthening of the West Berlin garrison—probably by only several hundred men—is intended to dispel any doubt of West Berliners that the Western powers are resolved to defend the city.

Leaders of the 2.2 million West Berliners have been dismayed at the refusal of the Western powers to take more dramatic counteraction against the East German Reds.

British defense authorities are planning to announce the decision to send more men to West Berlin Saturday, informants said. The reinforcement operation will unfold without fanfare. The British feel it important not to spoil the chance of negotiating a settlement on Berlin with the Soviet Union.

There was emphasis among officials on the possibility of finding an acceptable basis for East-West negotiation.

These developments emerged:

— Joseph Godber, minister of state for foreign affairs, dined Friday night as the guest of Soviet Ambassador Alexander Soldatov. It was expected that Godber would try to determine how the Soviet Union is likely to react if a proposal for negotiations is formally presented.

—Foreign Secretary Lord Home interrupted a Scottish vacation and arranged to meet the American, French and West German ambassadors in London Saturday.

CAPT. JORGE NAVARRO, master of the Cuban freighter Bahia De Nipe, gestures Friday as he tells newsmen how he and 10 crewmen seized control of the ship on the high seas and then sailed into Chesapeake Bay to seek political asylum in the United States. (AP Wirephoto)

DEFECT FROM CASTRO

11 On Cuban Ship Get U.S. Asylum

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Eleven crewmen of a Cuban freighter bound for the Soviet Union subdued 23 fellow crewmen in a bloodless encounter on the high seas, locked them up and sailed here to ask political asylum.

The U.S. State Department indicated the 11 defectors from the regime of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, including the ship's master, will be allowed to remain in the United States.

The sugar-laden freighter dropped anchor in Chesapeake Bay late Thursday. It was boarded Thursday night by immigration and customs officials, Coast Guardsmen and Navy intelligence officers. The 11 defectors were brought ashore early Friday while a Coast Guard cutter kept the Bahia de Nipe under surveillance.

They brought to 54 the total of Cuban defectors who fled the Castro regime during the last 24 hours by motorboat and fishing schooner, as well as freighter.

Six Cubans sailed their 19-foot motorboat into Miami's Biscayne Bay Friday after three days at sea seeking political asylum.

Thursday, 37 Cubans jammed tightly into a 27-foot fishing boat docked at Marathon in the Florida Keys. The fugitives, including a number of small children and pregnant women, said their voyage took 34 hours and that they were without food for most of that time. They, too, sought asylum.

In the case of the 3,800-ton Bahia de Nipe which docked here after the anti-Castro mutiny, the U.S. State Department told the Castro government it may regain the ship. Several of the ship's officers as well as the captain, were among the defectors.

Capt. Jorge Navarro, 46, master of the freighter, told newsmen Friday he and his companions took over the ship Monday during a five-hour period between dusk and midnight. The vessel was 300 miles east of Bermuda.

"There was no resistance," Navarro said. "We took them by surprise. We had two small pistols and we surprised them one by one."

The 23 men were imprisoned in the forecastle and the forward hold.

Some of the prisoners tried to set the forward hold afire, Navarro said.

"I pulled up all the forward lights, a complete blackout," he related. "I told them if you do another thing I am going to put you without food and without water."

"The only way we could get out of Cuba was the way we did," Navarro said.

A State Department spokesman said the Castro government has been advised the United States is prepared to release the freighter if the Havana government certifies the ship is Cuban property, wants it returned, and sends to Norfolk as soon as possible crewmen to replace the defectors so the ship can be sailed safely.

In Miami, Fla., Charles Ashman, an attorney for advertising executive Erwin Harris, said he was "checking to get further information on the ship." Harris has seized several Cuban airplanes and other items being shipped to Cuba to satisfy a court judgment against the Castro government for nonpayment of a $1.5-million advertising contract.

New School Bill Action Is Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee has postponed consideration of a compromise aid-to-education bill until President Kennedy and House Speaker Sam Rayburn agree on it.

The package proposal was offered by Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff and won tentative approval of the Democrats on the committee.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell Jr., D-N.Y. said Friday he would take no formal action on the new proposal until he has been informed both the President and Rayburn had approved it. With the foreign aid battle occupying Kennedy and Rayburn, it will probably be next week before they can confer on the education package.

The total cost of the measures Ribicoff proposed is estimated at $2.6 billion, the biggest part of which would be a $1.5-billion, five-year program of loans and grants for construction of academic facilities at colleges and universities.

Other parts of the package of proposals were understood to be:

1. A one-year extension of aid to school districts with large numbers of federal workers—called the federally impacted areas program.

2. Expansion of the impacted areas program to provide aid for school construction in especially distressed districts. Such districts which have proven classroom shortages and a lack of resources would receive federal funds equal to 40 per cent of the cost of caring for their excess enrollments.

3. Provision of 40,000 new four-year scholarships a year for four years to college and university students.

4. Extension of the student loan provision of the National Defense Act for one year, until June 30, 1963.
